NEW AAA PLAN, GOAL OUTLINED BY ROOSEVELT

Permanent Help for Farmers, Aim.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt attempted today to convince city voters that his agricultural adjustment program is not designed to produce a food shortage or to gouge them in the pocketbook for the benefit of the farmer.

At the same time the President laid down in a formal announcement what he believes will be the permanent program of the AAA, replacing the "emergency" plan followed thus far. Simplification, decentralization, soil conservation, increased burocratic dictation to farmers, and strict limitation of crops to the amount which New Deal planners believe America can consume or sell abroad are the main features of the proposed permanent plan.

Two Chief Objectives.

Stating that "this program has two principal objectives," Mr. Roosevelt first assured the farmers that he would "maintain and increase" their price gains. Then he attempted to allay the fears of city dwellers over high food prices by telling them that the program would promote "conservation and efficient use of the nation's soil resources." Throughout his formal statement, on the AAA, the President attempted to ride both horses, high price for farmers and "abundant" food for city dwellers.

"The time may come," the President assured consumers, "when the AAA will prove as important in stimulating production as it has been in removing recent burdensome surpluses.

"The simplified and more flexible adjustment program of the future can be made to serve the permanent advantage of producer and consumer. It can protect the nation's heritage of soil, help farmers to produce up to the full possibilities of profitable export, and give this country the safest possible assurance of abundant food in the years to come."

Reporting System Changed.

The President's reassurance to consumers came the day after his department of labor had shifted its system for reporting retail food prices, thus cutting off all possible comparison, on the basis of official figures, between food costs before and after the New Deal. Rough comparisons, however, show that food costs have risen 30 per cent since the AAA was started, that meat prices have jumped 64 per cent, and that cereal and bakery products have risen 35 per cent in retail price.

After blaming the current pork shortage and high prices on last year's drouth instead of the AAA pig slaughter, President Roosevelt promised "an expanded production of hogs" under next year's corn-hog program. Beside being a sop to industrial workers who have seen prices of pork, their chief meat, skyrocket, this promise was bait held out to corn belt farmers who vote tomorrow on whether they want to continue the corn-hog control system.

No Change in Control.

Discussing his plans for a permanent AAA, which he promised to farmers in his Fremont, Neb., speech last month, the President made plain that there will be no relaxation in the burocratic control over what and how much a farmer shall grow. Crops will be limited to what the New Deal nature-tinkers believe the country can consume and export.

"Present and future production of supplies of food and fiber ample for this country's needs and for available export markets is a sound objective," the President asserted. "There was nothing sound in the situation in the past when, spurred by ruinously low prices, farmers have been compelled to mine their soil of its fertility by overintensive cultivation in a race to make up in volume of units what they had lost in unit price.

"Already the adjustment administration has under way local studies to help in working out farm programs on a county basis, so as to fit the best permanent use of the varying soil resources of the county up to that county's share of available domestic and foreign markets."

"Local Studies" Made.

These "local studies," AAA officials said, are county meetings of farmers who tell AAA officials how many acres they believe the county should put into a given crop. The New Dealers will then allot to the county a

U. S. SETS ASIDE 40 MILLION FOR ILLINOIS WORKS

Relief Load Mounts Despite WPA.

Robert J. Dunham, federal Works Progress administrator for Illinois, predicted yesterday that all employable persons on the relief rolls in the state would have WPA jobs by Jan. 1.

His prediction followed the approval by Controler General McCarl of 925 Illinois projects calling for federal grants of $40,343,078. Mr. McCarl made immediately available $9,933,189 of this sum and will turn over the remainder in periodical instalments. The projects are expected to give work to 40,000 relief recipients.

State Relief Load Mounting.

Despite the WPA effort to rush the transfer of 183,500 relief clients to the federal pay roll, Louis J. Owen, chief statistician for the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, reported yesterday that November relief cases in the state will increase by 5,050 over October and will total 292,297. His estimates took account of those being shifted to the WPA rolls, of whom Mr. Dunham said there have been 11,000 so far.

Several weeks ago, Harry L. Hopkins, national Works Progress administrator, ordered that all 183,500 of the Illinois employables be put on WPA jobs by Nov. 1. Mr. Dunham's forecast yesterday indicated that the reëmployment will be at least two months late.

The Day's Occurrences.

Other developments in Illinois' relief work situation yesterday were:

1. Relief needs for the state next month were set at $10,282,570 by the IERC. Figures on expenditures for October are not compiled but total commitments of the commission for September were $8,985,988. Officials told the commission that continuing increases were due to winter costs such as coal and warmer clothing.

2. The IERC adopted a resolution asking Gov. Horner to request from the federal government $8,459,984 for November. The IERC expects to have in addition $1,750,000 in sales tax receipts and $72,586 in miscellaneous funds to meet the needs. The federal government left the IERC short $1,000,000 for September and $600,000 for October on similar requests.

Dunham Gives His Opinion.

Mr. Dunham's prediction of Jan. 1 as the somewhat belated date on which the WPA would be in full swing was made at a meeting of the IERC in its quarters at 1319 South Michigan avenue.

State Treasurer John Stelle demanded that the IERC supply the forthcoming special session of the general assembly with figures on the number of permanent relief cases to be taken care of by the state after Dec. 1, when the national government is to terminate its direct relief activities.

John C. Martin, chairman of the commission, promptly passed the question on to Dunham.

"How soon," he inquired, "can we expect WPA to take over this load?"

Sees 20,000 Hired This Month.

Dunham chewed his cigar for a moment.

"We have 11,000 at work now," he replied slowly. "We expect to put 9,000 more to work next week, making a total of 20,000 for October. We will have a total of 45,000 employed by Nov. 15—150,000 by Dec. 15, and the whole load by Jan. 1. Of course there are always a certain number of people looking for a job and praying to God they won't get it."

Turning to the increased case load figures, Stelle said he had been in four different counties last week where employment had picked up considerably.

"There are expected increases in the corn counties," said Stelle. "You would think now that there would be a lot of employment husking corn."

Many Clients Love to Rest.

"You won't get relief clients to take those jobs," said Omar H. Wright of Belvedere, a Republican member of the commission. "We can't get anybody to work in our county although there are jobs for artisans, painters, and laborers."

Just before the commission adjourned word was received from Springfield that sales tax receipts for July and August would be suffi-

PRESIDENT VETOES NEW DEAL PLAN TO MOVE THANKSGIVING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Americans will eat their Thanksgiving turkey on the last Thursday of November as usual rather than on the last Tuesday as proposed by a New Deal commission. This was assured today when President Roosevelt laughed off the suggested change.

The suggestion was advanced by the fish commission, named by the President to angle the fish industry to recovery. After deliberation the commission recommended that Thanksgiving day be proclaimed on Tuesday, pointing out fish sales fell off sharply the Friday after the American festival because turkey bones are scraped for hash.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would take the authors of that happy thought on his next fishing cruise where they will catch so "Gosh darned many fish" they will be able to make up for any loss because of Thanksgiving.

Gift to Watson Brings Inquiry on His Income

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—An examination of the income of former United States Senator James E. Watson of Indiana is being made by the treasury department, it was learned tonight. Gifts of stock and the splitting of a $150,000 fee with a lobbyist, it is understood, are the points at issue.

The revelation followed the action of a federal grand jury in Chicago this week in indicting Jacob R. Finkelstein, former Indiana political power and friend and once campaign manager for Senator Watson.

Claims Split with Senator.

Finkelstein is said to have explained his own failure to report his 1929 income by claiming that he split with Senator Watson a $150,000 fee he received from B. J. Grigsby, head of the Grigsby-Grunow organization, for representing Grigsby's interests in a company merger. Watson denies this statement.

Attorney Samuel King of Washington, brother of Senator William H. King, is counsel for Watson. He admitted tonight that Watson had received an unexpected gift from Grigsby for introducing the industrialist to "important people in Washington" when Grigsby was involved in a dispute with the Radio Corporation of America.

"Gift" Not Taxable.

King said Grigsby informed Watson that he had deposited 500 shares of stock to Watson's account without Watson's knowledge and that he gave Watson $23,500 of accrued profits. This Watson omitted from his income tax return because a "gift" was not at that time subject to taxation, the lawyer explained.

Watson tonight denied that any scandal was attached to the transaction, asserting that "it is an ordinary dispute between an American taxpayer and the government."

"I am aware that this matter has been under examination," he said. "The government claims I owe it more money than I do. That's all. I thought it had all been disposed of."

Pre-Halloween Vandalism Brings In 150 Complaints

Pre-Halloween vandalism reached such proportions last night that 150 complaints were turned in to the police before midnight. On the west and southwest sides boys and men opened fire hydrants and wasted many thousand gallons of water. Several street lights were smashed in the 4900 block of North Ashland avenue. At 93d street and Vaughan avenue hoodlums stalled a street car by pulling off the trolley. Extra police guards were placed on the streets to halt the vandalism.

REDUCE PNEUMONIA DEATHS 50 PER CENT WITH NEW SERUMS

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Through the use of newly developed serums, the death rate from pneumonia has been reduced about 50 per cent within recent years and probably will be cut further, it was brought out today by physicians attending the eighth annual graduate fortnight at the New York Academy of Medicine.

An extensive exhibit includes many charts and other displays depicting medicine's fight against pneumonia. A feature of the exhibition is a microscopic analysis to determine "sputum typing in pneumonia," a process which reveals the type of the disease from which a patient is suffering.

Once the type of pneumonia is disclosed, the proper serum can be applied effectively, it was explained.

MRS. BAZAITAS TRIES ROLE OF CARRIE NATION

A crashing echo from the career of Carrie Nation was heard last night in the tavern of Michael Jasnauskas at 2259 Cermak road when Mrs. Antoinette Bazaitas, 36 years old, 2225 South Irving avenue, threw a hatchet through the front door.

Having delivered her blow at the Demon Rum of 1935, Mrs. Bazaitas proceeded to Our Lady of Vilna Lithuanian church at 2335 West 23d street, where she engaged in practice with the rest of the church choir. She was just finishing a hymn when Sergts. John Shanahan and George Schulman arrested her.

"Sure, I tossed the hatchet," she said later at the Marquette police station. "I've got plenty of grudges against Jasnauskas. First, my husband spends too much time and too much money in his place. And second, which is worse, Jasnauskas keeps telling my husband I spend too much money for clothes."

Fires Flare Up Into New Peril at Los Angeles

(Pictures on back page.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Residents of the Malibu lake resort region were ordered tonight to be ready for evacuation within five hours if necessary, as a brush fire roared out of control.

Four members of a county fire department pumping crew were unaccounted for among the 2,000 CCC boys and county firemen massed at canyon heads in desperate attempts to turn back the flames.

The Malibu blaze, last stand of a three day fire plague that has wreaked $10,000,000 damage on southern California, has been controled only to flare anew in vagrant winds ever since it started.

New Areas Threatened.

An immediate threat to the Malibu beach area, where scores of motion picture stars have pretentious summer homes, was believed averted, but new regions in the area 35 miles northwest of here were threatened.

In the region endangered are the Saddle Rock lodge, Seminole Hot Springs, Malibu Mountain club, Craig's Country club, and numbers of cabins and residences about Malibu lake.

The flames reached within a mile of Saddle Rock lodge, which was evacuated earlier today, two miles of Seminole Hot Springs, and three of Malibu lake. Sherif Eugene Biscailuz sent deputies from the springs to warn residents of the lake area to be ready to abandon their homes within five hours if necessary.

English Actor Fights Blaze.

Sir Guy Standing, English motion picture actor, rushed today to his $50,000 home near Malibu lake and with the aid of his valet started backfiring in efforts to protect his place. He has several thousands of dollars' worth of antiques and art objects there.

About 250 cabins and homes are situated in the Malibu lake section.

Approximately 75 cabins and larger places have been destroyed in the Malibu hills fire, which has been almost under control at least twice.

The fire area extends from the Los Angeles-Ventura county line, eighteen miles down the coast near the northern tip of the Malibu beach movie colony and from five to eight miles inland. About 60,000 acres has been burned over.

The domestic water supply of Malibu beach was put out of commission when flames destroyed the system's pump a mile inshore.

Blame Incendiary.

Incendiarism was blamed by one authority for the Kagle canyon and Rubio canyon fires, two of the four main conflagrations which turned sections of the Los Angeles suburban area into a smoking panorama.

Richard Hume, 49, succumbed to a heart attack while visiting the fire zone near Malibu inn. Hume, proprietor of the Delmonte club in Venice, and his brother, Rock Hume, drove to Malibu and were seated on the running board of the car watching the advance of the flames when Richard suddenly slumped to the ground. He was dead when an ambulance arrived.

Make Estimate of Damage.

Unofficial estimates of the aggregate losses from fire and accompanying wind were divided as follows:

Watersheds and forest, $3,500,000.

Citrus and other crops in Riverside, Orange, San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties, $4,000,000.

Property, $2,000,000.

Dirk Van Tol, superintendent of the Malibu ranch properties, estimated the combined watershed and property damage in his area at $3,000,000.

Peace Hopes Wilting

Peace hopes, which stirred Europe on Thursday, appeared last night to be wilting. In Addis Ababa, Emperor Haile Selassie declared peace with Italy will not be signed unless the treaty provides for adequate indemnity for Ethiopia, return of cities captured by the Italians, and removal of all Italian troops from Ethiopian soil. In Rome a government spokesman declared Italy was not considering any definite proposals for peace with Ethiopia.

(Picture on back page.)

ROME, Oct. 26.—[Saturday.]—(AP)—The first tank operations along the southern Ethiopian front, in which many prisoners were taken, were reported by Italian war correspondents today.

Previously the government had officially announced the capture of two villages in the south—Callafo and Geledi—and the surrender of several Ethiopian chieftains, including Ligg Icune Amlac, a former member of the high command of Ras Seyoum, northern Ethiopian commander, and Dedjaz Obzah.

The tanks pushed deep into the Ogaden desert area, going as far as the valley of Burei, dispatches said. "The iron cavalry" routed nests of determined Ethiopian defenders and took a number of prisoners, the correspondents reported.

Operate Near Ualual.

Italian troops were reported working up toward Damerei west of Ualual, while farther north another arm of the invading forces was near British Somaliland seeking Ethiopian forces near Merideleh.

Meanwhile, dispatches said, the duke of Bergamo, a prince of the royal blood, was placed in charge of heavy detachments of scouts to penetrate beyond the Italian lines in the north and gather in natives who are suffering from raids by Ethiopian forces concentrating near the Makale and Tembien zones. The duke is a cousin of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.

Fascist airplanes have made reconnaissance flights as far as Magalo [225 miles southeast of Addis Ababa], it was announced. The planes, it was said, "effectively bombed various military objectives."

Text for Communique.

The communique issued by the government here said:

"On the Somaliland front the action continues in the Sciaveli [Webbe Shibeli] sector.

"After the capture of the fortified position at Dagnerrei, the advance pursued along the river for the occupation of the various villages along its banks.

"Meanwhile, a group of Dubats [native Somaliland troops] with a swift maneuver occupied the village of Callafo, an important center in the Sciaveli region, on Oct. 20.

Claims Chiefs Surrender.

"Numerous tribal chiefs hastened to present themselves at Callafo, make acts of submission, and join the army. Five hundred rifles were captured.

"Olol Dinle, the sultan of Sciaveli, who has capitulated to us, is continuing a flanking action with his armed followers. On Oct. 21 they participated in a successful engagement near the village of Geledi, which was occupied.

"Our aviation forces have executed frequent reconnaissance flights in the Ogaden sector as far as Sasa Banch and in the Juba sector as far as Magalo. They effectively bombed various military objectives.

"There is nothing new in the Eritrean sector except the movement of our advance guards, which is proceeding with the final occupation of the Tigre territory and is welcomed with popular enthusiasm."

Chieftain Reported Killed.

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 25.—(AP)—An Ethiopian chief named Badil, one of Italy's most bitter foes in the southern Ogaden area, was killed during a sharp battle in defense of Callafo, dispatches to Italian general headquarters here said today.

The irony of war shaped it so that Badil was slain in the onslaught upon his stronghold by a one-time Ethiopian commander, Olol Dinle, who only recently declared for the Italian side, it was announced here.

Badil was described by headquarters as "Italy's most implacable enemy along the Somaliland front." After the Italian occupation of Dagnerei several days ago he and his fierce warriors made a last stand at Callafo in fighting which was described here as "a pitched battle, making one of the sharpest conflicts of the campaign so far."

Italian forces captured 500 rifles when the town succumbed, it was said here.

Ethiopians Await Attack.

HARRAR, Ethiopia, Oct. 25.—Ras Nasibu, war lord-governor of Harrar, dispatched the main body of Harrar regulars to the southern front from this walled city today and predicted Jigjiga, 50 miles east of here, would be a bulwark of Ethiopia's defense.

Preceded by 2,000 heavily laden camels, the well equipped ranks of infantry, cavalry and anti-aircraft units marched away amid the shrieks and lamentations of fanatical Galla women.

Ras Nasibu, who will command 12,000 men in battle, reviewed them; the Coptic abuna, or bishop, blessed their colors; Catholic priests granted the warriors absolution.

It was a scene truly oriental and perhaps the most colorful this ancient city ever has witnessed.

Emperor Spurns Peace.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Oct. 25.—Ethiopia's bearded little ruler tonight spurned any peace that does not include an adequate indemnity for his empire, return of the lost cities of Aksum and Adowa and the banishment of every Italian soldier from the land.

With peace talk rife throughout the country, and even some American correspondents beginning to pack their baggage, it was emphasized that Emperor Haile Selassie has received no suggestions for settlement of the war, either officially or unofficially. Yet some wiseacres predicted hostilities might end within a week.

The emperor, asked if he would cede Tigre and Ogaden provinces to Mussolini, with an Italian protectorate over Harrar, replied abruptly:

"No! Never!"

Influential Ethiopians and foreigners alike said Selassie might lose his throne if he gave up Tigre and Ogaden, scene of Italy's major troop movements in the north and south.

They believed, moreover, that the Ethiopian army is in such an excellent position, with supplies, arms and ammunition now coming in, that the emperor almost is able to dictate terms to Il Duce.

Emperor Haile Selassie spent five hours today reviewing wild warriors who arrived from remote interior points en route to the front.

After receiving pledges of allegiance the "king of kings" kissed the feudal chiefs on both cheeks. His courtiers shielded this action behind shawls so the crowds could not see them.

ITALY'S ENVOY FINALLY AGREES TO QUIT ETHIOPIA

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 26 [Saturday].—The Italian minister to Ethiopia, Count Luigi Vinci-Gigliucci, finally departed today, showing no further resistance to government orders that he leave.

The Italian military attaché, Maj. Calderini, who had been a virtual prisoner with the minister in the home of Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, since they first defied an ultimatum to go, accompanied Count Vinci-Gigliucci.

They left for Djibouti, French Somaliland, by special train, following the other members of the Italian legation, who left the empire Oct. 13. The minister insisted upon remaining until the last consular agent from the interior was accounted for.

ETHIOPIA AS SEEN FROM THE AIR—A 'TERRIBLE' LAND

Flight with Son-in-Law of Mussolini Described.

BY ANDRUE BERDING.

Associated Press Foreign Staf.

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 24.—[Delayed.]—(AP)—Northeastern Ethiopia seems a terrible country for an army to cross, and from the air it looks like a terrible country for remunerative developments.

I gathered this impression while scouring northern Ethiopia to the east and west with Count Galeazzo Ciano, son in law of Premier Mussolini, in search of the Ethiopian chieftain, Ras Seyoum, who with 15,000 men was reported to be in the mountains beyond Makale.

Dawn was just breaking when Count Ciano said "pronto" or "ready," for a four hour flight that took us over 325 miles of enemy territory amid showers of enemy machine gun bullets. Also in the plane were Ciano's co-pilot, Giuseppe Casero, and his radio operator, Puglia.

Cross Ethiopian Border.

After the long rise necessary to get the heavy bomber up into the rarefied atmosphere, we climbed quickly to 10,000 feet and made a bee-line for the border. Two other planes of Count Ciano's squadron followed.

Range after range of mountains swept beneath us. We could distinguish the tiny, tortuous threads of roads which the Italians are doggedly pushing to the west.

Suddenly the strips of roads were left behind, and only an occasional smudgy dirt trail showed itself below us. The attitude of the people on the ground changed as sharply as the roads. While before, natives in villages and fields paid us scant attention, now they scurried to their tukuls or scattered to the forests, always on a dead run. Little puffs of smoke far below us showed that many of them were taking pot-shots at us.

Fly Over Makale.

In a few minutes we passed over a brilliant red precipice, frowning down over a canyon which rivals the Colorado canyon. It was then I thought, "what a terrible country for an army to try to cross."

Peering over the side for some sign of civilization, I experienced the unforgettable sensation of man defying the ruggedness of this Ethiopia.

We swung over Makale. Count Ciano maneuvered his squadron over the city briefly, then swung off to Adia and Daro. Here we dropped lower and Capt. Casero shot open the door of the plane's cabin. He kept his eyes glued to his binoculars.

The air squadron swept back and forth, the length of the valley, in wide swaths, but Ras Seyoum, if he was there, was well hidden.

No Sign of Warriors.

Finally Count Ciano veered off again to follow up the Takkaze river, where another concentration was reported. But if Haile Selassie's warriors were there, they had too healthy a respect for Count Ciano's shrapnel bombs to show themselves in numbers.

Our reconnaissance brought us over Aksum on the way home. From the air, the sacred city was an inspiring sight. The cathedral, built from a fort constructed by Portuguese in the fifteenth century, loomed into view.

ASK ETHIOPIA TO BAR TROOPS FROM FRENCH RAILWAY

Seek to Save Line from Italian Bombs.

BY SIR PERCIVAL PHILLIPS.

[Special correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph and the Chicago Tribune.]

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Oct. 25.—Proposals for the neutralization of the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway have been giving much anxious thought to the management and shareholders.

Built and operated by French capital, the line represents an investment of many millions of francs, which will be lost if the Italians destroy the line in their advance from the south.

Early in the dispute with Ethiopia, Premier Mussolini let it be known that if the railway was used for military purposes it would be regarded as in the same category of legitimate military targets as airdromes and munitions depots.

France Seeks Agreement.

Since then the French minister to Addis Ababa has had many conversations with the Ethiopian government on the subject of its protection by an arrangement, but no agreement has been reached.

When the formation of field armies began the Ethiopians used the railway for moving troops and stores from the central provinces to Ogaden in the south. The French agreed to this unwillingly, realizing the danger to which the railway would be exposed.

When the tribal forces had been moved from Addis Ababa the French renewed their claim that the railway should be used exclusively for civilian trafic.

King's Advisers Agree.

It is understood that some of Emperor Haile Selassie's advisers are inclined to agree with this on the ground that it is no longer necessary to depend upon the railway for defensive operations. Arms are now being brought in by trck from British Somaliland instead of over the railway.

This view has been opposed by other members of the government, who believe that a sudden movement of troops falling back from Harrar would inevitably compel the commander to seize all available rolling stock.

Various compromises have been discussed. One is that the Ethiopians should not use the equipment but should have a right to cross and recross the permanent way in the course of military operations without rendering it liable to attack.

Italy Wants Neutral Zone.

The Italians are said to have insisted upon the creation of a neutral zone on both sides of the line, in which no soldiers would be allowed. The French would, however, be permitted to retain their own force of railway police. This is now being reorganized under European officers to replace native levies hitherto employed to patrol the line to prevent depredations by local tribesmen.

The French at least want Diredawa, principal center for railway equipment and personnel, to be declared a separate neutral zone which would include the station offices, repair shops, and houses of employés.

This was in their minds when they asked permission to send European troops from the Djibouti garrison. Emperor Haile Selassie consented reluctantly after many weeks of consideration on condition that they make no contact with the native population. One hundred eighty men from a regiment of white infantry are now billeted on railway property.

WAR BLOCKADE HINGES ON U. S. STAND—BALDWIN

Tells Why British Navy Has Not Bottled Up Italy.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Firing the opening gun of the national government's election campaign, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin in a speech tonight explained to critics why the British navy cannot proceed roughshod to bottle up Premier Mussolini in the Mediterranean by way of applying league of nations' sanctions. He said the reason was because Great Britain first must be certain about the attitude of the United States.

"A blockade brings in the question of countries outside the league," he said. "That was what I had in mind when I said that I would never sanction this country going into a blockade unless we were assured beforehand of the attitude of the United States."

Baldwin's statement about British wariness in using a blockade as a weapon to stop Mussolini's war in Ethiopia, coupled with his recent statement that in the event of a European war America would likely be involved, was regarded in diplomatic circles as a wish to engage the United States in Europe's troubles.

A Gloomy Prediction.

The prime minister was replying to Labor and Liberal critics, who have been asking why he called an election in the middle of a European war scare, and why his government is relaxing its former drastic campaign against Italy after having first made so much of the empire's obligations to the league.

Baldwin cryptically declared that as bad as things in Europe are now he expects them to be worse later on.

"I could give no guarantee of what the state of foreign affairs would be in January," he remarked.

In another passage of his speech he implied criticism of the United States for remaining outside the league. He said that with America out of the league it is more difficult to stop a war and that with Germany and Japan out it is a far more difficult task.

"It is under those conditions that the first testing time of the league is taking place today in Europe," the prime minister exclaimed.

Hits Neutrality Policy.

Avowing that Britain would not "shirk her responsibilities," Baldwin declared Europe is entering upon a new age and that the countries of Europe are trying to walk a new path, but are learning that it is difficult and not without danger. It was at this point that the prime minister placed the blame on the United States and its neutrality policy for Europe's difficulties in restraining unruly members like Mussolini.

"There are risks to peace," he said. "You make ask what risks. I reply, risks in the kind of sanctions imposed. If the sanctions are of the most severe kind, that leads inevitably to blockade, and blockade brings in the question of countries outside the league."

Then after saying that Britain must be careful of the American attitude, Baldwin concluded:

"Whatever may happen in the future with regard to a blockade, the brunt of any trouble that may result must fall in the beginning on the British navy—in conjunction with others if we are fortunate, possibly alone if we are not."

Plea for Rearmament.

Baldwin's speech was a plea for rearmament and naval replacement. He said he would not want to be responsible for the government unless given power to remedy deficiencies in the nation's defenses.

The time honored ceremony of proroguing parliament—the eighth in the reign of King George—was carried out this morning with customary pageantry.

Viscount Hailsham, the lord chancellor, read the king's speech in which the monarch expressed the "gravest concern" about the "critical situation which has unhappily arisen between Italy and Ethiopia" and regret that efforts of the government to prevent the war had failed.

1,270 Candidates in Field.

With the dissolution of parliament, there began one of the most important elections the country yet has faced. Already there are about 1,270 candidates for 615 seats. The elections will be held Nov. 14.

Meanwhile, peace kites still are fluttering in European diplomatic skies. However, there is nothing to indicate that the British will find the tentative suggestions for settlement of Mussolini's war and his plans to carve up Ethiopia acceptable.

On the contrary, sources close to the British government make it plain that this nation feels nothing can postpone the application of economic sanctions by the leage next Thursday. At that time the sanctions committee will be called upon to fix the date for clamping economic pressure upon Italy.

SIX BIG BRITISH GUNS ARE POINTED AT SEA TO GUARD PALESTINE

JERUSALEM, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Strengthening of Palestine's defenses has been included in Great Britain's precautions against possible trouble in the Mediterranean, it was shown today.

Six guns point toward the sea at the foot of Mount Carmel, to defend the ports of Haifa and Acre, while ten British warships lie at anchor in Haifa harbor.

Armored cars equipped with anti-aircraft guns are stationed at Haifa airdrome, and an electric power station and railway workshops there are similarly protected.

ITALY INSISTS NO PEACE SCHEME IS BEING PONDERED

But Says Diplomatic Talks Still Go On.

ROME, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Italy is not considering any definite proposals for settlement of its war with Ethiopia, a government spokesman said tonight.

There has, however, been no "breakdown" in diplomatic peace talks, he added.

Denies Asking Sanctions Delay.

The spokesman asserted also that Italy has in no way requested a "delay" in the application of league of nations sanctions.

Italy counts upon bickering of merchants whose nations are members of the league of nations about their pocketbooks to prevent sanctions, it was said.

If sanctions can be avoided, as well informed persons here assert, and war with Great Britain has been escaped, then they express confidence that the Ethiopian matter can be "arranged" with "only a very small war."

See Breakdown of Penalties.

Many nations who voted for sanctions are lukewarm to them, these persons say, and when enthusiastic ones like Great Britain realize that a few will pay the freight while others profit, "collective" action may not appear worth while.

Squads of salesmen from many countries are canvassing the Milan industrial center to sell goods. Italy answers the salesmen with orders to "friends" who will not impose sanctions, along with pointed advice to sellers from sanctionist nations who are trying to sell things before an embargo is applied.

CABINET UPSET MAY TURN FRANCE AGAINST ITALY

Laval Faces Ouster; See Pro-British Regime.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 25. — The possibility that France within the next four weeks may have a government committed to supporting Great Britain and the league of nations to the hilt in sanctions against Italy was foreshadowed today when Edouard Herriot, minister of state and former premier, in a debate on foreign policy by the Radical Socialist party congress, unmistakably threw his hat into the ring.

In his speech, Herriot did not once mention Premier Laval's name, though he is a member of Laval's cabinet and collaborated with Laval at Geneva. Not only that, but many of his phrases sounded like a direct attack on the middle course policy Laval has been pursuing.

See Herriot in Bid for Power.

Political circles interpret the speech to mean that Herriot anticipates the downfall of the cabinet within a short time and is making a bid to take over the reins of government.

The Radicals themselves are likely to supply Herriot with the necessary ammunition by demanding a debate on the dissolution of Fascist leagues, like the Croix de Feu, when parliament reconvenes next month. Should Laval refuse to allow such a debate the Radical ministers would resign from the cabinet. Should he consent he probably would be overthrown, owing to the two wings of his parliamentary majority tearing one another to pieces.

Herriot's Speech Quoted.

Following are some passages from Herriot's speech:

"Are we for or against the league? Do you want to keep faith with the British war dead or do you want to return to a policy of alliances and balance of power? France is bound to the league covenant in duty and honor. It took England years to join us. Now that the British are lined up, are we going to say, 'Sorry, we've changed our minds'?

"There is also the question of interest. What country, if not France, has the greatest interest in automatic functioning of sanctions? Let me warn certain people that by refusing automatic sanctions they are taking a terrible responsibility for the future. I hope I make myself clear."

BRITISH OFFICERS CHARGE ITALIANS SPY UPON MALTA

London Consul Says He Was Insulted.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VALETTA, Malta, Oct. 25.—The Italian navy has flexible ideas of geography, according to British naval officers here, who complain of a tendency of Italian auxiliary ships to prowl around in Malta territorial waters.

The Italians are doing their best, say the British, to get ideas on Malta's defenses. One Italian submarine about two weeks ago suddenly bobbed up in the Valetta harbor. The officers, when challenged, claimed they had lost their way. The British say that is too much modesty and that the Italians are not such bad navigators as that.

The latest incident in the "pin prick war" between Italy and Malta is the return here from Tripoli of the British consul, A. C. Routh, who said he found existence in that Italian colony too nerve wracking. He was appointed a few weeks ago, being the first regular British consul there. British interests previously were handled by the local consular agent.

When Routh presented his credentials, he said, the Italian governor remarked that it was curious that the British suddenly felt the need of sending a consul to a place where they never had had one before. Subsequently, Routh continued, he found his treatment so discourteous that he came to Malta, where he is waiting to receive assurances that there will be no interference with diplomatic pouches he wants to take back to Tripoli.

Easing of the general diplomatic tension brought relief to Malta, where the people are disposed to forget recent alarms. It is a musical comedy country anyway and the local newspapers are glad to return to their main concern, which is libel suits against each other. The tone of Maltese polemics is no less vituperative than the Italian or French.

PRESIDENT MAPS HIS PEACE POLICY WITH EYE ON '36

Discusses League's Bid with Cabinet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today was charting his neutrality policy to steer clear of war and yet avoid troublesome political shoals in the 1936 presidential campaign.

With his cabinet he discussed the pressure being brought on the administration from within and without the country to line the United States with the league of nations in the Italian-Ethiopian dispute. Following the cabinet meeting he again directed himself to the problem in a conference with Norman Davis, his ambassador at large.

Hears League's Bid.

The problem was brought to the President immediately on his return to Washington yesterday by Secretary of State Cordell Hull with the submission of the league's implied bid for United States coöperation in the economic and financial sanctions against Italy as the aggressor in the east African war. League powers have detailed their steps against Italy and asked for an expression from this government.

The league committee meets next Thursday to name the date on which sanctions are to be enforced. Meanwhile the member powers are awaiting a reply to its communication to this government to learn how far the United States will go in backing up the league.

"Strict Neutrality" Seen.

If the President dictates a reply favorable to the league, he may give Republicans another issue against the New Deal. Political minded cabinet officers recalled that the Democratic party went down to defeat in 1920 by urging this country to join the league. With this defeat in mind the President is expected to resist league pressure and cling to strict neutrality.

The President also discussed the naval conference set for London on Dec. 2 to which the United States accepted an invitation yesterday with his cabinet and Davis. Davis said he would attend the conference if his presence is needed, but added that because this government does not know what the setup will be the delegates have not yet been named.

Plans Talk at Tomb.

In connection with the naval conference, according to Commander Ray Murphy of the American Legion, who was a White House caller, the President will deliver an address at the Armistice day services at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington cemetery Nov. 11. Commander Murphy said he expected the address will dwell upon the disarmament conference to be opened three weeks later.

The President was stumped at his press conference by a question regarding shippers disregarding his proclamation warning Americans who trade with Italy and Ethiopia that they do so at their own risk. The proclamation is part of his neutrality program.

It's "Stiff" Question.

He was asked who was running the risk the shippers or the federal government which by loans and mail subsidies has the principal stake in vessels continuing trade with Italy.

"Well," he said, "that's a stiff one." He gave no other answer to the question.

Asked if he could extend his embargo against the warring countries to include oil and copper, he replied that the question would have to be taken up when it arises. He said it had not been raised by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey in its statement that it will continue doing business with Italy because the company has a subsidiary in Italy which is doing nothing more than conducting normal business.

GERMANY SEIZES BRITISH JEW FOR 'RACE POLLUTION'

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

MUNICH, Oct. 25.—The first foreign citizen to be arrested in Germany under the Nuremberg racial law is Rudolf Selz, 58, a naturalized British Jew. He was seized here Saturday by secret political police after he is alleged to have had relations with an Aryan woman and was charged with "racial pollution."

Selz, a mechanical engineer, was born in Germany but became a British subject 25 years ago and fought with the British army against Germany in the world war.

The British embassy is preparing to dispute the case vigorously on the ground that it involves discrimination between two allegedly different types of British subjects.

PARIS GOOD WILL ENVOY IS PLEASED WITH BERLIN VISIT

French Agent Departs After Talk with Hitler.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 25. — Cermand de Brinaux, unofficial representative of the French government, conferred with Reichsfuehrer Hitler for an hour and a half, negotiated with Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's personal adviser on foreign affairs, and then left Berlin with the message he was "most thoroughly satisfied with my Berlin visit," it was learned today.

On a trip to Berlin made earlier in the year Brinaux conferred with Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense, and other officials, but never was he as optimistic in his statements as after his talks with Hitler and Von Ribbentrop.

The German foreign office and the French embassy refused to speak about Brinaux's visit. Some officials announced it was "purely personal." Brinaux's associates hinted the trip was beneficial. They declared that he will become the official French ambassador in the near future in recognition of his services as unofficial negotiator for Premier Laval.

In a private capacity he is director of Information, a Paris financial newspaper.

Rumania also has sent a representative to Berlin to negotiate with the German government for a new trade agreement. Rumania and Germany laboriously concocted a trade agreement last summer, but differences of interpretation were so great that both parties dropped it after a scant week of operation. Now the Rumanians hope to reach a more satisfactory agreement with Germany because of the reich's great need for oil, hogs, and other agricultural produce.

TWO GERMAN SPIES ARE EXCHANGED FOR THREE FRENCH SPIES

STRASBOURG, France, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Two German spies were sent back to their homeland today in exchange for three French spies, in a transfer carried out on Kerl bridge over the Rhine.

Officials of the French branch of Fidac, international war veterans' federation which arranged the exchange, said this first Franco-German spy transfer since the world war armistice may lead to an agreement between the two nations for regular exchanges after spies have served part of their terms.

France gave up the blind alleged chief of a German espionage system, Johann Ratke, and his secretary, Aloyse Frischmann, both of whom had been sentenced to five years in prison. Germany turned over Emile Schneider, French electrician who was convicted of espionage at Leipzig, May 29, and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment, and two men named Burghardt and Nussbaum.

CITY COUNCILMEN PLAN DATE FOR DAYLIGHT TIME

Tabulations Show Hours of Sunshine Gained.

In advance of the meeting of the city council judiciary committee Monday when it will draft its report on the proposed ordinance to place Chicago on eastern standard time, aldermen in the city hall yesterday were discussing the date on which the ordinance should become effective.

Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th], sponsor of the ordinance, has stated his intention of suggesting that the ordinance become effective some time after Jan. 1, 1936. This proposition found favor yesterday among aldermen who said that it would afford a period for adjustments, if any are found necessary by industry.

Cites Data on Daylight.

While the aldermen were on this topic Harvey S. Pardee, a consulting engineer, recalled data that he had compiled in 1914 showing the amount of daylight that would be saved at the end of the day after the change is made. His work at that time influenced many persons in agreeing that eastern standard time would be beneficial to Chicago.

The following table shows the daylight hours available after 4, 5, 6, and 7 p. m. under central standard time and eastern time and the number of daylight hours that Mr. Pardee figured would be gained under eastern time in the period between Oct. 15 and April 15:

	Central standard time.	Eastern standard time.	Dayl't hours gained.
After 4 p. m.	429	642	213
After 5 p. m.	247	429	182
After 6 p. m.	83	247	164
After 7 p. m.	None	83	83

Hours Gained for Children.

Most children are out of school by 4 p. m., according to school authorities. The table shows that these children would have 213 more hours of daylight in which to play during the six months' period under eastern standard time than under the present time. This is an average of more than one hour a day.

The thousands of workers who leave their offices at 5 p. m. would gain 182 hours of daylight for their recreation period. Even those whose occupations tie them down until 6 p. m. would have an additional 164 hours of daylight to enjoy after their day's labor.

"There is no sacred law of nature or astronomy involved here," said Mr. Pardee. "On only four days of the year is the solar day twenty-four hours long. On all other days we have used an artificial day ever since standard time was adopted. This we can adapt to our own convenience."

Savings in Summer Time.

A similar chart by Mr. Pardee shows the additional hours of daylight that Chicago now enjoys in the summer time by going on eastern standard time. Chicago has had eastern standard time between the last Sundays of April and September. The chart is for the period April 15 to Oct. 15. This table shows the comparative number of daylight hours available:

	Cent. stand. time.	East. stand. time.	Daylt. hours. gained.
After 4 p. m.	783	866	83
After 5 p. m.	600	783	183
After 6 p. m.	417	600	183
After 7 p. m.	239	417	178
After 8 p. m.	90	239	149
After 9 p. m.	None	90	90

The arguments advanced for eastern standard time when these charts were made by Mr. Pardee are the same as today:

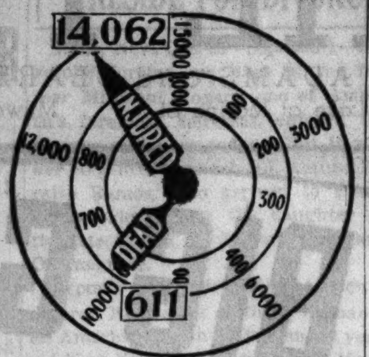
Conservation of the country's natural resources, savings to individuals of coal and light, facilitation of international business by providing sufficient time to exchange cablegrams during the business hours of the same day, provision of an extra hour of daylight during the part of day that it can be used to advantage, increase of human efficiency, better general health because of possibility of more open air recreation, and coöperation with present tendency toward shorter working hours.

Capt. Tomchek in Hospital on Orders of His Physician

Capt. Peter Tomchek of the Shakespeare avenue police is ill in the Alexian Brothers hospital, it was learned yesterday. Capt. Tomchek was taken to the hospital from his home at 6031 Waveland avenue last Monday on the orders of his physician, Dr. Frank E. Lusk.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

WOMAN IS KILLED AND SONS HURT IN CAR-TRUCK CRASH

Farmer Dies as Auto Strikes Tree.

Mrs. Stella Ebeling, 22 years old, 14808 South Winchester avenue, Harvey, was killed last evening when the automobile she was driving collided with a truck at 141st street and Western avenue. Her sons, John, 4 years old, and Thomas, 2 years old, were injured. At the St. Francis hospital in Blue Island attendants said John's injuries might prove fatal. The younger child was expected to recover.

The driver of the truck, John Bernoski, 30 years old, 6104 South Mozart street, escaped serious injury. Mrs. Ebeling's husband, John, an inspector employed by the Ingalls Shephard company in Harvey, notified of the accident by police, went to the hospital and identified his sons and the body of his wife.

Farmer Killed Near Joliet.

John A. Lauterbach, 29 years old, a farmer of Troy township, Will county, was fatally injured yesterday when his automobile ran off a road two miles west of Joliet and crashed into a tree. Before the accident occurred Lauterbach's automobile had collided in Joliet with the car of Jeff Kearns, North Broadway, Joliet. After this collision Kearns and Joseph Scardina, Joliet garage attendant, followed Lauterbach's car in another machine and were behind Lauterbach when he crashed into the tree. They declared he was driving at the rate of 60 miles an hour.

Ignatz Bulunde, 52 years old, 9407 Vernon avenue, was killed last night when struck by an automobile while crossing 95th street at Eberhart avenue. Warren Froom, 38 years old, 10517 South Campbell avenue, driver of the car, surrendered to Burnside police.

Sentenced for Fleeing Scene.

Leonard Franzone, 23 years old, a bartender residing at 2502 North Clark street, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the Bridewell yesterday for driving away from the scene of an accident.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 783 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. In the same period 611 were killed and 14,062 were injured within the Chicago city limits.

HERE IS RECORD OF ALD. NELSON, TIME CHANGE FOE

Municipal Voters' League Describes Him.

Ald. Oscar F. Nelson of the Forty-sixth ward, who is leading the opposition to a proposal for putting Chicago on eastern standard time, is serving his seventh term in the city council. His record in the council is shown by the following reports of the Municipal Voters' league:

1925.

"Finishing first term with disappointing record; prominent by reason of his force and vigor he has not made the best use of his opportunities. He was given credit for the settlement of the strike of city garbage handlers and sought to force the assessment of net receipts of insurance companies for taxation, but he was responsible for opportunity given to Lee O'Neil Browne, discredited old time member of the legislature, to harangue the nonpartisan city council in the midst of a political primary in which he was running.

"A booster for heavy salary increases, while the town is finding the increasing tax burden intolerable. When citizens asked the alderman to keep the city's expenditures within its income his only reply was a cry of tax dodging. This intelligent ward should send a broader man to the council."

1926.

"The leading obstructionist in the council. Opposed practically all vital and progressive policies of the Dever administration. In his friendship for brick he fought to the last the admission of tile as an economical building material; bitterly assailed the city officials on account of the use of concrete, and held up millions of dollars' worth of much needed paving work. . . . His chief constructive contribution was a commendable effort to get more property on the books for taxation."

1927.

"Able and energetic. Avowedly the spokesman of organized labor. As such he has been active and successful in efforts to increase salaries of city employés. To raise the revenue for these increases he has made a vigorous campaign to place upon the books for taxation property which has been escaping fair taxation.

"Has worked steadily for the establishment of more public comfort stations. Has vigorously opposed the council's custom of taking long vacations and stood firmly for open and deliberate consideration of council measures. One of the leaders in the fight against the public utilities bill of 1925, and in favor of home rule."

1929.

"Voted to oust Ald. [Albert F.] Albert, for sale of Holden court and for Faherty appropriation. Formerly a Democrat in good standing he entered the council as representative of the Chicago Federation of Labor and during this term has been the floor leader of the [former Republican] mayor. Was rewarded with nomination for sanitary district trustee, but turned down by the citizenry.

"Introduced ordinance transferring the smoke inspection work from the health department to Boiler Inspector Ney, where it went up in smoke. Introduced and put through, without deferring and publishing, ordinance transferring inspection of ventilation and plumbing from health to building department. Introduced and put through, without deferring and publishing, and with a little or no previous discussion several other important ordinances.

"Led in fight to increase number of street cleaning superintendents, an expensive increase in overhead vetoed by Mayor Dever but encouraged under Mayor Thompson."

1931.

"Leader for the [former Republican] administration on the council floor and, as such, has opposed ordinances calling for investigation of various city departments. As chairman of the committee on judiciary and special assessments, has satisfactorily handled matters referred to it.

"Ald. Nelson is a man of vigor and ability, but partisan politics rather than the merits of a proposition too frequently control his action. He was the leader in the fight of the administration forces to overload the city budget of 1930 by appropriating in excess of the city's revenues."

1933.

"Active, energetic, forceful and alert. Did good work at the hearings on the new telephone ordinance, which brought about a number of amendments favoring the city. A determined fighter with as much all around ability as any other alderman. Was a leader in the Thompson régime, and the affiliations then formed seriously impair his usefulness."

1935.

"Finishing sixth term with good record. As chairman of railway terminals committee worked out plan for lake front terminal for all railroads entering loop from the south side. Able and alert. A forceful leader. More inclined to represent union labor than the city.

"In his statement to the government, Moe Rosenberg alleged that he gave Ald. Nelson, among others, the sum of $5,000 as a campaign contribution, the purpose of such contributions being to secure passage of ordinances favorable to the telephone and traction companies.

"Nelson states that he received only $500; that same was a contribution toward his unsuccesful campaign for election as sanitary district trustee in 1928; that he never had any gift from Rosenberg during any of his aldermanic campaigns, nor any request from him for any action or favors. Ald. Nelson voted for the traction ordinance, but vigorously opposed the telephone ordinance, and was responsible for a number of amendments which aided the city."

NEW MOB BOSSES N. YORK RACKETS; TORRIO HEADS IT

Six Gang Chieftains Become His Allies.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—With Arthur [Dutch Schultz] Flegenheimer and Louis [Pretty] Amberg killed and their gangs demoralized, a new group of outlaw leaders took over control of all the major rackets in New York, Brooklyn, and Newark, N. J., today. Their activities were in open defiance of police efforts to solve the week's gang murders and break up any new combinations.

Police officials indicate that they know the new lineup of underworld powers who wanted Schultz and Amberg out of the way, but tacitly admit that they are unable to get the necessary evidence to do anything about it at present.

According to information in official circles, the power behind the scene is now Johnny Torrio, an old time New York and Chicago gang leader, who fled from his underworld throne in Chicago early in the prohibition era after an unsuccessful attempt was made to kill him.

Six Gang Leaders Allies.

The new combination, according to the police, consists of gangs headed by six notorious racketeers: Charles [Lucky] Luciana, Charles [Buck] Siegel, Meyer Lansky, Louis [Lefty] Buckhouse, Jacob [Guerrah] Schapiro, and Abe [Longy] Zwillman, the last one of Newark.

Torrio and his six associates are said to wield considerable political influence through connections with district and ward leaders in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Newark.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine caused orders to be issued for a roundup of all known gangsters and racketeers who might be able to throw light on the Schultz and Amberg killings. Similar orders were issued in Newark last night, but produced no results.

Federal Men Find Clews.

Although the Newark police said they saw no significance in any of the rambling statements by Schultz, which a police stenographer took down shortly before the gangster died, federal agents here saw two possible links to the new combination of racket leaders.

The federal agents pointed out that Luciana, as New York head of the Unione Siciliano, a secret organization of Italians, was known in the underworld by the title of "the boss." Schultz' dying statement was that the man who shot him was "the boss himself." They also indicated that the "John" referred to by Schultz might have been Torrio.

If the police theory of the Schultz-Amberg killings is correct, some one connected with the new combine engaged professional gunmen, probably hired assassins from some other city, to come here and to Newark to put the two out of the way and break up their gangs in order to prevent any interference with the plans of "the Big Six," for a monopoly over the usury, policy, handbook and labor rackets in New York.

EX-RUM RUNNER GETS 15 YEARS AS LABATT KIDNAPER

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 25.—(AP)—John Basil Bannon, onetime border rum runner, was convicted tonight by a jury on a charge of kidnaping John S. Labatt, London brewer, in August, 1934, and was immediately sentenced to 15 years in prison. David Meisner, former Cincinnati bookmaker, is serving a 15 year prison sentence for the same kidnaping.

Bannon was formally charged with the kidnaping July 26. He is alleged to have told authorities that he was aided in an earlier unsuccessful plot to kidnap Labatt by Meisner, an American named Rossi, now dead, and another man.

Michael McCardell, self-confessed kidnaper of the wealthy brewer, was captured in Indiana after a hi-jacking episode. Bannon was reported to have been the man who disclosed McCardell was in jail at Hammond, Ind., to Canadian authorities. McCardell's confession absolved Meisner from complicity in the kidnaping.

GAS DEATH HELD ACCIDENT.

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury in the case of John Melody Jr., 34 years old, 7353 South Peoria street, who was found dead of auto exhaust fumes in a garage behind 7345 South Peoria street Thursday night.

Joseph (Doc) Moran, Karpis Aid, Reported Slain by Gang

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Reports that Joseph P. [Doc] Moran, Barker-Karpis gangster, had been drowned in Lake Erie today reached J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation. He took cognizance of the rumors only by admitting he had heard them, but asserted he could neither deny nor confirm them.

Dr. Moran, an Illinois gangster-physician, was said to have been drowned several months before he was indicted with members of the notorious gang with which he associated for alleged participation in the $200,000 kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker.

Believed Slain by Two.

According to the reports, Moran was executed by two members of the Barker-Karpis gang, who sought to purge the mob's lawless ranks of too talkative members. Drowned with him, it was said, were the gang's fears that the constant drunken chattering of the fugitive physician would land them in the toils of the federal authorities.

If "Doc" Moran really is dead he took with him to the bottom of Lake Erie some of the secrets of the innermost workings of the notorious kidnaping band. He is credited with having mutilated the fingerprints of Alvin Karpis and three of the Barker brothers after they were indicted in the Bremer abduction.

Moran formerly practiced in La Salle and Bureau counties in Illinois. He was sentenced to the Illinois penitentiary from La Salle county in November, 1928, for abortion. On April 7, 1930, he was paroled, but was returned to the Joliet prison later as a parole violator. He was finally freed on Dec. 15, 1931.

He was regarded as an efficient physician. While an inmate at Joliet he was said to have performed hundreds of operations, his patients being both prisoners and prison officials.

His wife divorced him when he was convicted of the abortion charge. At the time of his reported death the gangster was 38 years old. A man of medium build, he was distinguished by chestnut sandy hair and eyes described as a "yellowish, dark slate color."

Karpis Still at Large.

His demise would reduce the membership of the notorious Karpis gang, once numbering more than twoscore, to only two desperadoes, who are now at large. They are Alvin Karpis, public enemy No. 1, and leader of the old mob, and his first lieutenant, Harry Campbell.

The other members have been taken into custody or killed by federal agents, except for a few who have mysteriously dropped from sight only to be later discovered dead, apparently executed by the gang. Moran was said to have been done away with about a year ago last May. His body never was found, so far as officials known.

Zenge Attorneys Granted Delay to Argue New Trial

Attorneys for Mandeville W. Zenge, who faces a sentence of life imprisonment for the mutilation murder of his former sweetheart's husband, Dr. Walter J. Bauer, were granted a continuance until Nov. 8 of their motion for a new trial in the Criminal court of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday. The lawyers sought the delay to give them time to prepare their arguments. Zenge was convicted on Oct. 18 by a jury that fixed his punishment at life imprisonment.

Gunman Does Everything Except Sing the Lullaby

Gustav White, owner of the National hotel in Joliet, was visited by a gunman early yesterday. The man entered White's room in the hotel, bound him and took $35. He then set the alarm clock for four hours later and told White: "You go back to sleep. I'll come back and kill you if you get up before the alarm rings." White freed himself 20 minutes after the robber left. "How could I sleep after that?" he asked the police.

JURORS ACQUIT POLICEMAN AS COCHRANE KILLER

Decide Tavern Murder Is "Misadventure."

After deliberating only an hour and ten minutes a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph Burke last night found Jeffery O'Donoghue, suspended probationary policeman, not guilty of the murder of Attorney David K. Cochrane Jr.

The jurymen, in returning their verdict, tacitly agreed with the contention of the defense attorneys, James M. Burke and George Crane, that O'Donoghue had not intended to shoot Cochrane and that the killing was "a misadventure."

Cochrane was shot down early on Aug. 20 in front of the Fox Head tavern at 721 East 75th street. After the slaying O'Donoghue and another probationary policeman, Walter Breen, fled. They were not identified in connection with the affair until Sept. 11 when Breen, who said his conscience would no longer permit him to remain silent, confessed voluntarily.

Admits Firing Fatal Shot.

O'Donoghue was arrested and admitted that he had fired the fatal shot and had later thrown his pistol into the drainage canal.

Testimony in the trial showed that the policemen entered the tavern at closing time and engaged in a quarrel with a patron, Joseph Zakar, who had a pistol. They seized Zakar, disarmed him, and dragged him out to the sidewalk. He resisted as they were pushing him toward an automobile and Cochrane, who was accompanied by several friends, left the tavern and interceded in Zakar's behalf.

Breen testified that one man, whom he believed to be Cochrane, leaped on his back in the scuffle that ensued. O'Donoghue declared that he was holding his pistol with the muzzle in the air and that it was accidentally discharged. When he realized that he had shot a man, he said, he released Zakar and fled.

Admit Drinks Before Shooting.

Both policemen had previously admitted that they had been drinking during the evening of the shooting. Both were off duty and in civilian clothing.

In his closing address to the jury, Assistant State's Attorney Gordon Nash characterized the pair as "drunken cowboys" and asked that the jury fix a fitting punishment for them. He did not demand the death penalty.

Judge Burke, in his final instructions, told the jurymen that they need not return a verdict of guilty unless they found the defendant killed with malice aforethought. He included in the instructions a form for "misadventure."

DIES WHILE WALKING.

Frank Corbett, 31 years old, 5183 North Artesian avenue, died suddenly yesterday while walking at the rear of 808 North Franklin street.

MILLICENT ROGERS' 2D HUSBAND AT RENO TO RESIDE FOR DIVORCE

Reno, Nev., Oct. 25—[Special.]—The second foreign marriage of the former Millicent Rogers, one of America's foremost heiresses, entered the divorce mill here today. But it was her Argentinean husband, Arturo Peralto Ramos, who arrived to establish residence, not the daughter of the late Col. H. H. Rogers, Standard Oil magnate.

Reports that Mrs. Ramos would divorce Ramos for a third husband, an American, Ronney Balcom, 28 year old New York society man, this time, have been current for several months.

Ramos, a dashing figure, married the oil heiress in 1927 at the Rogers estate in Southampton, N. Y. This was soon after the crack up of her ill-starred marital venture with Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraeten, Austrian tennis star, which started with an elopement.

FIVE HELD IN QUIZ ON RIDE DEATH OF "BOY ALDERMAN"

Stains Implicate One; Another Is Ex-Convict.

Five men were arrested by authorities of Lake county Indiana, and held for questioning yesterday in the investigation of the murder of Dan Perretta, 23 years old, youngest member of the Gary city council, whose body was found Thursday in a ditch alongside an obscure road six miles southwest of Gary.

Those held are Ernest Fansome, alias Daniel Lamotte, 31 years old, an ex-convict; Fanora Barthole, 38 years old; Gabriel Barracchia, 37 years old, and two others, whose identity police would not divulge.

Arrested in Roadhouse.

Fansome, Barthole, and Barracchia were arrested in a roadhouse in East Gary and were held in the Gary jail. No formal charges have been filed against them. The other two men are being held in Crown Point.

Police learned that Fansome escaped last March 17 from jail at Freeport, Ill., where he was serving a sentence for liquor law violation. Previously he had been arrested on an extortion charge in Milwaukee. The police found bloodstains on Barrachia's shirt. He declared he had cut himself while shaving, although he was unshaven and there were no cuts on his face.

Gambling War Motive Hinted.

Although Chief of Police Lawrence Studness of Gary discounted the idea that a gambling syndicate was behind the murder and suggested that Black Hand feudists probably were responsible, unofficial sources were confident that the struggle for control of gambling encompassed the alderman's death.

It was recalled that Perrotta, since his election, had been striving to close two gambling resorts in his own ward at 124 5th avenue and 645 Washington street, and had urged the council to take action against them.

FIVE KILLERS GET PRISON; SLAYER OF GIRL 40 YEARS

Bruno Austin and 3 Allies Draw Life Terms.

Five convicted murderers lost motions for new trials and received sentences to prison terms ranging from 40 years to life yesterday before two Criminal court judges.

Judge John C. Lewe sentenced Mills Redmond, 27 years old, to 40 years in the penitentiary. Redmond was found guilty by a jury several days ago of strangling Miss Marion Cozzo, 18 years old, because she resisted his advances, and hiding her body in a sewer catch basin at 68th street and Fairfield avenue last Dec. 1. The body was found on July 18 and Redmond confessed, but at his trial repudiated his unsigned confession. The jurors fixed his prison term.

Mother of Girl Approves.

Mrs. Theresa Cozzo, mother of Redmond's victim, after hearing sentence imposed, said she was satisfied that justice had been done.

Four men were sentenced to life terms by Judge Daniel P. Trude for the murder last July 15 of Anthony Benedetto, 51 years old, 901 South Irving avenue. Benedetto was shot during the robbery of a store at 2229 Taylor street.

Bruno Austin Sentenced.

Those sentenced for the crime are Bruno Austin, 23 years old; Maurice Jacobs, 21 years old; David Sinnenberg, 18 years old, and Alex Shapiro, 21 years old, all of whom have police records.

Austin was tried in St. Paul last May for complicity in the kidnaping of Edward Bremer, but was acquitted. Earlier in the year he was arrested as he was leaving the Russian Holy Trinity church just after he was married to Miss Marie Brenko, but was released two months later.

GOVERNOR KILLS JERSEY'S SALES TAX WITH RED INK

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Gov. Hoffman tonight signed away New Jersey's 2 per cent retail sales tax. In signing the measure to end the tax he long had advocated the governor said:

"I am signing with red ink because it means an unbalanced budget and maybe hungry people."

The bill, which made repeal immediately effective, passed the assembly late today, 50 to 3, and a little later went through the senate, 11 to 0, with five senators not voting.

DOING HIS BEST, SAYS THE CICERO CHIEF TO JURORS

Chief of Police Theodore L. Svoboda of Cicero was the only witness before the grand jury yesterday in its investigation of charges that gambling and unlicensed taverns flourish in the suburb. The inquiry was sought by Mayor Joseph G. Cerny, who has tried in vain to oust Svoboda.

Svoboda is understood to have told the grand jurors that he had received only one complaint against conditions in Cicero and that was in a letter from Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney. He is said to have told the jurors that he posted the letter in the police station and instructed his subordinates to correct the conditions complained of.

The police chief is reported to have said that lack of men and a political feud between Mayor Cerny and the town trustees have "demoralized" the police department, but declared he was doing "everything possible" to end gambling and close unlicensed taverns. It was indicated that no more witnesses will be called.

MARRIED WOMAN AND WIDOWER, 51, ARE FOUND DEAD

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Dr. Richard Grimes, Queens assistant medical examiner, said tonight a toxicologist's preliminary report gave a "strong probability" that carbon monoxide gas had killed a young wife and elderly widower whose bodies were found today in an Astoria apartment.

A litter of one and five dollar bills found near the man's body had lent a bizarre touch to the tragedy and was a factor which early ruled out the suggestion of a double murder and robbery.

Dr. Grimes said police had told him there was a furnace directly beneath the room in which the two were found.

The woman was Mrs. Nellie Rush, 26, whose husband, Harvey Rush, is a truck driver. The man was Anton Schmidt, 51, a factory foreman, at whose apartment the bodies were found.

According to Rush, who was questioned at length by police, his wife often went away for two or three days. Schmidt, he said, was a long time acquaintance of the family.

PLEADS ACTION TO END PERIL OF COERCIVE RULE

Ex-Secretary Mills Warns U. S. Faces Choice.

America faces an immediate choice between free business enterprise under democracy or planned economy under coercive government, Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury under President Hoover, warned members of the Commercial club at a dinner in the Blackstone hotel last night.

Tracing a broad outline of economic history, Mr. Mills asserted that at best the course marked by government control can lead only to static stability, whereas the course which the nation has traveled thus far, with corrections he suggests, holds out the greatest hope of progress toward a permanent national well being which all citizens may share.

"As developed in practice," Mr. Mills said, "the technique of control consists in the creation of a series of monopolies, state owned as in Russia, or state controled as in Mussolini's corporate state and in the case of our own NRA."

"Incredible" but True, He Says.

The speaker said it seemed "incredible" that we should now be faced with a choice between the old order and "a planned economy which is the antithesis of everything America has stood for," but declared that such is the case because the present administration has moved "so fast and so far."

He pointed to the AAA which gives government control over the individual farm, the system of monopolies set up under the now defunct NRA, the price-fixing and work-regulating Guffey coal bill, the public utility legislation that takes the question of regulation away from the states, and the Tennessee Valley authority which undertakes economic and social planning for a large area.

Threat of Federal Dominance.

These signs, Mr. Mills said, indicate a systematic attempt to exercise federal dominance over individual enterprise in production and the price mechanism in distribution, "the two key elements of a free capitalistic society."

"When President Roosevelt intimates," Mr. Mills said, "that if his program is declared unconstitutional we should consider amending the fundamental law, he raises no mere narrow legalistic question, but the most fundamental economic and social question. Our whole American scheme of life is threatened."

History contains ample proof, Mr. Mills declared, that government regulation is accompanied by poverty of the masses.

Suggests a Way Out.

Mr. Mills advised these steps to escape a planned economy:

Keep alive the competitive process by avoidance of price fixing and monopolistic agreements.

Encourage saving, to protect the individual and nourish business, particularly small enterprises.

Provide for adequate production as well as distribution of wealth, by unshackling business.

Realize that capital must be intelligently used as well as accumulated.

Pass the benefits of increased efficiency and lower costs on to the consumer.

Foster harmony between employer and employé.

Stamp out fraud and unfair practices by an aroused business conscience and weight of public opinion.

Inculcate the business leaders with an ever present sense of public responsibility.

Insist on a sound currency.

Develop a sound banking structure.

TAX COLLECTOR GUEST AT EVERY MEAL, SAYS KNOX

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, in an address tonight at the Northwest Publishers' dinner charged President Roosevelt with "loose and reckless" financial policies, placing a tax collector "at every dinner table."

"If you earn but $25 per week, $5.38 of every week's pay is taken from you in taxes and even at this rate, you will pay but half the bill," Knox said.

"You and your children and their children will settle the remaining half. At every dinner table in the country today, and every day, there sits an uninvited guest—the tax collector.

"To attempt to lull the people into a false sense of immunity from future tax burdens by a demagogic assumption that only the rich pay taxes is a form of deceit to despicable to describe in temperate language.

"In their loose and reckless fiscal policies President Roosevelt and the New Dealers have not only proved false to reiterated promises, but are erecting well nigh insuperable barriers to business recovery. . . . If we are to survive as a democratic people, the next President must pledge a balanced budget, sound currency, and demobilization of a 'huge burocracy.'"

ROOSEVELT WILL RETURN TO HIS HYDE PARK HOME

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—With only three rooms of the White House completed in a general repair program, President Roosevelt said today he planned to return to his Hyde Park, N. Y., home, some time next week.

He will remain there at least over the following Tuesday to vote in the state election.

The President said he would go as usual to his Warm Springs, Ga., home, probably a week before Thanksgiving. He added that he wanted to return soon afterward to complete work on the budget to be presented to congress in January.

COLONIAL DAMES BAN SPEECH ON "AMERICANISM"

"Too Political"—But It Once Pleased D.A.R.

Genealogists have received handsome fees for tracing family trees down to the roots to prove that present day people are worthy of becoming members of the Colonial Dames. For to be a member one must prove that one had at least one ancestor who was an American before the first shot was fired at Bunker Hill.

Nevertheless the Illinois Society of Colonial Dames will not listen to a talk entitled "We Must Remain American," by Chauncey McCormick, it was learned yesterday. After viewing an outline of his speech the state president, Mrs. William Blount Greenlee of 70 East Scott street, has informed Mr. McCormick that his remarks would be "too political."

His Outline Fails to Pass.

Several weeks ago Mr. McCormick was requested by the society to deliver the principal address at its Armistice day meeting, which is to be held in the home of Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, 20 East Burton place. Only after he had accepted the invitation was he asked for the outline of the speech.

"I was surprised," said Mr. McCormick yesterday. "I had never been asked for an outline before. But I sent one. In a few days I got the outline back and with it a formal notification of what was wrong with my speech."

D. A. R. Seemed to Like It.

This surprised him even more, he said, as he had delivered the same talk to the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Thereupon Mr. McCormick sat down and wrote Mrs. Greenlee a letter. "Is the Declaration of Independence political?" he asked. "Is Washington's farewell address, or Lincoln's first inaugural address?"

Then he added: "I am not going to preach any doctrin not upheld in all three of these documents, all of which denounce policies advocated by and practices indulged in by Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Needed: One Speaker.

Mrs. Greenlee declined yesterday to talk about what her answer would be if she made any answer.

"We have no speaker for the meeting," she said. "Yes, we did have Mr. McCormick. . . . I do not care to discuss it. . . . We are simply not interested in politics."

She hung up the phone. Mr. McCormick, whose wife is a member of the Colonial Dames, asserted that he was only puzzled that the organization is interested so exclusively in Americanism as it was in the far distant past.

Court to Pass on Issue of Child Saluting Flag

Boston, Mass., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The question whether a pupil can be expelled from a Massachusetts public school for failure to salute the American flag will be passed on by the full bench of the state Supreme court. The case involves Carleton Nichols, 8, expelled from a Lynn school recently because he refused to pay homage to the national emblem.

City Experts' Car?

Illegally parked, facing south at the east curb of Halsted street at 63d street yesterday morning was a small sedan with a sign in the window reading "Trafic engineers, bureau of streets, city of Chicago." On duty at the corner was a policeman with star 2,854. The license number of the sedan, Ill. 500-446, was issued to A. H. Wright, 4211 Lake Park avenue.

Leslie Sorenson, city trafic engineer, said he had a crew assigned to a count of vehicular and pedestrian movements at this intersection. Apprised of the parking violation, he said he would issue general orders to his field men this morning to obey all trafic regulations strictly.

LISTS NEW DEAL EFFORTS TO KILL INDUSTRY, THRIFT

Congressman Church Hits 74th Congress.

Congressman Ralph E. Church, Evanston Republican, charged yesterday that the seventy-fourth congress, in passing laws "to kill all personal incentive to industry and thrift," had committed a "dastardly attack on business recovery."

Mr. Church spoke before the Wilmette Civic league and the League of Women Voters of Wilmette and Kenilworth at the Marshall Field & Co retail store.

"This administration," he said "has deliberately and wilfully set out to enact measures bound to affect the morale, self-confidence, and sense of security of every American citizen. It attempted to reduce and confiscate your savings. It furthermore undertook to distribute what it has taken and will take from you, among an ever-growing and devouring burocracy, while at the same time it assures support in many cases to those unwilling, though able to work.

Efforts to Throttle Industry.

"Definite measures were taken," Church continued, "to destroy the power of organized industry, and, despite the decision of the Supreme court, which declared the NRA unconstitutional, President Roosevelt himself has given warning that further efforts to throttle industry will be brought up in the next session.

"The President has indicated that the government will continue to enter into competition with private enterprise by actual government undertaking of public utility and other interests. And you realize, of course, that these governmental undertakings will be supported by the taxes paid by regular business—as long as there is any business left to pay them.

"Throughout the session of the seventy-fourth congress the administration also sought to surrender to the President a strangling control of all banking and credit functions by granting him the power to appoint and to remove members of the federal reserve board. Efforts have been made to control other banks by bringing them into greater subserviance to a politically controled federal reserve board.

Cites Effect on Banks.

"It is actually true that cash reserves in our banks have been depleted by the actions of the federal government in forcing such banks to absorb all undistributed government bond issues. And, as a last straw, effort has been made to amend the constitution in order to give the government power to tax, and therefore power to destroy, all state and municipal bonds and the interest thereon.

"It is significant," Church said, "that the large industrial states like Illinois are being drained of revenue to support big public works projects and benefit payments for sparsely settled western and southern states. I say that it is time that Illinois awoke to that fact and voiced her protest."

Lack of $32 Kills Love Suit Against J. A. Stillman

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—For lack of $32 a $200,000 heart balm suit against James A. Stillman, retired banker, was dismissed today by the appellate division of Brooklyn Supreme court. Luc Rochefort, former Montreal politician, who brought the action, said he couldn't raise the $32 to bring the case to trial. Because he delayed so long in proving that Stillman, former National City bank head, stole the affections of his wife, Marjorie, the court threw out the case.

G. O. P. IN KANSAS INDORSES LANDON FOR PRESIDENCY

State Leaders Plan to Launch Campaign.

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon was indorsed for the Republican presidential nomination today by Kansas Republican leaders. The governor has not indicated whether he will be a candidate.

The indorsement was given at a meeting of members of the state committee, state officeholders, congressmen, Senator Arthur Capper, and other party leaders.

Lambertson Starts It.

Congressman W. P. Lambertson touched off the oratory which resulted in the indorsement. He said:

"The state headquarters has had inquiries from forty-five states seeking information about our governor's political and administrative record and asking authority to launch his campaign in those states."

Approve Subscription Plans.

The leaders had been called together for the purpose of raising preconvention campaign funds for the Republican national committee. They approved plans for raising $30,000 immediately.

Of this $30,000, $15,000 is to meet a request of the national committee for preconvention expenses. The other $15,000 is for state work.

Leaders informally discussed the feasibility of formally launching Landon's candidacy at the annual Kansas day dinner here Jan. 29. The occasion will mark the 75th anniversary of the state's admission to the union.

Tells of Inquiries.

"Inquiries about the formation of Landon-for-President clubs have been received from 45 states," said Will G. West, clerk of the United States District court and former secretary to the governor.

"Requests for information about the governor are coming from all parts of the country. An organization should be set up soon to supply them with the information and direct activities in formation of clubs."

Even after today's development Landon bored into a pile of communications on state matters—and said nothing.

G.O.P. SHIP NEEDS GREAT CAPTAIN, ASSERTS OSBORN

Contrasts President with Theodore Roosevelt.

Fenton, Mich., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—A contrast between President Theodore Roosevelt and the "Square Deal" and President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the "New Deal" was drawn tonight by Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan. He addressed the Young Republicans of Genesee county here.

"The difference between Franklin Roosevelt and Theodore Roosevelt," said Mr. Osborn, "is that Theodore Roosevelt proceeded courageously upon the straight and safe course from port to port as unerringly as any good navigator steers a ship.

"Franklin Roosevelt dilutes himself with a multitude of immature and amateur theorists who have got him to a point of complete bewilderment, until if any man in the world was ever lost in the political woods he is."

Be on Guard, Urges Osborn.

Former Gov. Osborn urged the Young Republicans to be on guard against the nomination for President by the Republicans next year of "any candidate who has been handpicked by designing forces." He declared the party must declare for a greater measure of social justice under the constitution.

"In all of this," he said, "great care must be taken to proceed under the constitution, as Theodore Roosevelt understood. The American constitution is broad enough and elastic enough to cover every human governmental need. Now and then there may be a demand for amendments.

"Great caution should be exercised lest these equip certain designing people with despotic power. That is what is asked for by Franklin Roosevelt and his followers. The foolish wise men' at Washington declare that they know more about what the people need than the people themselves. That was the attitude of the old slaveholders. But the slaves wished to be free. America needs immediately another emancipation proclamation to free us from the present bondage of Franklin Roosevelt.

"Advanced Program Needed."

"I repeat that an advanced program of social justice is demanded, and rightly, by the temper of the people. The Republican party to succeed must offer such a program. It must definitly curb financial rapacity, but without killing the incentive of either individuals or corporations.

"The people wish to be assured by the Republican party that when they vote it back into power things will not be messed up and mussed up, and that they will not be disturbed in the ordinary affairs of life.

"Also they demand that the bankrupt road followed by the Franklin Rooseveltians shall be abandoned and blocked. The Republican platform will not get the party anywhere unless it is constructive. It must offer social advances that are appreciable, tangible, and continuing, but not at a speed that is ruinous.

"It must endeavor in every practical way to make every man a man, capable of standing on his own feet and helping himself."

Bishop from New Zealand Visits Cousin in Chicago

The Most Rev. James M. Liston, Catholic bishop of Auckland, N. Z., on his way home from a visit to Pope Pius at Rome, was in Chicago yesterday visiting his cousin, Mrs. J. H. Moran, 810 South Highland avenue, Oak Park. Bishop Moran assisted at canonization ceremonies of St. Thomas More and St. John Fisher, English martyrs. In New York Bishop Liston was the guest of Alfred E. Smith. He left last night for Vancouver, B. C., where he will sail for New Zealand next week.

Bishop Names Successor to Rev. Gilbert Stansell

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist Episcopal area of Chicago announced yesterday the appointment of the Rev. E. E. Hoisington of Princeton, Ill., as pastor of the Cuyler Avenue Methodist church, Oak Park. The Rev. Mr. Hoisington will succeed the Rev. Gilbert Stansell, who was killed in an automobile accident ten days ago. The Rev. Merrill Tope of Fox Lake will succeed the Rev. Mr. Hoisington. The Fox Lake church was left temporarily without a minister.

HAUPTMANN LAWYER CALLED UNFAITHFUL IN 5TH WIFE'S STORY

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Edward J. Reilly, Brooklyn attorney and chief defense counsel in the Hauptmann trial, was accused of "habitual drunkenness" and "open and notorious flaunting of adulterous relationships" in an affidavit submitted by his wife to Supreme Court Justice Graham Witschief at White Plains today in their cross-actions for separation.

Mrs. Reilly said she was the attorney's fifth wife and that all of her predecessors divorced him. She said Mr. Reilly pays his first wife $140 a month alimony, and that he gave his second wife an outright settlement of $30,000, and his third wife a settlement of $15,000. She did not mention what, if anything, the fourth Mrs. Reilly got.

Mrs. Reilly denied charges in her husband's separation suit that, after he had to go to a hospital in May, 1934, she became cruel, inhuman, and insulting to him, and also assaulted him several times.

In her affidavit, submitted in support of her own suit, as well as her answer to her husband's action, Mrs. Reilly said Mr. Reilly had a "brazen disregard" for his marital obligations.

TOWNSEND CLAN UPHOLDS PENSION PLAN SPENDING

Oldsters Applaud at Finance Report.

Enthusiasm was kept up to fever pitch yesterday as believers in the Townsend $200 a month pension plan approved a report on the spending of $585,446 which they contributed to the movement. The program, if enacted into law, would give every person over 60 years of age $200 a month, with provision that it all be spent every thirty days. The financial statement was the feature of the program for most of the 6,000 delegates attending the second day of the national convention of Townsend clubs at the Stevens hotel.

"Charges that the leaders of this movement have done away with hundreds of thousands of dollars are a lie," said R. E. Clements, secretary of the three man corporation, Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd. "Any allegation that Dr. F. E. Townsend has pocketed money is also false."

"Slower!" Demands Delegates.

There were shouts of "Slower! slower!" as the list of receipts and disbursements was read. Many delegates were attempting to jot down the figures for the edification of the clubs which elected them and, in many instances, paid their expenses to the convention.

Clements stated it had been charged that Dr. Townsend had "abstracted $600." He then answered the "charge" by declaring that the money was used by Townsend last January to pay the salary of "a man who proved to be a Judas."

The report stated that Dr. Townsend had received $7,532, including expenses estimated at $74 a week, and that Clements, former California real estate dealer, had received $7,517 over a period of 15 months which ended Sept. 30, 1935.

Draw $150 a Week Each.

Salaries of the two co-founders were revealed as $50 a week, with $50 a week for ordinary expenses, and $50 a week for traveling expenses.

From the sale of books, buttons, and leaflets the corporation took in $147,574. The clubs donated $135,275, while membership fees, donations, and special collections from individuals amounted to $20,594.

Not included in "O. A. R. P., Ltd.," is the Townsend national weekly magazine, which now has a peak circulation of about 220,000. Officials said that it operated at a loss because millions of copies have been distributed free.

AGREEMENT ENDS WAHLS' ALIMONY BATTLE IN COURT

An agreed order ending the alimony troubles of John C. Wahl, former vice president of the Wahl Pen company, and his divorced wife, Mrs. June E. Wahl of the Edgewater Beach hotel, was signed yesterday by Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort. In lieu of all alimony claims Wahl will pay his former wife $15,000 in cash and she will retain $17,000 in notes collectible from his estate when he dies.

The order was presented by Attorney Harry X. Cole, representing Mrs. Wahl, and Attorney Paul Simon, counsel for Wahl. The Wahls were divorced in 1926 and at that time he was ordered to pay her $400 a month alimony. Several months ago Mrs. Wahl asked that her former husband be held in contempt of court for being $17,000 in arrears. Wahl countered with a petition requesting a decrease in alimony. Both petitions were dismissed when the order was entered yesterday.

Wahl, who lives at the Lake Shore Athletic club, married the former Mrs. Charlotte Pace, a widow, last July 3.

BURGLAR'S PANTS ARE HIS UNDOING; TWO SENTENCED

Pleading guilty after a dramatic scene that halted their trial, Walter Mazden, 32 years old, and Guy Capara, 22 years old, burglars, were sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph B. David in the Criminal court yesterday.

Abraham Schultz, 1448 North Western avenue, who charged the two defendants with stealing 135 dress suits that Schultz rented out as a business, was the first witness called after the jury was selected. He was asked to identify the stolen garments.

Stepping from the stand, Schultz pointed to the trousers Mazden was wearing.

"That's part of the loot," he said.

When order was restored Judge David declared a mistrial, discharged the jury and accepted the defendants' pleas of guilty.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE FROM W. S. AGAR JR.

Mrs. Katharine Dixon Agar, 468 Deming place, was granted an uncontested divorce on grounds of desertion from Woodbury Stearns Agar Jr. by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday. Agar, who lives at 3750 Lake Shore drive, is the son of the president of the Agar Packing and Provision company, 4057 South Union avenue. Mrs. Agar was awarded the custody of her son, Woodbury Stearns Agar III., 6 years old, for ten months of the year and was allowed $60 a month for the child's support. She also received a $2,900 settlement. Agar will have custody of his son during July and August.

Forbidden Smoke Causes Fire in Supreme Court

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The new, $11,500,000 Supreme court building was the scene of a fire today, but damage was limited to smoke on the ground floor and a scolding for a Negro janitor who, taking a forbidden smoke, accidentally had set fire to a bucket of trash.

DELAY ORDERED ON POWER WORK ON MAINE COAST

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Orders that no contracts for construction of the $36,000,000 Passamaquoddy [Maine] tidal power project are to be let until Gov. Brann calls a special session of the Maine legislature to create an authority for marketing 'Quoddy power have been issued by the army corps of engineers it was revealed today.

Issuance of this order was regarded as a virtual ultimatum to Gov. Brann, who has indicated no intention of calling a special session although work relief funds for first year construction have already been cut from $10,000,000 to $5,000,000.

MAYOR BATTLES LIFTING OF BAN ON 'TOBACCO ROAD'

Citizens Join Fight to Keep Closed Play Dark.

A petition for the dissolution of the temporary restraining order barring city officials from interfering with performances of the stage production, "Tobacco Road," was filed in Federal Judge William H. Holly's court yesterday in behalf of the city. Meanwhile, the play remained dark despite the order issued Thursday by Judge Holly giving it a seven day lease of life.

The play was closed Monday on orders of Mayor Kelly, and the license of the Selwyn theatere, where it was being produced, was revoked, after the mayor attended a performance on Sunday night and termed the play "a mass of obscenity." Judge Holly, in granting the temporary restraining order Thursday pending hearing Nov. 1 on the producers' petition for a temporary injunction, disagreed with the mayor, holding that the play was not obscene.

Citizens Concur with Mayor.

The dissolution plea filed yesterday was accompanied by Mayor Kelly's sworn answer to the restraining order and the affidavits of seven citizens who concurred in the opinion that "Tobacco Road," which ran for seven weeks without interruption, is an obscene production.

The answer, presented to the court by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes and his assistants, William V. Daly and Charles Horan, attacked the restraining order on two grounds. The first of these was a restatement of the opinion that the play was obscene and lascivious and violated city ordinances and state laws; the second that the promoters of the play had no property interests in the license of any theater which would entitle the court to interfere in the revocation of such licenses.

The shutdown order, the mayor's answer said, "was for the best interests of the people of Chicago and to protect the morals, the good name and reputation of the city."

Agree It's a Lewd Play.

The supporting affidavits were made by Circuit Judge Benjamin P. Epstein, Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller, former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, Ald. William T. Murphy [13th], Attorneys Leo V. Roeder and Michael Mulcahy, and Lieut. Harry M. Costello, head of the motion picture censor bureau. Each declared that he had witnessed a performance of the play and found it to be "obscene, lewd, lascivious, and immoral."

The hearing was continued until Monday, when Attorneys Don M. Peebles and Harold M. Keele, representing Sam Grisman and Jack Kirkland, producer and author, objected that they had not been given the required two days' notice.

Judge Approves Bond.

Judge Holly approved a $2,000 surety bond necessary to make the temporary restraining order effective, and the promoters continued their efforts to find a theater that might be leased for a continuation of the play's run.

Last night they still were looking, and no immediate success seemed near. City officials expressed the belief that it would be impossible for them to find another show house in which to take advantage of the 7 day period of grace.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item on Oct. 20 said that Matthew Puncochar, 69 years old, died in the County hospital on Oct. 19 of burns suffered when his clothing caught fire as he was lighting a stove in his home at 2407 South Trumbull avenue. "The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

ANOTHER ATTACK ON FREE PRESS.

Once a great son of Penn's Woodland, now the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania, made in his old age the long and toilsome journey to New York to defend a poor editor and through him the freedom of the press from the oppression of royal power. Full of years and honors, Andrew Hamilton, leader of the Philadelphia bar, braved the wrath of government and put the shield of his learning and eloquence between tyranny and one weak man, the printer Peter Zenger. His victory is written in letters of gold in the history of American liberty.

That was 211 years ago. Today another Pennsylvanian is writing a different record in the annals of his state. He is Charles J. Margiotti, attorney general, champion and political profiteer of the New Deal. He and the governor of Pennsylvania and their Democratic organization proposed to the people a revision of their constitution to open the way to the experimentations of the spreading federal power. The people have refused to surrender the independence of their sovereign commonwealth. A leader of its defense was the Philadelphia Inquirer, and now its publisher, manager, and editor have been marked for punishment. The attorney general has charged them with false and malicious publication and brought action for criminal libel, that old weapon of arrogant autocracy. That action is within the law, but the official representative of law in Pennsylvania has gone beyond that. He has brought his prosecution, not in Philadelphia, where the alleged libel issued, but in Jefferson county, in the western part of the state, where Attorney General Margiotti is a political boss, where a complaisant grand jury may be called to act promptly and satisfactorily, in time for some hoped for effect in the coming campaign for the Philadelphia mayoralty.

That device too is an old one, as the Declaration of Independence will remind the people of Pennsylvania and of the United States. The defendants in this case cannot be "transported beyond the seas to be tried for pretended offenses" as George III. liked to do with those who brooked his will two centuries ago, but if they can be tried where the Guffey-Earle machine has its henchmen to run the proceedings there may be as little justice done as if they were three thousand miles away.

Nevertheless the Inquirer tells the machine it will not be bulldozed and cannot destroy the freedom of the press. The Inquirer will not fight alone. It will have the support of every free newspaper in the land. Its fight is ours and that of every free citizen who cherishes his liberty to know what his government is doing and doing to him. Nothing has been more ominous in recent years than the recrudescence of attacks upon the freedom of the press in one form or another, in suppressive law, in oppressive prosecution, and in insidious detraction and the indirect tactics of control under New Deal regimentation. This sinister encroachment the independent press has defied and defeated, but the fight is not alone for its own liberty nor even primarily for it. It is for the liberty of the people, which cannot survive the freedom of its press. For as Jefferson, the most farseeing guardian of individual liberty among our statesmen, has said: "Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press and that cannot be limited without being lost."

MR. HEARST MAKES A PICTURE AND CLOSES HIS HOUSE.

Mr. Hearst finds that there is already too much EPIC in California for his purse, and he has announced that shutters will be put up at San Simeon for a sufficient part of the year to exempt him from the state income tax. Mr. Hearst is not grouchy about it, but he says that a man who has the New York and California collectors scratching around over what the federal collectors have left will soon find himself out of funds. He must get out from under some of the collectors or, no matter what his income is, he'll be broke.

Other people know this as well as Mr. Hearst, and in the course of time they're bound to find out a great deal more about it. This is only the beginning, folks, only the beginning. But in the course of his discussion of taxes Mr. Hearst said something else. He related that recently the treasury department asked Warner Brothers and his own Cosmopolitan Film corporation to make a picture showing what terrible things happened to folks who did not pay their taxes promptly.

Did they make it? They did. It was called "The Special Agent," and Mr. Hearst says the treasury department was highly pleased. He now doubts that he is so much pleased. It might have been better if he had made a picture showing what happened to folks who paid their taxes. The treasury department did not ask for that. The treasury department probably wouldn't have cared a thing for it.

Mr. Hearst, nailing up the shutters on San Simeon and for a large part of the year denying himself the glorious sunshine which his cows are still to receive on the ranch, might not have touched the masses as much as Daddy Warbucks in one of his more desperate, insolvent conditions. If Little Orphan Annie were nailing them up the appeal might be stronger. The picture Mr. Hearst did not make gives a certain amount of interest to the picture he did.

The moving picture industry is one of the communications enterprises with which the New Deal cultivates intimate relations. Another is the radio. The pictures are deathly afraid of censorship and the federal burocrats know that. The films must conform so far as they can to the government desire to use them for fear if they don't they'll have somebody snipping them. Radio is well aware that its license period is short and the renewal may not always be automatic.

Newspapers are organized to fight every attempt of the government to interfere with their freedom, but they have to be on the alert. There are fewer timid ones now than there were when the fight began. The wires are under tighter government control and nearly all the communications are flanked by the enemy. Mr. Hearst's disclosure of the treasury department work with his film company to throw the fear of the federal agent into the population is an interesting background for the scene in which the linen dust covers are spread over the once comfortable domesticity of the great ranch house at San Simeon. It's what happens when you pay the taxes.

WHY TRY ANOTHER?

Although pessimism is the prevailing tone in the preliminaries to any naval conference which may be attempted, the signers of the Washington treaty are going ahead with half-hearted preparations for the renewal of the agreement. They know the prospects are all discouraging. The ratio of limitations fixed upon at Washington was made possible because the United States did an unbelievable thing in giving up ships which would have made its fleet the most powerful in the world.

Japan soon recovered from the conciliatory mood promoted by the act of the American Don Quixote. The fact that Tokio submitted to a technical inferiority has been used unceasingly by Japanese chauvinists as an illustration of occidental insolence and an offense to Japanese national pride. So in the end the Washington conference made a new difficulty for every one it attempted to dissipate.

Recent events have raised British fears for the security of the empire and its sea routes, and the disturbing signs come from quarters which were not seriously regarded when the size of navies was considered. The various agreements signed at Washington, along with the navy limitation, such as the treaty for the protection of China, have not held water, and during the life of these pledges the ground has shifted under the feet of the negotiators. In a changing world this could have been expected.

Experience has thrown its weight against altruistic treaties. They do not restrain an aggressive nation when it gets started in its stride. Nations which, for the time being, are content with what they have usually find only embarrassment in trying to deal with the other fellow upon the terms he has so indifferently signed. It would cause no real lover of peace a particle of anxiety if every pretense of holding another international conference to renew the expiring naval agreements were abandoned. An attempt to get another understanding is likely to raise more misunderstandings than it will settle.

So far as the United States is concerned it would be much better off if it did not undertake to determine what other peoples should have but kept close to its own business of deciding what was best for its own purposes. As a free agent it will not be half as much suspected of intrigue as it will be if it engages in international controversy regarding the size of other countries' naval power.

JIMMY WALKER'S HOME COMING.

Jimmy Walker, New York's ex-mayor, homesick in Dorking, Surrey, has started for home. He has been told that welcome signs are all over the place. It is understood that New York will do more than forgive if Jimmy will do the forgetting. New York will do the handsome for its returning son.

Jimmy has a good memory and he started using it in a book. He promised the public his memoirs. He made a news reel chatting about a few snappy chapter headings. Wasn't it to be called "Letters I Forgot to Mail"? Will it now be "The Book I Forgot to Write"? The publisher's foreword has not appeared. Or was the book published and forgotten?

The forgetting may be more important than the forgiving. If all the forgotten people turn out to welcome Jimmy he'll be like a regiment returning from distinguished foreign service.

Editorial of the Day

TWO "R'S" AND A "T."

[Detroit Free Press.]

Reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic, those "three R's" sentimentally associated in the minds of older generations with school days, are now undergoing an alphabetical change. At least this is true out in the Berkley school system, where typewriting has now become established in the curriculum for pupils from the second through the sixth grades.

It is maintained that use of the typewriter develops self-confidence in the littlest tots. It is a good medium for teaching punctuation and composition. It spurs an interest in spelling and reading. The little folks are allowed to operate the machines by "hunt and peck" method, older ones are taught the touch system.

The typewriter, like the automobile, has come to stay. Obviously the child might as well learn its use at an early age, gaining the mastery of one more tool.

But will its advent in the schools also mark the end of those hours painstakingly devoted to practice writing, to pages of ovals and oblique penstrokes, to the achievement of a clear, legible "hand"? The Spencerian penmanship which embellished autograph books of a half century ago with birds and flowers and scrolls is fast disappearing, going the way of the red bound slate which teacher used to rule for newcomers of a crisp fall morning beside the schoolroom stove, a task which even today can send a shudder along the spine as memory recalls that screech of metal on slate, not quite like any other sound in the world.

WHEN THE BOONDOGGLERS PUT ON "HAMLET."

HAMLET:
To be or not to be?
That is the question.

POLONIUS:
Tut, tut! my lord, only
And shouldst thou feel that way
There is a seventeenth story window
That is just behind thee.

HAMLET:
I spake not of myself,
But of the constitution;
Whether it should live or
Have its ears cut off.

POLONIUS:
Ah, 'twould still vex you, my lord,
Even with its ears cut off.

HAMLET:
Go to, thou naughty knave. I meant
To cut its ears off just beneath the head.
Thereby removing ears and Likewise head.

POLONIUS:
That would do for it indeed, my lord.

HAMLET:
But after we have shuffled off
This constitution thing,
What then will hap?
'Tis easy to spend the country's wealth
By billions and still
More billions.
But some day 'twill be gone.
What then?

POLONIUS:
Thou shouldst worry, Hamlet.
Leave that to the taxpayers.
They must pay the coin
We spend. Aye, and like it, too.

HAMLET:
Aye, but they have votes,
Those taxpayers;
And will they then
Be happy and give us rousing cheers and homage
Or will they rather send us forth
Where we no longer can enjoy
Our happy spending spree?
Are we to be or not to be
After 1936?
That is the question.

AN ARTIST WHO DREW a picture for the Salmagundi Club, an artists' club in New York, resigned because the Salmagundies hung his painting of President Roosevelt behind a door. Thereupon the artist who painted the picture resigned—"not because of any affront by the club to me, but because of the manifest discourtesy they offered the President of the United States." But must the Salmagundies disregard the merits of the painting in a picture and hang it anyhow because it is a picture of the President of the United States? Ah, a happy thought! I will photograph the President of these United States and send it to the fall exhibition of the Chicago Camera Club. Let the committee say it's foreshortened and lacks chiraroscuro and character definition and harmonious pictorial composition and that there's too much crowding at the top and besides it's impossible to tell whether it's a picture of the President of the United States or an autumn landscape at Turkey Run state park. Let them say what they will, nevertheless I shall go forth and tell the world that the rejection of my photographic masterpiece was an insult to the President of the United States. And maybe they'll be so ashamed they'll hang the picture. But it's worth trying. It seems my only chance to horn in.

THEY BLOOM AGAIN.

A garden with its blooms all dead,
And stalks all withered by the frost,
Should not be cause for grief. Instead
Of sighing "So much beauty lost!"
The trusting heart will smile and sing,
"They only sleep until the spring."

Does God look down from heaven to see
These gardens that the living keep
For hearts that slumber silently?
And does He murmur, as we weep,
"Are these less than my flowers, then?
Grieve not, for soon they bloom again!"

WHAT A TERRIBLE PLACE New York must be! Gunmen battling with each other and filling the air and one another with machine gun and revolver bullets, while innocent bystanders go crawling under tables and down sewer pipes. Gracious! one would think the police down there would do something about it. We certainly don't permit such carryings on in Chicago. And indeed, NO!

HEART DISEASE IN CHILDREN.

MENTION has been made from time to time of the far reaching influence of rheumatism as a causative factor of heart disease, particularly in children; and parents, on the whole, are reasonably well informed as to the serious damage to the heart that may follow rheumatism, chorea [St. Vitus' dance], and other types of infection.

The heart valves are delicate structures; strong, to be sure, but extremely sensitive to infection. Once damage has been inflicted by inflammation, followed by the formation of scars, the problem is to adjust the activities of the patient so that the normal span of life may be anticipated.

Experience has taught us that rheumatic fever is primarily a disease of childhood and that serious consequences sometimes ensue if the child is not permitted to recover fully from the acute attack. On account of the virulence of the infection, or because sufficient rest is not insisted upon, the condition may smolder as a slow burning fire for months or even years, with periods of acute manifestations. This means that with any form of infection we must make certain that recovery has been complete before the child is permitted out of bed. Thereafter strength and resistance must be maintained at a high level. The mere fact that there is a slight enlargement of the heart accompanied by a murmur may be attended with but little significance if we can be sure that the infection has been entirely overcome.

After the acute infection has completely subsided the child may be up and about and gradually resume normal activity. We can understand that growth depends upon exercise and children with damaged hearts should be encouraged to use all their muscles within certain definite limits. If we find a heart that is but slightly enlarged, possessing a reasonable amount of muscle reserve, we should recommend and even urge that the child lead a normal, active life, with but one restriction, namely, that competitive games and unusual fatigue and exertion must be avoided.

Unnecessary exposure, wet feet, and chilling should be scrupulously guarded against. If the tonsils are harboring infection they should be removed at a time when the child is in the best possible physical condition.

Occasionally these children are undernourished and some will be inclined to play beyond their strength. An additional hour or two of bed rest is advised and extra nutrition may be needed. At least a quart of milk per day, the regular use of cod liver oil, and as much sunshine as possible should be the rule.

Children between the ages of six and ten show the largest number of rheumatic infections. When a youngster complains of pain in the joints or in the muscles, parents are rather inclined to attribute the symptoms to an age old fallacy—growing pains. There is no such animal, since normal growth is not accompanied by pain of any type. Pain means trouble of some sort, and muscle or joint symptoms may indicate infection unless they follow physical injury.

Too little attention has been paid to chorea as a factor in heart damage, although the close association between chorea and rheumatic fever is now recognized. There is no specific remedy for the former condition and the management lies almost wholly in conquering the infection by means of rest and proper food. A much more rapid recovery is possible if the symptoms are recognized early and bed rest insisted upon.

Chorea does not begin as an acute disease. The onset is slow and it may be noticed that the child is nervous and irritable for weeks or even months before the characteristic involuntary muscular movements are recognized.

One attack of rheumatic fever or chorea may mean another, as there is no immunity established by the infection. The common cold is of great importance, as it is sometimes the activating agent in bringing about a lighting up of an otherwise quiescent infection. A clean throat and mouth raise a strong bulwark against heart damage via the rheumatism route.

LISPING.

H. O. S. writes: As a boy I lisped terribly. I cured myself very simply and have passed my experience on to many others. How did I cure myself? Well, there was a girl. She was new to our community and she lisped worse than I did. I watched her talk and her protruding upper teeth were probably what helped me to study the mechanics of her speech. I noticed that her tongue was always sticking out of her mouth and that gave me a clew. A little experimenting showed me just what caused lisping and I used to go back of the barn and practice talking without lisping so that I would not be kidded in my efforts by my brothers and sisters.

Lisping is caused by just one thing. When you say the letter "s" just touch the upper teeth with the tip of the tongue and you will lisp just as easily as falling off a log. If you don't want to lisp don't quite touch the upper part of the mouth with the tongue. Simple but effective.

P. S.: There was no romance.

REPLY.

Now for a girl who lisps!

MUSCLES TWITCH.

R. E. P. writes: My sleep is interrupted by twitching of the muscles in the legs. I have high blood pressure and am treating for same. Is this from the nerves or the circulation?

REPLY.

This condition is probably due to local changes in the circulation associated with the high blood pressure. Heat will help. Use an electric pad or hot water bottles. Care must be taken so that burns will not occur, as the skin is unusually sensitive.

DEED TO PROPERTY.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I would like to know what steps a relative should take who came to Chicago at the age of 13. He is nearly 70 now and has not taken out naturalization papers. He has been a taxpayer thirty years. Can this be remedied, and how? He has lived in Wisconsin 35 years. He came from Norway. My mother [dead six years] changed a deed to her home to my stepfather. 2. It was in her name quite a while. She kept it [3] for two years and did not record it. 4. After her sudden death my stepfather had it recorded at once. He drinks and is irresponsible. Can my brother and I contest it? 5. Is the deed valid when my mother did not record it for two years? A. M.

1. We assume that your question has to do with the old age pension law. With regard to naturalization proceedings you should take your matter up with the naturalization office.
2. We assume that you mean it was in her name before the transfer which you have previously mentioned.
3. The antecedent of this pronoun is not clear.
4. We assume that you mean a deed to your stepfather. In general, a deed is not valid unless it can be proved to have been delivered during the lifetime of the grantor. Delay in recording invites litigation on this point.
5. Depends on the facts as to delivery.

RIGHT TO ESTATE.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My aunt died and left no will. One member of the family collected all insurance, jewels, clothing, and money that was invested. 1. How can I find out in all how much she really got? 2. Aren't the rest of the nieces entitled to a share? She spent some time with all of us. 3. How can we make her give us our share? K. B.

1. You can insist that the persons so collecting the assets turn them over to the administrator. If you wish to force matters you should employ an attorney.
2. Yes.
3. See 1. We assume that you are all equally related to the deceased.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

UNNECESSARY NOISES.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—[Friend of the People.]—I wonder if something can be done to stop the two ice companies from their extreme yelling and hollering in this neighborhood all day long. The two ice companies begin their campaign as early as a quarter of seven in the morning and continue, at about twenty or thirty minute intervals, until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. I hope something can be done to stop this nuisance. C. A.

An officer was assigned to investigate. He reports that both drivers were warned that if they persisted in yelling they would be arrested for causing a disturbance. The drivers for both companies referred to promised they would refrain from yelling in the future. Further attention will be given to this matter to the end that there will be no further cause for complaint.

EXECUTOR VS. ADMINISTRATOR.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What is the difference between an [1] executor and an [2] administrator of an estate? 3. If you ask a bank to perform the service, would the bank be termed the executor or administrator? L. B. S.

1. He is named in a will.
2. He is appointed by the court in absence of a will.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile. — The United States embargo on trading with Euro-African belligerents was welcomed in South American chancelleries as a guide in assessing their responsibilities under the Geneva pact and in participating in league of nations sanctions against Italy.

All Latin-American states, with the exception of Brazil, are members of the league. Several, especially Argentina and Chile, play a prominent part in its deliberations. They invariably act in unison at Geneva but, for all their baiting of Yankee diplomacy on their home continent, rely for a lead from the United States when international complications threaten them as a result of their league affiliations.

That is why South America was relieved when Secretary Hull took his stand under the neutrality law. Below Panama this was translated as tacit American coöperation with league economic pressure on Italy and inviting the southern nations who are members of the league to go ahead with their obligations under the pact.

For this reason it is anticipated that South America as a whole will accept economic sacrifices to back up the league in putting the screws on Italy, especially as public opinion is overwhelmingly in favor of Ethiopia.

It fell to Argentine Foreign Minister Saavedra Lamas to crystalize South American feeling regarding Italian aggression in East Africa. He declared:

"We South Americans can admit no discussion of one fundamental principle. That is, conquests and territorial expansion based on the application of force cannot be recognized. That is the principle on which we are basing present negotiations for permanent peace between Bolivia and Paraguay.

"The American continent is like a tranquil river compared with the agitated European sea. We cannot disguise our alarm at the turn of events in Europe and must condemn the signs of imperialism there.

"If public rights and laws fail in the old world it will be our duty to consolidate them in the new world, for civilization would fail altogether unless based on the law of justice and rigid respect for the given word and contracted promise."

In Chile and Argentina the press is practically unanimous in condemnation of Italy. The Italian embassy in Santiago complained regarding the way news and editorial opinions were set forth in the semi-government organ, La Nacion. The only result was a stiffening of the editorial campaign against his country.

Reports from Buenos Aires, La Paz, and Lima confirm that the governments have had to dispense extra protection for the Italian embassies and legations owing to aroused feeling. In Santiago film exhibitors have eliminated martial scenes from Italy and portraits of Mussolini owing to public opposition. Italian opera was boycotted.

A RESCUE.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—I was a bystander at a wreck at the Cicero avenue crossing of the Illinois Central railroad near Sportsman's Park at about 6:45 p. m., Oct. 22, in which an automobile was rolled under a caboose, apparently being backed across the highway at that point. The speed of the caboose was great enough to drag the automobile under the caboose and about 300 feet west of the crossing.

The sole occupant of the automobile, a man, was still alive and groaning. My indictment is the fact that it took three hours of crude undirected work by other bystanders to free the man from the wreckage.

First: The Cicero fire department lost their day in getting there and didn't do anything but add to the crowd already there, except furnishing flood lights. There were no rescue tools such as large jacks, or cutting torches in their equipment or any training in their use after they were procured.

Second: The Cicero policemen [about five] were more interested in looking on than maintaining a clear area for work.

Third: The railroad company did not send the obviously necessary wrecking crane but did send a car with jacks and blocks and four men, but still nobody who knew how to direct rescue work of this type.

Everybody was bossing but no action on the man inside the car. Finally, through the almost single-handed efforts of a young man in a red sweater, and the sheer bravery of two bystanders in gray coats and hats, who crawled under the insecurely jacked up caboose and pried off the door of the automobile, the victim was freed at 8:30 p. m., over three hours later.

Did our false political boundaries keep Chicago rescue squads away? And was the cost of steaming up a railroad crane greater than the price of human suffering and how many more people have to be killed or maimed at this spot before it is cheaper to put up gates or a grade separation? MELVIN D. WESTCOTT.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYING FIELDS.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Why can't some of the federal money be spent to provide adequate playing fields for our high schools? Chicago possesses only one high school athletic field for a twenty-eight football team league, Lane Tech being the fortunate institution. Most of the other schools have to conduct their games under very trying conditions. Some of the so-called parks where these games take place are a disgrace to our city, with their hard playing surfaces and their old and highly inflammable stands. Have the city officials ever inspected the stands at Normal park and White City?

A project of this kind should be a paying proposition, as the average attendance for the better teams runs well over 5,000. With a little less publicity about the far distant colleges and more about our own schools this figure could be greatly increased. H. C. HODGES.

HEROIC DOSAGE INDICATED.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—THE TRIBUNE for Oct. 18 reported Dr. Charles H. Mayo as predicting the discovery of a drug which will restore insane and feeble-minded persons to full use of their faculties. If this drug is not too expensive part of the $4,000,000,000 relief fund should be used to provide a dose for the New Deal spenders. SAMUEL H. GILBERT.

ANIMAL RESCUE.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Many complaints were voiced at the meeting of the Chicago Humane-Education society Monday, Oct. 14, relative to an article carried in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, Oct. 13, "Survey Shows Animal Rescue a Growing Task."

Humane organizations have become accustomed to THE TRIBUNE's ignoring their activities, but prefer that to the carrying of biased articles. It chances that through sickness and death attendance at the downtown office has been curtailed, but every member carries on animal rescue work in his or her neighborhood. It was due to the activity of this society—in the face of bitter opposition—that the Municipal Animal Shelter was built at 34th street and Lawndale avenue to take the place of the old dog pound, long a disgrace to every resident of the city.

All our members are anti-vivisectionists, but we deem it wise to leave that work to organizations founded for the purpose, and our charter provides for humane education only.

This is but a small organization. Its resources have been sadly crippled by economic conditions. Nevertheless, it is affiliated with both humane and civic organizations, notably the Chicago-Cook County Federation of Women's Organizations. We realize that reporters obtain material in many and devious ways, but feel that Mr. Armstrong's article is not only slighting and unfair, but not particularly truthful. If the policy of THE TRIBUNE is to increase circulation reports of this type are likely to have a contrary effect.

Permit me to sign myself by the name known to many foreign readers.

SENATOR BORAH'S VIGOR.

Maywood, Ill., Oct. 23.—This morning I read Mr. Lonsdale Green's letter pertaining to the reputed old age of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

A man's usefulness is not necessarily determined by his age, but by his physical and mental condition. Some men are old and worn out at 35, while others go very well to 100.

I have known Senator Borah about 30 years and have frequently gone fishing with him. Last month I fished Wood river with him and a party of other men. The senator was as able to climb over the difficult hill and mountain trails as the rest of us. He seems to be in better health now than he was ten years ago. He was then an occasional sufferer from bronchitis.

As for the senator's mental condition, I doubt whether Mr. Green or any one will question that. His record speaks plainly and clearly. His honesty and character in politics rise above his colleagues as the Alps rise above the plains in Europe. HENRY L. REYNOLDS.

THE BREAD TAX.

Harvey, Ill., Oct. 20.—I have just read your interesting editorial on the bread tax in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of Oct. 20. It was a big laugh to a person who has bought flour for family use for more than twenty years. For the past ten years the price of a standard brand of flour milled in Minneapolis has varied from 99 cents to $1.49 for a 24 pound bag. At present the price is $1.19. Will that show an increase of 35 per cent on flour to the baker since the New Dealers came into office? Is it the New Dealers' fault that the wheat was an inferior quality last year? Didn't we ever raise poor wheat when any other President was in office? S. W. LINDQUIST.

BRUNDAGE AND HACKETT DENY FEE CHARGES

Answer Referee's Report on Realty Case.

Federal Referee in Bankruptcy Archie H. Cohen in a report filed yesterday with the clerk of the United States District court made a "finding the fact" that Avery Brundage, chairman of the H. O. Stone company bondholders' committee, and Horatio B. Hackett, architect, who is a member of the committee, had "secretly divided" $23,104 in appraisal fees in the reorganization of properties.

The referee recommended that Brundage, Hackett and the three other members of the committee be removed "because they had shown themselves unworthy of their trust."

Denies Getting Any Fees.

Mr. Brundage denied last night that he or Col. Hackett had received any of the fees. He said that the money had been divided among employés of the Avery Brundage company, general contractors, of which he is head, and Holabird & Root, the architectural firm with which Hackett is connected. The money was given to the employés, he said, because they did the work of appraising the properties.

Brundage declared also that the bondholders' committee had acted in good faith and that there had been nothing in the evidence heard by the referee to "justify the report's comments on the actions of the members."

He said that the fees were for appraisals on more than one hundred of the Stone properties and that the appraisal work had saved these properties $200,000 in taxes which had been erroneously assessed.

Hackett Welcomes Inquiry.

In Washington, D. C., Col. Hackett, who is head of the housing division of the federal Public Works administration, said he would welcome any investigation and "awaited the outcome in court with confidence."

The referee's report deals specifically with the proposed reorganization of the 25 East Delaware Building corporation, one of the Stone properties, under section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy act. Foreclosure proceedings against this building are pending in Cook county Circuit court.

The petition for reorganization in the federal court was filed last May by Attorney Alvin G. Hubbard on behalf of four bondholders. This petition charged the bondholders' committee with mismanagement of the property. The hearings before Referee Cohen were in regard to the question of good faith in bringing of the petition.

The referee held yesterday that the reorganization petition was filed in good faith. Brundage said that reorganization of the property is practically completed in the Circuit court.

Breaches of Trust Charged.

Referring to Brundage and Hackett, the referee's report said they had committed "numerous breaches of trust." Concerning the fees, the report stated that the committee had drawn checks totaling $23,104.87 to Holabird & Root, "but the money so paid, which belonged in equity to the depositing bonholders, was in fact secretly divided between Brundage and his fellow committee member, Hackett."

The other members of the bondholders' committee, Charles M. Moderwell, former president of the board of education; Francis R. Blossom, insurance man, and J. L. Kraft are not mentioned in connection with the alleged fee splitting. All are named, however, as having made "false allegations" to bondholders in soliciting deposit of bonds with the bondholders' committee.

A hearing on the report will be held Nov. 12 before Federal Judge Charles Woodward, who originally assigned the case to Referee Cohen.

NOBEL WINNER HAS NO USE FOR HIS $42,000 PRIZE

FREIBURG, Baden, Germany, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Hans Spemann wants to know what a man con do with $42,000, especially when he has everything he wants and is in love with his work.

Awarded the Nobel prize for medicine at Stockholm, the German professor, holder of the chair of zoölogy at the University of Freiburg, today said he regarded the money award as of less importance than the honor of the prize.

"This crowns my life's work!" he exclaimed.

He added he has all the medical instruments he needs for his experiments. Then he said:

"What can one do with so much money? I really haven't thought of the possibilities."

Prof. Spemann was awarded the prize for his discoveries in connection with embryonic evolution. He lectured in Chicago in 1931 at the invitation of the Rockefeller Foundation, and at Yale university in 1933. The biologist said he is writing a book, based on these lectures and on his work, entitled "Experimental Contributions to the Theory of Development."

Prosecutors' Plan of Attack Revealed for Sweitzer Trial

In a bill of particulars filed with Judge John C. Lewe of the Criminal court yesterday, the state for the first time indicated the trend of its prosecution of Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted county treasurer, who is charged with withholding $414,129 from Michael J. Flynn, Sweitzer's successor as county clerk.

At the same time the defense indicated that it will seek to bar much of the testimony in the approaching trial, which is set for Monday, on the ground that the statute of limitations has run for many of the alleged wrongful transactions of the defendant.

Figures on Amount Due.

The bill of particulars, submitted by Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Kearney and Leslie Salter, alleges that Sweitzer as county clerk collected but failed to turn over to his successor $341,886 from the tax redemption fund, and $72,243 from various other funds.

It sets forth that Sweitzer's liability to the redemption fund when he left the clerkship to become treasurer last December was $1,135,549. The bill alleges that Sweitzer actually turned over to Flynn $4,607 in cash and a deposit certificate on the City National Bank and Trust company for $749,979, or a total of only $754,586.

The state will seek to show, the bill of particulars relates, that in 1922 Sweitzer became $200,000 short in the general fee fund of the county clerk's office, and that to cover this shortage he transferred $200,000 from the redemption fund on Dec. 3, 1926.

Benefit from Bank Failure.

Another charge outlined in the bill is that Sweitzer personally benefited in the amount of $58,003 after the failure in 1917 of the Graham & Sons bank, where $75,791 of redemption fund money was on deposit when the bank closed. Sweitzer received $17,788 in cash from the bank after it closed, and, by a federal court order, $40,215 more of the bank's assets were applied to offset $40,215 in Sweitzer's personal note, the bill alleges. It is charged that Sweitzer has failed to reimburse the redemption fund for either of these items.

Sweitzer's attorney, I. Harvey Levinson ,objected to the bill of particulars on various technical grounds, but was overruled by Judge Lewe.

Chief among Levinson's objections was that the bill of particulars sets forth acts of alleged embezzlement, whereas the indictment against his client charges him merely with withholding funds. Even if there was embezzlement, Levinson argued, there is no criminal liability on Sweitzer's part in connection with the $200,000 transaction because the statute of limitations would have run by now.

O'HARA GRANTED 7 MORE DAYS TO BRING RECORDS

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday granted Attorney Barratt O'Hara seven more days in which to collect books and records which the lawyer has been ordered to produce in court. The documents are sought by the court as evidence in the investigation that Judge Barnes is making into a real estate receivership case in which, he learned, none of the three supposed plaintifs had authorized suit.

O'Hara was not in court yesterday, but Attorney Maclay Hoyne offered his petition for a continuance.

Attorney Charles P. Haffenberg, who is involved in the investigation with O'Hara, told Judge Barnes that the placing of the unauthorized names on the original bill was a "clerical error."

"O, no, my friend," replied the judge. "I cannot agree with you that it was a clerical error. However, I'll grant the continuance."

SOCIAL SECURITY ACT IS TOPIC AT U. OF C. SESSION

The Wagner labor bill and the so-called social security act were discussed yesterday at the second annual midwest conference on industrial relations, held at the University of Chicago.

Jay F. Christ, assistant professor of business law at the university, said that those who oppose the law had the right to contest its validity in the courts, but are bound to obey its provisions until it is declared invalid by the highest court. He criticized the act as giving no protection to the worker against labor organizations.

W. J. Graham, vice president of the Equitable Life Insurance socieyt, said there was great danger in placing too much reliance on the social security act as an instrument to eliminate the hazards of unemployment and old age.

25 ARE CHOSEN TO FIND WORK FOR MUSICIANS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Setting part of the work relief drive to music, WPA today added an advisory committee of 25—Damrosch, Gershwin, Tibbett, Whiteman, and others widely known—to help provide jobs for unemployed musicians.

Harry L. Hopkins' culture department said the group, including noted critics and such showmen as "Roxy" would "give advice" on the "federal music project."

Classical music and popular dance tunes were promised to the public in moving toward the goal. Officials said, however, that a large number of the 10,000 musicians and music teachers for whom work relief jobs are sought will play in dance orchestras.

That, they explained, is because more dance than concert musicians are on relief and need jobs.

The committee, which will serve without pay, will consult with Dr. Nikolai Sokoloff, former conductor of the Cleveland Symphony orchestra, who is director of the musical end of the $27,315,217 WPA program for beaux arts and belles lettres.

WALTER LIGGETT, MINNESOTA VICE FOE, IS BEATEN

Names Two Men Assailed by His Newspaper.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Walter W. Liggett, editor of the Mid-West American, a weekly, was beaten severely early today by a gang which he said included two men he had been attacking in his paper in a current campaign to drive vice and gambling out of Hennepin county.

Police tonight were seeking Isadore [Kid Cann] Blumenfeld and "Brownie" Bronstein as two of a mob which set upon him in a saloon to which he had gone with Blumenfeld after they had met in the apartment of Annette Fawcett, divorced wife of W. H. [Capt. Billy] Fawcett, publisher and sportsman.

Head Injured Severely.

Liggett's face and head were battered severely, a tooth was kicked out, his lip split, and one ear was almost torn off. He also was bruised badly on his chest. Examination by X-ray showed no broken bones.

Liggett has been a thorn in the political flesh of Gov. Floyd B. Olson for more than a year, asserting in recent issues that Olson should be impeached and repeating ten charges as reasons for the demand. Formerly a member of the Farmer-Labor party, of which Olson is the standard bearer, Liggett broke from Olson last fall.

Liggett told police this morning that the beating followed a proposal that if he would "lay off"—presumably from further attacks on Blumenfeld and Bronstein—it would be worth his while.

Victim Under Indictment.

Liggett is under indictment for a statutory offense which he charges is a frameup engineered by his political enemies.

Liggett told police he was asked to Mrs. Fawcett's hotel apartment in a telephone call in which she said she had "some information" for him. However, he declared the only "information" he received was an introduction to Blumenfeld. About 1 a. m. Liggett decided to go home and Blumenfeld offered to give him a ride. Liggett accepted, but before they reached his home, Blumenfeld suggested they stop for a drink.

In the saloon Blumenfeld took him to Liggett was introduced to Bronstein, he said, and a few minutes later Blumenfeld repeated the offer that it would be worth his while if Liggett "laid off." Liggett refused, he told the police, and Blumenfeld struck him. This, the editor declared, appeared to be the signal for Bronstein and three or four others to join in the attack.

MICHIGAN HIGH COURT UPHOLDS ANTI-BALM ACT

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Michigan's new anti-"heart balm" law, passed by the 1935 legislature and effective last month, was upheld as constitutional today by the state Supreme court.

The court granted a writ of habeas corpus to Arthur J. Landaal, who has been confined to the Ottawa county jail on a capias warant as the outcome of an alienation of affections judgment obtained by Claude Baumbach.

Under the new act, which was sponsored by the senate's only bachelor member, William Palmer, of Flint, all causes for suits arising out of breach of promise, alienations of affections, except by "in-laws," and seduction in criminal conversation, except in cases of girls under 16, were abolished.

The Supreme court opinion holds that body executions obtained as the result of alienation of affections judgments may no longer be enforced. The statute provided only for the outlawing of suits based on acts occurring after the law's effective date, Sept. 21, allowing the filing of suits for an additional 90 days in cases in which the cause of action arose before Sept. 21.

NOTED PRINTER ENDS WORK WITH SUPREME BIBLE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Bruce Rogers, whose printer's mark—Thistle—is immortalized on the bronze doors of the rare book room of the library of congress, today took through those doors the supreme book of his career.

It was a single copy specialty of his new Oxford Lectern Bible, bound in a special pig skin, printed on paper hand made in England from raw silk imported from Japan.

Bruce said it meant the closing of his 40 year career in which 400 of his books have become collector's items. Bruce's 1935 Bible was a five year task of printing.

A presentation page on the Bible said: "This copy of the Oxford Lectern Bible of 1935, the only one printed on paper of special kind and size, was presented to the library of congress by Bruce Rogers and his friends."

In the list of his friends was George Ade and John T. McCutcheon, with whom he went to Purdue university in Indiana, and Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue.

JAPANESE ANGER OVER INSULT TO FLAG IS SOOTHED

American Navy Officer Voices His Regret.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 25.—Naval officers of the United States and Japan today settled an incident in which two American sailors were accused of insulting the Japanese flag at Tsingtao Wednesday night. Japanese officials were reported as satisfied with the promise of American naval officers that if the two men are found guilty of the charge they will be punished under American naval regulations.

The commander of the submarine division to which the sailors were attached called on the Japanese naval intelligence officer at Tsingtao and expressed regret for the incident. The American and Japanese officers, accompanied by the American consul, then visited the Japanese consul general, who was informed the matter was being investigated.

Admit First Charge False.

The sailors are charged with removing a Japanese flag from the front of a restaurant and hurling it into the street.

The Japanese now admit that their original charge that the sailors removed the flag from a Japanese shrine was false despite the fact that it was broadcast by newspapers throughout the far east through the Rengo [Japanese] news agency.

According to an authoritative report the two sailors, attached to the submarine tender Canopus were visiting the Tsingtao dance hall district known as "Corean Hill," which is populated with taxi dancers of Corean nationality. The sailors are alleged to have had an altercation with the dance hall proprietor and were ejected at the moment that a large number of Japanese reservists emerged from a nearby hall where they had been holding a patriotic meeting.

Threatened by Mob.

The Japanese reported that the street and shop fronts were decorated with flags commemorating a shrine festival in honor of soldiers and sailors killed in action. The reservists, it was said, saw the Americans pulling down the flag. A mob of 500 Japanese threatened the Americans, the Japanese related. It was reported that Japanese consular police finally took the sailors to a Japanese police station and later handed them over to American consular authorities.

The angry crowd did not break up until early in the morning.

Japanese authorities here are trying to minimize the incident due to the presence of high American officials, including Secretary of War Dern and Vice President Garner in the far east, but the Japanese community at Tsingtao is demanding strong action.

The Canopus and several submarines arrived at Tsingtao last Sunday. They were scheduled to sail to Shanghai tomorrow but a typhoon struck Tsingtao today, leaving three dead and 30 injured. Consequently the sailing may be postponed.

With the exception of a few small gunboats, the remainder of the American China coast squadron is now at Singapore.

MOTHER'S LOVE DOOMS ZOO BABY TO STARVATION

So fearsome are the mother love and the obstinacy of an orang-utan that it became almost certain yesterday that the infant son of Nancy, the giant simian in the Lincoln park zoo, would die of starvation.

The sex of the infant was determined by Floyd S. Young, the zoo director. Mr. Young and his assistants, however, were unable to take the baby from its mother. Not having a normal supply of breast milk, Nancy has been striving to squirt milk placed in her cage in containers through her teeth and down the youngster's throat.

This has not been a success and the efforts of guards to persuade the orang-utan to use a bottle and nipple were futile. It has been suggested that the mother might be drugged long enough to take the infant from her, but this was rejected on the ground that Nancy was too valuable to risk with such an experiment.

THREE GO TO JAIL FOR CONTEMPT IN INJURY SUIT QUIZ

Attorney in Case Faces Court Citation.

Concluding an all day investigation into charges of possible collusion in a $25,000 personal injury suit, trial of which was halted on Thursday, with a directed verdict of not guilty, Superior Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday sentenced three men to jail for contempt of court. He also directed that the attorney who filed the suit and his secretary show cause on Monday why they should not be cited for contempt.

Leo Amideo, 28 years old, 4512 Lowe avenue, an ex-convict, who started the suit against John Feldman, 50 years old, a professional bondsman, was sentenced to nine months in jail. Feldman, whom the judge found in contempt after he denied knowing another figure in the case, was sentenced to six months in jail.

Missing Witness Sentenced.

Lawrence Soloman, 31 years old, 1239 South California avenue, a second hand dealer who failed to appear in court on Thursday after having been served with a subpena as a witness in the hearing of the $25,000 suit, was sentenced to serve ten days in jail and fined $5.

Judge Lindsay directed the state's attorney's office to draw up contempt citations against Attorney Lloyd T. Bailey, 1 North La Salle street, who filed the complaint in the damage suit, and his secretary, Miss Madge McElhany.

"This suit was a fraud and an imposition on the court," Judge Lindsay declared. "The attorney in this case and his secretary filed this suit claiming that Amideo had been injured when their own files disclosed he had suffered no such injuries."

Attorney Bailey told the court that several weeks after he filed the suit Amideo hired another attorney.

X-Rays Disprove Testimony.

Amideo claimed to have suffered injuries when he was struck by Feldman's auto last Nov. 22 at Union avenue and 30th street. X-ray pictures produced in court yesterday, however, showed no trace of injuries. The pictures were shown by representatives of the company by which Feldman was insured against motor accidents and from whom Amideo planned to collect the $25,000.

Feldman testified that he did not know the witness Soloman. When Soloman was put on the stand he admitted that he and Feldman previously had been involved in two accident cases in which both had collected money from the street car company.

Miss McElhany admitted she had notarized the complaint by signing Attorney Bailey's name to the bill. Judge Lindsay directed that the contempt citations recommend that Bailey be suspended for a year from practicing law in Cook county and that his secretary be deprived of her notary's seal.

London Critic Picks Beevers to Be Winner

Swinnerton Sees Future for Young Writer.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—A young writer of whom a great deal is going to be heard in the future is John Beevers. This young man, who is 23, is just publishing his first book, the title of which is "World Without Faith" [Hamish-Hamilton]; but he has long been worth watching as a writer of crtical articles, and even if "World Without Faith" does not instantly establish his reputation it will flutter a great many camps and coteries by its devastating candors.

As an undergraduate of Cambridge university Mr. Beevers considerably distressed the Cambridge literary mandarins by independence of mind and judgment. He wrote for the New England Weekly a great deal of harsh and cheeky matter; but what he wrote was always full of life and humor. Nor was he content to remain the castigator of a single set. He carried his impatience very much farther.

One of his early tasks was the revision of an old translation of Nietzsche's "Thus Spake Zarathustra." Under his control the literary department of the London weekly review, Time and Tide, has become bold even to the verge of recklessness. And now the fine flower of his inconoclasm is to be presented to the world for retaliatory severity. It will probably receive a few knocks.

But Mr. Beevers will survive those, just as he will survive his own youth; and he can be trusted to mature into an able and constructive critic of human affairs and the products of the human mind.

One who has already matured to a ripeness of wisdom allowed to few men is E. V. Lucas, whose new volume of memories, "The Old Contemporaries" [Methuen], is shortly to be published. This book is more personal than its predecessor, "Reading, Writing, and Remembering," and it will speak of Mr. Lucas' early life and school days as well as of his literary friends.

Mr. Lucas, who is one of the most prolific essayists, novelists, and topographers of our time, and whose editorial labors for the English publishing firm of Methuen have occupied much leisure [to say nothing of the life task which he has just completed with the production of the definitive edition of Charles Lamb's Letters], has been accused by a correspondent of criminal laziness. This shows how impatient his readers always are for more: a rare circumstance in a world of overproduction.

Another autobiographer is younger: Miss Pamela Frankau. Miss Frankau is the daughter of Gilbert Frankau, and she cannot have seen a quarter of a century yet. But she has told the story of her life in a book announced as "I Find Four People" [Nicholson & Watson].

But she has avoided the use of the personal pronoun by writing of herself in the third person. I wonder how much detachment she has achieved.

Asserts U. S. Must Prepare for War or Leave the Far East

"War Clouds in the Skies of the Far East," by Tom Ireland [G. P. Putnam's Sons], would make a good classroom reference for a course in present day international complications. It is largely factual, written dispassionately and conveys a well balanced picture of the problems of the Pacific area.

"The United States," he writes, "has just two alternatives: Either to moderate its unrelenting attitude toward Japan's Manchurian and Chinese ventures in order to gain Japan's willingness to give up its right to build as many ships as it desires and to discuss political issues with this country as a friend, or else engage in a costly naval race that may lead to war. . . . The best guarantee, it seems, for the continuation of peace and for the avoidance of war, is for the white man and the yellow man each to tend to his own corner of the globe."

The Japanese viewpoint toward American interference in their plans is well presented. P. K.

Woman Solves Middle Age in Bridge's Novel

"Illyrian Spring" Should Prove Popular.

"Illyrian Spring," by Ann Bridge. [Little, Brown & Co.] Published on Aug. 2.

THOSE readers who were charmed with "Peking Picnic" and "The Ginger Griffin," by Ann Bridge, will find her new novel, a story of a young English matron in mild revolt against a dominating husband and three uppish children, as sparkling, delicately colorful and gently exhilarating as a glass of champagne. Or perhaps one should compare it to a fine sherry, for it has a delicious flavor and a most enchanting bouquet.

Grace Kilmichael was only 38, yet the conventional English ménage had rather shoved her in the background. Her husband was an internationally known economist, her progeny clever, sharp witted youngsters who plainly thought her stupid. Although she was a gifted painter, exhibiting in a famous Paris salon, her family laughed at her art as an amusing hobby, nothing more. With gentleness and humility she had taken their razzing and their superiority for some time.

Now she revolted. She packed her paints and left, leaving no forwarding address. She did not know whether she would ever return. Off she went to Venice, and then on to Ragusa, and the Dalmatian coast, sketching as she moved, for she was under contract to a group of American papers.

She wanted to think it all out in a complete change of scene. The book concerns itself with Grace's adventures with young Nicholas, a would-be painter, whom she finds herself teaching and liking, and who tags along wherever she goes. There are beautiful descriptions of the Adriatic country, of the ancient, white towns, the Roman ruins, the gorgeous flowers that run riot everywhere in the countryside, the people, the customs. The chapters are themselves a canvas on which the author paints a vividly lovely picture, as artistic as any done by her heroine.

Very delicately handled is the inevitable romance that results between the young man and the older woman.

Very interesting is the gradual development of a philosophy, a vision of the truth that is to make Lady Kilmichael free. There is a universal appeal in the story, for countless women the world over have found themselves in similar situations, their children grown, no longer needing them or apparently caring for them, their husbands indifferent, life slipping away on a minor note, wistful and sad.

"Illyrian Spring" is really Illyrian interlude, filled with sunlight and beauty and with one woman's growing knowledge of how to meet middle age and make it sweet. Ann Bridge has done a delicious, humorous, charming, altogether human thing in this novel. It's sure to be popular. E. D. W.

BOOKS

The Book Week Has a Special Appeal to Men

Hemingway, Rockwell Kent Offer New Works.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Green Hills of Africa," by Ernest Hemingway. [Scribners.] Published yesterday.

"Salamina," by Rockwell Kent. [Harcourt-Brace.] Published on Thursday.

"Hands," by Charles G. Norris. [Farrar & Rinehart.] Published on Monday.

"The du Pont Dynasty," by John K. Winkler. [Reynal & Hitchcock.]

"FOR MEN," this week might almost be called in the book business, for at least two of the week's most important books are destined for male eyes especially. Women will read "Green Hills of Africa" and "Salamina" because they were written by Ernest Hemingway and Rockwell Kent (Rockwell Kent's because it has such pretty pictures in it, maybe), but few women will faint with joy over them, though some may pass out over Mr. Hemingway's occasional pleasantries.

"Green Hills of Africa" is a record of a hunting trip that Ernest Hemingway took with his wife, who is called throughout the book P. O. M. [poor old mama]. To hunters it may be thrilling beyond words for its subject matter. To nonhunters it sounds a little like a baseball reporter's story about a baseball game. It contains all the fancy words, the slang and the "language" (including the foul), and it's snappy reporting, but who ever cuts out the story of a baseball game and pastes it in a scrapbook?

And, except that it was written by Ernest Hemingway and to keep the records complete in book form, who would ever have cut "Green Hills of Africa" out of "Esquire" and put it into a book? In the din of "I woulds" that deafen me I must add that there is one thing about the book which shows Mr. Hemingway's genius as a novelist. He starts out in the beginning of the book to bag a kudu. He spends 250 pages not getting one, and then, just when the suspense has made an old man of the reader, Mr. Hemingway pops off a couple of kudus with kudos.

And there is a conversation between Mr. Hemingway and an Austrian with a broken down lorry which is illuminating, in which the author of "Farewell to Arms" says: "The Querschnitt was a German magazine I had written some rather obscene poems for, and published a long story in, years before I could sell anything in America," which may be news to some of his readers, and that "Writers should work alone. They should see each other only after their work is done and not too often then. Otherwise they become like writers in New York—all angleworms in a bottle, trying to derive knowledge and nourishment from their own contact and from the bottle," . . . and four or five pages of good straight from the shoulder talk about writing in general and his own in particular.

On page 55 Mr. Hemingway says, about the days he spent hunting: "I had no wish to share this life with any one who was not there, only to live it." To my simple way of thinking that wish has been fulfilled and he has NOT shared the life with any one! Not at all as he shared the life and thrill of bull fighting. No matter how little interest any one had in the subject matter, or even how repelled by it (as some ladies succeeded in seeming), most of "Death in the Afternoon" was, as sheer writing, incomparable. So much cannot be said concerning "Green Hills in Africa."

Rockwell Kent's Book Beautifully Illustrated.

Greenland, not green hills, lured Rockwell Kent to spend a winter painting and writing, and the result is "Salamina." It is another "N. by E.," a sort of supersketchbook of the flora and fauna (including the human flower-animals) of Eskimo land and sea. It has no special plan in its writing. Episodes take their unrelated places to unite eventually in a crazy quilt rather than a planned pattern.

Rockwell Kent found beauty in the land and its people, but he was not blinded to their uglinesses. Life utterly simple, in one room, with no superfluous "things"; human relationships without the intricacies of any emotions other than the most primitive ones, happiness without complications, were alluring; dirt, possessiveness, laziness (beyond the actual demands of hunger), occasional theft were not.

Rockwell Kent's full page drawings and the lovely little heading of each chapter make of the book one that gives the reader sensory pleasure beyond, I should say, the intellectual stimulation which the text provides. The book is, to this reader's mind, better illustrated than written.

It is named for his housekeeper, a beautiful Eskimo widow who ruled him with a strong hand.

Shirtsleeves to Shirtsleeves Is Theme of C. G. Norris.

And it is "Hands" that Charles G. Norris writes about in his latest one syllable titled novel. This title is a good one for his subject, for it is a shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves tale, beginning with a saw and ending with a saw.

The first of the three generations is a carpenter. His son becomes a contractor and builds himself a fortune as well as one of the show houses in Burlingame. And the grandson, destined for architecture, finds himself, after the late economic upheaval jokingly known as the depression, glad to get a saw into a piece of board.

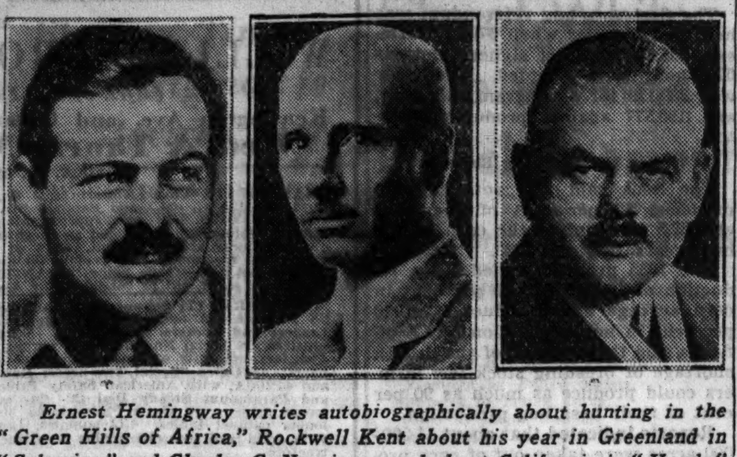
"Hands" isn't Mr. Norris' best novel, but it is a pretty good novel and one which, I should judge, men as well as women would like. The background, for one thing, is a man's background: San Francisco growing under your very eyes. The earthquake shattering a city and building a fortune for the hero . . . man's stuff. There are three books. The first one, about the carpenter, is rooted and alive. The second, about the contractor, is a great deal like many other tales of get rich quick boys, but still alive. The third, about the spoiled son, is dead on the vine. Maybe that sequence is an argument for shorter books. Even authors get tired of their own writing some of the time, and too many long books droop and die.

Papa Sure to Like "The Du Pont Dynasty."

Papa (according to his tastes) is liable to like any or all of those three books, but he is SURE to be completely intrigued with John K. Winkler's "The Du Pont Dynasty." It is the story not only of one of the greatest industrial powers of our day but of an almost feudal family, a tale that makes the average big guns of success story sound like pip-squeaks.

Mr. Winkler has written it with a very deft pen. The book itself is an example of how many sided the du Pont power is. It is bound in du Pont DX cloth, printed with ink containing du Pont ingredients and on paper manufactured with du Pont chemicals. The books were delivered to the publishers in trucks manufactured by General Motors, in which the du Pont family controls 40 per cent of the stock. You buying it for papa may well be wearing a dress with rayon in it (patent owned by the du Ponts). And papa may read it sitting in a chair upholstered in a du Pont fabric dyed with ingredients which form some of their 11,000 distinct products, among which is the refrigerant which helped congeal the ice in the drink that is soothing the excitement of reading.

Their Books Are Reviewed Today



Ernest Hemingway writes autobiographically about hunting in the "Green Hills of Africa," Rockwell Kent about his year in Greenland in "Salamina," and Charles G. Norris a novel about California in "Hands." The map is unusually well covered in these books, all published this week and reviewed today.

Mystery of the Week

BY MORTIMER QUICK

Two lively books have come from authors who are taking their first crack at mystery story writing.

"Smoke Screen," by Christopher Hale [Harcourt-Brace], from an unpromising start develops a packed excitement that makes it pretty hard to relinquish until its last secret has been extracted. It's all about a group of badly assorted people cut off from the world by raging forest fires. The colony is considerably diminished by a variety of sudden deaths before the fire is extinguished, and, whether or not you find the whole business plausible, I think you are bound to pronounce it entertaining.

The second is "Murder in Texas," by Ada E. Lingo [Houghton-Mifflin]. Gushers gush and revolvers shoot silently and a young society reporter and her boy friends scour the country in search of a murderer. It's not as hard boiled as it sets out to be, but it is crowned with excitement and keeps you guessing.

Two other neat stories are "Murder at the Piano" [Covici-Friedel], by George Bagby, and "Murder on the Aphrodite" [MacMillan], by Ruth Burr Sanborn. Both are first detective stories and both are highly entertaining, presenting interesting groups of people in a chatty and convincing way. They're the kind you read through at a sitting and their crimes are not committed with too many frills.

Francis Beeding presents in "The Norwich Victims" [Harper's] one of those stories of ingenious crime which are more or less transparent from the beginning, but which hold the attention as firmly as the most mysterious happenings. At the end there is an unsuspected twist which illumines the whole book. Mr. Beeding is a master in this genre. His name guarantees a sort of pleasant and most readable horror.

L. A. G. Strong's 'Seven Arms' Is Powerful Tale

Scottish Peninsula Setting for Story.

L. A. G. STRONG'S art as a novelist is like that of the sea in two moods. It is either quiet, shimmering, beautiful, or tremendous with the roar, the flux and flow of high tides and storm. "The Garden," "Sea Wall," and "Corporal Tune" are gentle, sensitive, exquisite stories.

"Dewer Rides," "Brothers," and the author's new book, "The Seven Arms" [Alfred A. Knopf], are powerful tales, weighted with deep seated, violent emotions. They are about people who live close to the elemental forces of nature and whose existence is bound up with the dark beauty, the mordant wit, the flaring, unreasoning passions of a primitive environment.

The locale of "The Seven Arms" is a Scottish peninsula connected with the mainland by such a narrow strip of land that it is almost an island. Although it is only 16 miles long and 7 miles wide it has a range of craggy hills, dense woods, a moor, two rivers, and seven winding arms of the sea that give the place its name. On this strip of land live the people of the story. None of them speak English. The time is a little over a hundred years ago.

Mr. Strong might well have called this book "Jeanie Ban," for it is the narrative of her life, from childhood to the grave. True, her twin sister, Ellen; her weakling brother, Willie; her uncle, Hugh McLean, and her husband, Ian McNeil, as well as the folk of Seven Arms all figure in the events, but they revolve about her, "white Jeanie."

She is like a wild, thorny rose growing in a cluster of heather, sweet, spicy, strong, courageous, independent. Her passionate devotion to her uncle compels her to the most astounding feat of her time. She steals away when he joins the Scottish forces in the Napoleonic wars, and actually succeeds in getting to the continent and in joining the army. She hangs on to the bitter end, enduring suffering, privation and the horrors of battle with the men, and finally returns to Seven Arms with her uncle, less ravaged than he.

The rest of the story concerns her difficulty in adjusting herself once more to the monotonous life of the community and to the thought that she no longer loves the man her uncle has become. The chapters of her weird romance with Ian, of her marriage and the tragedy that results are among the most powerful in the book.

There is no retarding of interest to the very end, where as an old woman Jeanie still dominates situations and people, her tongue as sharp and caustic as ever and her mind alert to foil the plans of her sister. The last scenes have a rather grisly humor, each sister disliking the other to the drawing of her last breath and trying to outwit her even into the grave.

"The Seven Arms" is a remarkable book, a piece of art. E. D. W.

John Oskison an Indian.

Bruce Kinney, director of Indian missions, writes to tell us that John Oskison, whose "Brothers Three" is one of the season's outstanding novels, is an Indian. Like the mother of the three brothers, his mother was a quarter breed Cherokee Indian.

–to those who join the Book-of-the-Month Club at this time . . . it costs nothing to belong and you do not have to take a book every month

WE suggest simply that you send the coupon below and get full information as to the many things the Club is now able to do for book-readers. For instance, do you know that as a member, you are not obliged to take the specific book-of-the-month chosen by the judges? You may buy it or not, as you please, after reading the judges' pre-publication report about it. Nor do you have to pay any fixed sum. You pay the regular retail price for such books as you decide to buy. What then is the advantage of joining?

There are many: first, book-dividends; for three years now, close to $1,000,000 worth of free books EACH YEAR have been distributed among club members. (This O'Neill volume was one of them). Second, without a penny of expense, through the reports of the judges you are kept completely informed about all the important new books, so that you can choose among them with discrimination, instead of having to rely upon advertising and hearsay. There are several other advantages, not readily measurable in money, that cannot be outlined here for lack of space. Surely, within the next year, the distinguished judges of the Club will choose as the book-of-the-month or recommend as alternates, at least a few books that you will be very anxious to read and which you will buy, anyway. Why not—by joining the Club—make sure you get these instead of missing them, which so often happens; get the really substantial advantages the Club affords (such as the book-dividends mentioned, if nothing else), and at the same time get a copy of NINE PLAYS by Eugene O'Neill, free.

ACCUSE FORMER BOXER OF MASS SLAYING OF SIX

Held for Murder After Woman's Story.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—A first degree murder charge was filed today against Leo Hall, 33, former boxer and dry dock worker, in connection with a mass murder mystery in which six persons were brutally slain at a gay house party on Erland's Point in March, 1934.

The murder warant, filed by Prosecutor R. W. Miller, charges Hall with killing Eugene A. Chenevert, a guest at the fatal party, by beating him to death with a hammer. It did not mention the slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flieder, hosts of the party; Mrs. Chenevert, Magnus Jordan, and Ezra [Fred] Bolcom. Some of the victims were shot, some beaten and one stabbed.

No charge had been filed against Mrs. Larry Poulos, 27, beer parlor waitress, whose signed confession implicated Hall in the slayings. She said she accompaniel the former boxer to the Flieder home "in quest of easy money" and that after robbing the six victims Hall killed them so they "couldn't talk."

The woman's husband, Larry Poulos, in jail here on a charge of robbery, said she talked about the killings in her sleep. She had been questioned at various times concerning the mass murder and as recently as two weeks ago denied knowledge of the slayings. But after her conscience began bothering her she conferred with Attorney Ralph A. Horr who suggested she go to police.

COST OF TURKEYS ON THANKSGIVING MAY TOP '34 MARK

Thanksgiving dinners may cost more this year than last, according to a survey on the probable holiday price of young turkeys completed yesterday by the United States department of agriculture. Heavy reductions in the number of turkeys over last year were reported in several of the leading turkey raising centers. The total 1935 crop is expected to be 13 per cent less than last year, the survey showed.

Farm prices of turkeys on Sept. 15 were 14.4 cents a pound as compared with 11.8 cents on the same date last year and 10.7 on Sept. 15, 1933. Indications are that heavier birds this year, due to increased feed supplies, may help to offset the reduction in numbers, the federal report said.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

Corn Picker's Song.

Oct. 25, 1935.

MORE fields were opened up this week on the Yorkville farm to let the corn picker, that almost human machine, go up and down the rows. I couldn't help but feel that as this machine stripped the ears from the stalks it was singing a song that sounded like "Farewell to Autumn." Now that the cattle have been moved to their winter feeding stations, the fields have been worked for their harvests of grain, hay crops and silage, and only the corn remains to be harvested, the autumn cycle of work is coming to an end. As soon as the corn has been taken care of there will be only the routine work of feeding stock, fall plowing and hauling fertilizer to the fields.

The boys used the 2 one-row corn pickers yesterday afternoon. The way these machines go down a row and get the ears of corn from the stalks is something worth watching, especially if you are not familiar with all the modern labor-saving devices that are used on modern farms.

* * *

How the little fall pigs have enjoyed the warm days that have made October such a delightful month! I was looking at the 70 little porkers on the Yorkville farm the other afternoon when Indian summer was in the air. Most of the pigs were stretched out in the sun registering utter contentment as they slept. The sows and their litters have A-shaped wooden shelters near one of the barns where the little pigs have plenty of room to play around.

* * *

When the boys at the Wheaton experimental farm want a lesson in high jumping they watch Fifi, the nanny goat. Fifi runs around in the pastures with all the sheep, but she can leave the sheep at almost any time just by taking a good run and jumping over the fence. She sails over the rails behind Rawlings' house as if she had wings.

The lambs staged a stampede the other day. This was rather surprising, because lambs are usually content to graze slowly through the pastures. When I got to the barns, after watching the wooly animals run all the way in from the field, I asked one of the boys what was going on to cause the race. He said that he had just put a fresh supply of salt in the trough near the barn. A few of the lambs found out about the salt and gathered round it. When the rest of the flock saw what was happening they started their gallop to the trough, and pretty soon almost all of them were eagerly milling around the salt "dessert."

* * *

The boys on the Wheaton farm have almost finished the job of moving the swan houses. The two old houses were joined together on a new foundation on the west side of the big pond, a new cement tank built in, a little carpenter work done, and now the big birds will have their "housewarming party" as soon as the weather makes them move away from the pond.

* * *

The 160 Hereford steers which are in the extreme southwest corner of the Yorkville farm don't have far to move to get a real change of diet. They have been grazing in a clover field, but when the boys started husking, the machinery was moved into the cornfield adjacent to the steers' clover field. As soon as the boys finished with that field they let the steers in to "clean up" the stalks which were left standing.

GRANDDAUGHTER OF MARK TWAIN CHRISTENS TRAIN

Hannibal, Mo., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Nina Gabrilowitsch, 22 year old granddaughter of Samuel Clemens, today christened the Burlington's new 122 mile an hour streamlined train the Mark Twain in a colorful ceremony here, the boyhood home of America's most noted humorist.

The christening took place before a group of notables from Chicago, New York, St. Louis, and other cities, including members of the board of directors of the Burlington. The train goes into service Sunday between St. Louis and Burlington, Ia.

Among those attending were Gen. Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President; Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state; Govs. Guy B. Park of Missouri and Clyde L. Herring of Iowa, Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann of St. Louis, mayors of some twenty cities and towns along the Mississippi, and railroad and business leaders. Gov. Horner telegraphed his regrets that he could not attend.

NEW AAA PLAN, GOAL OUTLINED BY ROOSEVELT

Features of His Permanent Program Told.

pro rata share of the country's total acreage in that crop after it has been decreed by the brain trusters on the basis of possible consumption. This system differs from the one now in use in that the present allocations are based on past crops rather than what the farmers think should be raised.

Mr. Roosevelt hinted at increased burocratic meddling in farm management under the guise of soil conservation. He indicated that in the future the farmer may have to agree to certain soil conservation work in order to get his AAA benefit check.

"The long time and more permanent adjustment program will provide positive incentive for soil conservation," Mr. Roosevelt said. "The benefit payments can be made on a basis that will encourage individual farmers to adopt sound farm management, crop rotation, and soil conservation methods."

"To simplify administration," the President announced, "the AAA will work toward the objective of one contract per farm."

This system will affect primarily farmers in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Iowa who have diversified production and come under the wheat, rye, corn-hog, and other programs.

Farmers Vote Today on '36 Corn-Hog Plan Referendum

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A heavy vote, possibly the closest of AAA history, was expected by farm administration officials tonight in tomorrow's national corn-hog referendum.

At 2,000 polls, open in 48 states from 8 a. m. until 10 p. m., farmers will tell the government whether they want an adjustment program for corn and hogs in 1936. Tonight all preparations for the balloting were completed; only nervousness over the outcome remained.

President Roosevelt's surprise statement projecting into the future a "simplified" and "flexible" AAA was regarded by some as supplying a big impetus to a favorable vote. Out in Chicago Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, urged corn-hog producers to roll up "a huge vote" for another program.

4,500,000 Grow Corn.

Census bureau statistics counted 4,500,000 farmers who produce some corn and some hogs. But farm officials said that probably 2,500,000 of these produce only a little corn for feed on their own farms or only enough hogs for home consumption and would not be concerned with adjustment contracts.

Records showed that 1,032,578 adjustment contracts have been signed by corn-hog farmers this year, with additional contracts yet to be received in Washington. The total last years was 1,155,294 contracts.

The first corn-hog referendum was held last October when 579,716 farmers—535,690 contract signers and 44,026 nonsigners — voted. The year was 389,139 for a program this year, and 190,577 against production control.

72 Per Cent of Hog Raisers.

The AAA said this voting group produced 72 per cent of the hogs and 52.5 per cent of the corn in the base years 1932 and 1933.

The 1935 program called for a reduction of from 10 to 30 per cent in corn acreage and a reduction of 10 per cent in hog production. AAA officials said that because of the drouth shortage of breeding stock few farmers could produce as much as 90 per cent of their base hog production.

Reports indicated that about 11,500,000 acres were taken out of corn production this year and that the acreage remaining for harvest was 93,000,000.

Miss McNair Is Engaged to G. T. Gerlach

Wedding Will Take Place in January.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ROMANTIC news of interest this morning is the announcement that Frank McNair of 1430 Lake Shore drive is making of the engagement of his younger daughter, Caroline, to Glendon T. Gerlach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gerlach.

Miss McNair and her fiancé will receive the best wishes of their friends at a party Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Sims [Betty McNair] are giving for their sister and future brother-in-law this afternoon.

Miss McNair is a graduate of the Pine Manor school and attended the University of Chicago. She was presented to society at a tea at home on Nov. 28, 1931, followed by a dinner-dance for her assistants and their escorts at the Blackstone hotel. She is a member of the Junior league and of the Service club.

Mr. Gerlach, whose parents live at 2440 Lake View avenue, was graduated from the Cornell College of Engineering in 1929.

The wedding will take place in January.

Miss Dorothy Dickinson Selects Wedding Party.

Nine attendants will precede Miss Dorothy Dickinson down the aile of St. Chrysostom's church the afternoon of Thursday, Nov. 14, when she will become the bride of William A. Little. Miss Dickinson's elder sister, Miss Alice May Dickinson, will be the maid of honor, and Mr. Little's sister, Mrs. Henry K. Gilbert [Marjorie Little], will come from her home in Orange, N. J., to be a bridesmaid.

Four other young women will come from out of town to attend as bridesmaids, all of whom were classmates of the bride-to-be at Smith college. They are Miss Ann Woolsey of St. Louis, Miss Margarethe Freeman of St. Paul, Miss Margaret Havemeyer of Holyoke, Mass., and Miss Virginia McGahey of Birmingham, Ala. The other bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Fortune, Miss Eleanor Kirkland, and Miss Betty Babson, all made their debuts here last winter. Miss Dickinson would have been a debutante this season if she were not being married.

Mr. Little will have his father, Alden H. Little, for his best man, and ushering will be Richard K. Juergens, Philip S. Dalton Jr., H. Hoyt Thompson, Theodore Tieken, Ralph F. Chatillon, John W. Brittingham, and Thurston Pettus and William L. Polk of St. Louis and Benjamin P. Gale of Cleveland. Stirling Dickinson, the bride's brother, and Gilbert Hall Robinson, who is the elder Miss Dickinson's fiance, also will usher.

Following the wedding, which will take place at 4:30 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Reynolds Dickinson will give a small reception in their Astor street home for their daughter and Mr. Little. The Dickinson home also will be the scene of the bridal dinner on the eve of the wedding.

Among the parties that have been planned for Miss Dickinson and Mr. Little are a cocktail party that Mr. Tieken, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Juergens and Ralph W. Applegate will give Saturday afternoon, Nov. 9, in Mr. Tieken's apartment at 223 East Delaware place; a buffet supper that Miss Fortune will give the following evening, and a dinner and hocky party—if there is a game—that Miss Kirkland will give on the Monday before the wedding. Miss Babson will entertain at dinner the following night, with dancing afterwards at the Empire room of the Palmer house.

Mrs. Rensselaer W. Cox has invited eight young people to a dinner and theater party tonight for both Miss Dickinsons and their fiancés. The Dickinson-Robinson wedding will take place early next year.

'Blossom Time,' the Original, Is Revived Here

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

"Blossom Time," the most famous operetta of this generation on the American stage, was revived in its original form last night in the Civic Opera House. To its audience, which was almost "capacity," it was "Das Dreimæderlhaus" [otherwise, "The Three Little Girl Family"], and its score, skilfully woven out of the immortal songs of Franz Schubert, contained no Broadway interpolations.

The production was like the other annual "gala" events that have been sponsored of recent years by the Germania Broadcast — equipped with opera scenery in the grand style, interpreted by able German-American professionals, and accompanied by a fine orchestra under the direction of Otto Vandsburger.

The Franz Schubert was Marek Windheim from the Metropolitan company, whose characterization of the bashful, heart broken Viennese composer was skilful, and whose singing was an improvement over the American "Blossom Time" style. The other Franz, Schubert's boon companion and successful rival in the love story, received spirited treatment from Max Bratt. Helen Freund, formerly of the Chicago Opera company, was the lyric heroine, somewhat uncertain of acting but lovely to hear. The merry old papa of the three maidens was Angelo Lippich, favorite comedian of the German-American stage.

To make the performance more Schubertian in its score than the original, there were certain interpolations of musical interest. The "Erlkoenig" was sung by Reinold Schmidt, and the "Ave Maria" was given in a new arrangement for soloist and chorus. There was also an extra incident of interpretive dancing by Alta Warsawska, representing the spirit of music, or love, or spring as imagined by the dreaming Franz, to an arrangement of his "Unfinished Symphony."

The "Rose-Marie" company at the Grand Opera House will give Noel Coward's "Bittersweet" this afternoon and also on next Wednesday afternoon. The Chicago engagement of this organization will end next Saturday night. The Children's Theater company of New York will make its début in Chicago today with morning and afternoon performances of "Alice in Wonderland" at the Studebaker theater.

Mary Garden to Get Talent for Opera Films

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

The contract just made between Mary Garden and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is the first step in an ambitious program of presenting grand opera in the movies. The contracting is for 1936. Miss Garden will spend January and February in Hollywood studying the mechanics of movie production. The remainder of the year is to be spent in getting and training talent for the movie operas and in advising on production.

Miss Garden is in Chicago now, conducting a master class in opera stage deportment and song interpretation in the Chicago Musical college.

"I have to search out talent, train it, and bring it back to Hollywood. With Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer I hope to establish a great school for training in Paris," said Miss Garden yesterday.

Opera in the movies, she believes, will provide opportunities for young artists.

In the motion picture production of the operas, especially the longer ones, cuts will be made, but the screen stories will be true to the original. It is expected that the oldest operas will be done in the languages in which they were written, with the possibility, however, that they later will be translated.

Also several African tribe chiefs.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

I don't believe that anything just on the order of "Sanders of the River" has been done before.

Here is strong, tasty, and original film fare. A fascinating blend of fiction, music, realism, and barbaric ritual.

The fiction, from a story by the late Edgar Wallace, is built about the facts of white rule in Africa. It dramatizes the prestige of the Caucasian and demonstrates the power of a single British officer to keep peace among tribes that have been, literally, at swords' points for years.

The realism is concerned with tribal customs, warfare, dances, etc.

The music consists of authentic African chants and some rousing new numbers specially written for the piece. "The Song of the Spear" is a swinging, tremendously effective thing. The authentic "Lion Song" is presented with a keen sense of dramatic values.

And HOW Paul Robeson can sing them!

He portrays a native chief devotedly loyal to the whites, beloved of his people, and a fond and faithful husband and father. The rôle is a perfect one for the great colored actor and he plays it with fire, rhythm, and understanding.

Leslie Banks as Sanders contributes a fine piece of acting to the archives of the movies. He's not powerful as to physique, but in his quiet way he suggests boxed dynamite. A stern, kindly, unfoolable man, Sanders, whose eagle eye strips the lies from a black man's tongue and whose voice is as the voice of a god to the natives. When Sanders speaks they come up standing, for never has he made a statement to them that was false nor uttered a prophecy that did not come to pass.

When Sanders [Sandi, they call him] is on the river there is LAW.

He departs for a furlough and men who would exploit the natives come with liquor and the news that "Sandi is dead!" Then there is no law—and bloodshed. He returns unexpectedly . . . Follow thrilling sequences that lead up to a galvanizing finale.

I was immensely impressed by the manner in which the aborigines relive their ancient ways; by the curt, telling "palavers" of Sanders with them; by the swing of the thing; by the beauty of the scenery and the authenticity of settings and action—because authenticity it is. This is vouched for by the coöperation of British authorities.

"Sanders of the River" is, undoubtedly, one of the year's best movies. To be figurative, it is real, not costume jewelry.

"'I have more need for food than for a hat. Are you in a trading mood?' he asked.

"'What shall we serve you today, sir?' was the boss's reply.

"The boss often conversed with customers, and from this man he drew facts of his past synoptically as follows: Left with a farm and a parental debt. Liquidation put him in possession of a good car and a checking account. He had used the car, seen great areas of the United States, and was enthusiastic about its actual resources. His cash balance became depleted, hastened by car 'upkeep and breakdowns.' Barter yielded a pocket watch and a few dollars. . . . The watch went to a pawn shop and eventually our guest arrived at our place, hat in hand.

"The meal disposed of, the young man commented, 'That was indeed a splendid feast.' The boss said 'Thank you. What are your plans now?' 'Well, from now on I intend to enjoy life,' he answered.

"The boss considered that for a few moments before he said, 'Tell me, how does a man who is flat broke enjoy life?'

"The young man had considered that question and his answer was ready. 'From day to day, from hour to hour,' he replied.

"The boss seemed transfigured; hope and courage illumined his features, and, as he handed the young man his hat, he said, 'I think God sent you here. I would invite you to call again, but this is my last day. Tomorrow I start enjoying life.' C. K. C.

Cheers Greet Miss Maxwell in 'La Boheme'

BY HAZEL MOORE.

When "La Bohême" is presented with the verve and spirit of the performance given by the San Carlo Opera company at the Auditorium last night it becomes an operatic high spot of the season.

There was an especial reason for high spirits in Margery Maxwell's appearance as guest artist in the rôle of Musetta. So good is Miss Maxwell's interpretation and singing of the vixenish Musetta that her name is definitly associated with it. She has sung it with the Ravinia Opera, the various Chicago Operas, and now with the Gallo company, and always with the greatest success.

She was greeted with a burst of applause and was deluged with flowers after Musetta's scene in the second act.

Gallo's famous married team, Bianca Saroya and Dimitri Onofrei, who have just celebrated their eleventh wedding anniversary, made one of their rare appearances in the same opera as Mimi and Rudolfo. Miss Saroya is generally cast with the dramatic tenors and Onofrei with the lyric. In "Bohême," however, they frequently sing together. For each of them "Bohême" with its lyric melodic line, requiring the true legato of bel canto, must be in the nature of relaxation to sing. Their singing was flawlessly easy and the two voices blended perfectly, making one anticipate their second joint appearance on Monday night in the "Jewels of the Madonna."

WEDDINGS

At 5:30 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church Miss Serena Ann Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fletcher Seymour of Schiller street and Ravinia, will become the bride of Androskoggan Clyde Schiltz, son of Mrs. Van Dusen Schiltz of Cincinnati. Just the immediate families and intimate friends will attend the ceremony.

At a ceremony this afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Eustice, 1138 Sheridan road, Evanston, Miss Isabella Eustice will become the bride of Richard Williamson Leach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Leach of Atlantic City. Senator Arthur Capper, Miss Eustice's uncle, will be a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. George Emil Burman of 4513 Altgeld street announce the marriage of their daughter, Lorraine M. Burman, to William George Cadman, son of Mrs. Mabel F. Cadman of 3434 Franklin boulevard, which will take place at 8 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran church.

Costumes Add Extra Thrills to Halloween Fun

Stories Have Both Creepy and Calm Kinds.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Fashions for fun! It's a big jump from watching the parade of sartorial elegance at St. Luke's fashion show to snooping around the Halloween fashions for the younger set. Here's the fashion news about such important buys! If your offspring have been screaming for something to wear, if your ideas have been above such concoctions, it isn't a bit too late for a shopping expedition with all the kids in tow.

One thing you'll not have to worry about—there is no need or time out for fitting. And before you know it, you will be having more fun than the children.

Here are some of the best costumes . . . a coal black outfit with a grand, ferocious looking, shiny white skeleton painted on the chest, an outfit fully guaranteed to make the hair on the back of your neck stand up straight for hours; a very realistic Mickey Mouse outfit; a leering pirate get together with a bloodcurdling mask with one eye hidden under a black and sinister patch; a clown costume of black and white with a row of black pompons down the center of the chest; a red devil outfit, complete with a face and the horns; all kinds of uniforms, and calm little numbers like a Tyrolean peasant boy's clothes. And the small girls can wear these as well as the clever ballet costumes, Kate Greenaway dresses, and many others too numerous to describe.

What did make a big impression were the unlimited numbers of false noses; the huge and very lifelike ears and the even larger false hands; the dozens of mustachios, from Desperate Desmond inky black ones to the rather spectacular affairs of red and blonde. There are plenty of masks, grand ugly ones and good scary ones.

And you can find the biggest collections of wigs any delighted youngster ever hoped to see.

Horns, noisemakers that would wake the dead and keep the living in misery also are ready for the big night.

Proceeds will go to the Russell Square station of Infant Welfare at 83d street and South Shore drive.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Smart kid gloves, the lether specially treated with glycerin and almond oil, guard the softness of hand skin and are good costume accessories too.

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Excuse us, Rhea Seeger, while we talk about gloves. These are fodder for a fashion column, of course, but they've got such a nice fat beauty angle we couldn't resist.

The oncoming of winter brought them to mind again and then, too, they're dotting the glove counters in greater profusion than at any time for a year.

The particular kind we have in mind are handsome; you can wear them for street or dress. But they're of kid specially treated to guard the softness of your hand skin. In that thar' soft kid there is an element that prevents chapping. You'll never know it's there save for the rather nice fragrance of almonds, but it seems that a wax base keeps the kindly glycerin and almond oil in the lether. Very good for hand skin, as you know.

These gloves are further remarkable because they're perspiration proof, which will endear them to thousands of women who find it impossible to keep their hands smartly gloved without wrecking the family bank. What perspiration will do to the average pair of kid gloves is nothing less than catastrophe. You won't have a bit of trouble with these, and as we've said, these are smartly styled.

They're not like the treatment gloves you wear when you go in for serious hand oiling; they're well made, well fitting and can be trotted out in competition with the most fashionable of black and white kids.

There's no reason why you shouldn't consider these particular gloves carefully if you want to take good care of your hands. They foster hand beauty and they're smart accessories, too.

We saw a note to the effect that they can be washed, but we haven't tested it out as yet. It seems that washing them in fine soap flakes and then using a bit of almond cream in the final rinsing water restores their beautifying qualities and renews the scent of almonds.

BORDER BREED

By William MacLeod Raine

SYNOPSIS.

Young Dan Clifford is driving a mule team carrying freight when he meets and befriends 17 year old Milly Sutherland. She and a young brother and sister are en route to Los Pinos, wild border town of the untamed west. Their father died on the way. In Los Pinos Dan, through Polly Doble, gets Milly work washing, and Ah Sin, a Chinaman, to help her. Jasper Ford, gambler and killer, forces his attentions on Milly. Dan publicly humiliates him. Ford challenges Dan to a duel. Dan can't shoot. Sam Jones of the rangers advises Dan to choose bowie knives as weapons and he'll circulate reports of his prowess at slashing. Ford backs out. Sam gives Dan shooting instructions. Dan wins another victory over a friend of Ford's named Le Page. Milly gets another job, teaching school. Dan and his teamsters, String Beans and Yorky, leave for the salt lakes. When they return to Los Pinos an attachment is put on the wagon loads of salt. It is claimed the salt lakes, long public property, have been taken up by one Zack Black, representing the gamblers. Dan dumps the salt in the muddy road. A Mexican, Chavez, suspected of intentions to take salt from the lakes, is arrested. Ford has him bailed out, but holds him hostage. Dan kidnaps Ford and forces him to order Chavez' release. Ford again challenges Dan. In the encounter Dan is shot, but by Le Page, who is killed by Ford. Dan's friends believe Ford arranged the shooting and killed Le Page to prevent his talking. Black, Lou Stone, and a group of gamblers are besieged at the salt lakes by Mexicans. Dan and Sam Jones act as peacemakers and accomplish their rescue, but they are forced to give up all claim to the salt deposits. Lou Stone breaks with Ford. Jonathan Edward Hart, a famous killer, who was sent to prison 16 years before because of Ford's testimony, arrives in Los Pinos. Dan meets Hart at Polly Doble's hotel. In prison Hart studied law and got religion. He tells Dan he is through killing. Dan is appointed sheriff. Milly and Dan have become engaged, but Milly tells Dan she will not marry a killer, as she fears Dan will become. Hart's reputation prevents him from getting clients. Drinking heavily one night he decides on a bold plan of action, holds up the Last Chance. Ford recognizes him and tells Dan, thinking Hart will kill Dan rather than be taken.

INSTALMENT XXXVI.

DAN MAKES AN ARREST.

Hart looked at Dan silently, frowning at him. The marshal's guess was that the man had had a bad night and a worse morning. Plainly he was suffering from the morning-after effects of heavy drinking. In his sunken eyes Dan read, or thought he did, some anguish of remorse. Spurred on by liquor he had yielded to a mad impulse. In doing so he had closed the doors of hope behind him.

"Where is your gun?" Hart asked abruptly.

"In my room," Dan replied. "What do I want with a gun?"

"Do you expect to arrest Jonathan Edward Hart without a gun?" the ex-convict inquired harshly.

"My idea is to arrest you with your own consent, Mr. Hart. I wouldn't have much luck doing it any other way. Ford swore to the warant only to put me in a hole. Of course he would like to get you in trouble. I'll admit that. But when it comes to a showdown I am not sure he will stand pat."

"He wants to put me behind the bars again," Hart said bitterly. "I'll never go to prison. I would far rather die."

"I don't know the facts about this holdup," Dan said in a quiet, matter of fact voice. "Since you haven't been proved guilty I assume your innocence. Would you object to my searching the room? If I find none of the money taken it would be a point in your favor."

Hart waved a hand. "Go ahead. Search all you like."

Dan was relieved. He had not expected so ready an acquiescence. His search uncovered no cache of gold and bills.

"Shall we eat dinner before we go?" Dan asked, taking it for granted that Hart had consented to the arrest.

"If you like. I am not going to be locked up. Understand that. If Ford stands to his story bail will have to be arranged for me."

"We can talk about that when the point comes up," Clifford said casually.

After dinner the two walked down town side by side. They turned in at the courthouse. In the sherif's office they found not only Watts but Judge Harper. Both of them were willing to oblige this tall, grim man with a record of killings equaled by no other desperado in Texas. Lou Stone was passing the courthouse and Sherif Watts called him into the conference.

"The bond has been fixed at a thousand dollars," Watt explained. "Judge Harper will go on it, but we need another surety. Do you know anybody who would sign?"

"I'll sign it," Stone said. "I don't suppose Mr. Hart intends to run away, and some day I might need a bondsman myself, even as good a citizen as I am." He smiled cynically at the marshal.

"Much obliged, gentlemen," Hart said quietly. "No, I don't aim to run away. I'm going to stay and make this cur Ford eat his oath."

"Legally of course," Dan said.

Hart assented. "O, of course. When he thinks it over he will see he was mistaken."

Ford kept to a private room at the Last Chance. He conferred with Black, Pete Johnson, and Tom Cooper. All he asked of them was to keep him informed of the movements of Hart. At the showdown he intended to play a lone hand. He meant, if it was possible, to do the job with a minimum of risk to himself.

Not until night had fallen did he emerge from seclusion. Word had just been brought to him by Cooper that his man was at the Tivoli drinking.

"Celebrating the hold-up of yore roulette game," Cooper had suggested maliciously.

"If things break right I'll celebrate, too, before the hour is up," Ford had answered with cold cruelty.

As on the previous occasion Ford took the back way. Just back of the Tivoli a squat, heavy set figure loomed out of the darkness. The man was the shifty eyed Pete Johnson.

"He's in there now," Johnson said. "Up at the bar having himself a good time. Just before I left he was claiming that liquor is the only stuff to drown yore sorrows in."

"Been drinking a lot, has he?"

"Quite some. Clifford was in a while ago and tried to get him to drift back home, but Hart told him he was old enough to look after himself."

"How many up at the bar with him?"

"I dunno. Three or four maybe. They come and go. He's treating liberal." Pete permitted himself a derisive grin. "Seems to have plenty of money today."

"At which end of the bar is he standing?"

"About eight or ten feet from the front door."

"Isn't keeping his eyes peeled for trouble, you think?"

"He wouldn't know trouble if he stumbled against it—not tonight."

"Drop in again and make sure he is still at the bar," Ford said.

Johnson disappeared through the swing doors and reappeared.

"Still there," he reported.

"Facing which way?"

"Elbow on the bar with his back to the door."

Ford nodded silently. His lips were a thin hard gash in his white face. The eyes of the man blazed with a cold, deadly light. He drew his revolver and held it under the left flap of his Prince Albert coat.

Hart was at the bar with two other men. In his hand was a dice box. He had just rolled the ivory cubes to the mahogany top of the bar.

"Four sixes to beat," he said, a little thickly.

They were the last words he ever spoke. The roar of a gun filled his ears as he sank to the floor. Ford had shot him through the back of his head.

Confusion filled the Tivoli. Men screamed, shouted, ran for cover.

Ford stepped forward and looked at the body lying inert and slack in front of him. A muscle in a sprawling leg twitched. The gambler flung two more bullets into the huddled figure.

He raised a hand for silence. "I call you all to witness he saw me in the looking glass and reached for a gun."

Two Exhibits Claim Interest of Art Lovers

A New Genius Discovered at One of Them.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Two exhibitions have just opened, both of which are worth seeing. With all the talk of the American scene going about the studios and the galleries, it is well that an exhibit of American landscapes of the "Hudson River" school [1865-1880] should be hung to open our eyes to the fact that America neither began nor ends in the gutter nor the tumble-down shack. The Anderson gallery, 536 South Michigan boulevard, is showing a group of paintings by early American painters, some of them much too little known.

The landscapes will ravish you with delight. They are charming in color, composition, definite design, and precise detail. Not that we hold a brief for precision or detail, but in these landscapes every stroke counts and with all the innumerable strokes there is not one too many.

All in all this is a unique and rare American show. No one should miss it.

The second exhibition of interest, in the Davis store 8th floor gallery, is that of five painters. It is remarkable for the discovery of a man with a sensitive and poetic genius. Erel Osborn shows several of the finest little paintings we have seen in town in months. They are French because they are sensitive and exquisite; they are American because they are vivid and have humor.

His "Sanseverian" is lovely, and the adjective becomes withered even while using it as you look at the slender green blade of cactus against its blue background.

L. G. Michaelson shows several interesting portrait heads and George Charney shows still life and marines. E. R. Smythe gives us several landscapes of good pattern, "Hill Town" in particular, and Loyal W. Tacker has studied Dale Nichols, Rockwell Kent, Bohrod, and Grant Wood with care.

that name, will be christened, the Rev. Theodore Hume of the New England Congregational church of Chicago officiating. Serving as godparents for the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Porter will be Mrs. John I. Shaw [Barbara King], Mr. Porter's first cousin, J. Rockefeller Prentice of Chicago, formerly of New York, Charles C. White of New York, and John L. King of Chicago.

The ceremony will take place at the home of the Porters in Lake Geneva. A silver christening bowl that has been in the Porter family for six generations will be used.

Word has gone out for the guests to wear overalls to the Halloween dance which Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Armstrong II. are giving this evening for her debutante sister, Miss Nancy Bastien, at the home of Miss Bastien's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kelly, at 35 Indian Hill road, Winnetka. Mrs. Armstrong will arrive from Ann Arbor, Mich., just in time for the dance, but it is not certain whether Mr. Armstrong's schedule at the University of Michigan law school will permit him to come, too.

There are several teas and cocktail parties over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Mauff will entertain at tea from 5 until 7 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at their residence, 10 East Schiller street. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jones [Virginia MacLeish] will entertain at cocktails at the same hours in their Winnetka home. Miss Sylvia West will be at home at 35 East Division street from 5 until 7 o'clock this afternoon for her guests to meet Mrs. Frank Van Voorhies.

Miss Veronese Beatty will entertain members of the Longmeadow Hunt in the Highland Park home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross J. Beatty, this afternoon following the hunt.

Geographic Society Luncheon Today.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. McCutcheon and Dr. John Hutter will speak at the annual post-vacation luncheon of the Geographic Society of Chicago at 12:30 o'clock today in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house. The McCutcheons will describe their 20,000 mile air journey to South America and thence to Germany, and Dr. Hutter will speak on his recent trip to Colombia.

Erskine Caldwell and Jack Kirkland, author and dramatizer, respectively, of "Tobacco Road," will be the especial guests at the Tavern's Tally-Ho breakfast tomorrow noon.

Anna Fitzu and Edna Kellogg will give the first of their Intimate Opera programs at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel under the auspices of the Chicago City Opera company.

GIRL'S JACKET DRESS.

Many smartly dressed school girls are wearing these good looking jacket frocks. They are specially designed for warmth, and mother will not find this a difficult costume to make. Small patch pockets on the bodice, a cute "little boy" collar, and a bow tie complete it. A warm, deep, red and brown plaid woolen, with a white pique collar and a red silk crêpe tie, will be lovely.

The pattern, No. 3391, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material, with ⅜ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

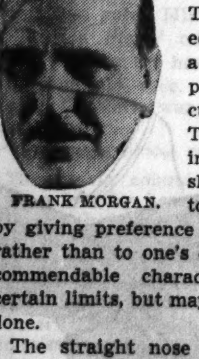
Inward Curved Nose Indicates Aim to Please

BY HUGO WESTERBERG.



FRANK MORGAN.

No human trait is wholly good or wholly bad, but maybe one or the other in reference to a particular situation. This is illustrated in the case of a nose, the bony part of which curves inward. The mental trait indicated by this shape is a desire to please others by giving preference to their wishes rather than to one's own. That is a commendable characteristic within certain limits, but may easily be overdone.

The straight nose of Frank Morgan, movie actor, indicates something half way between the tendency to dominate and the inclination to submit to the will of others. It shows a preference for independence, to work alone without having the trouble of supervising others or the inconvenience of being under command. This condition is one often found beneficial in the achievements of experts and professionals. The narrowness of his nose disposes toward interest in ideas rather than people, and the pointedness of it signifies the critical attitude of a research man or inventor.

BY MARY MEADE.

"Can you tell me how to cook liver so that it will be tender?" writes a Chicago reader.

Cooking liver is much like cooking any tender cut of meat. It may be sautéed quickly in a little hot fat, if you like. It may be broiled. And, for the sake of variety, liver may be braised or cooked slowly with the addition of some sort of sauce. In the first two methods the important thing to watch is that the liver is not overcooked. Tender brownness is the aim, and protracted cooking is likely to advance it from that state to the toughness of shoe lether.

Next on the roster, Mrs. T. R. of Rochester, Minn., asks some suggestions for combination mixed grills of meat and vegetables. We're adding a few fruits to the list, as well, for the sake of perking both the color and flavor combinations. Perhaps a few of these suggestions will please the R. family.

1. Ground lamb patties, bacon, and pear halves [the latter spread with a little mayonnaise before broiling].
2. Lamb kidneys, halved tomatoes with a cheese topping, bacon, fresh mushroom caps.
3. Fresh pork sausages, apple slices, glazed carrots.
4. Ground beef patties, peach halves, onion cups filled with whole kernel corn.
5. Beef tenderloin, mushroom caps, apricot halves [sprinkled with buttered crumbs] and squash puffs.
6. Ham slice, stuffed sweet potatoes [previously baked and refilled with crisp bacon and nut meats added to the whipped filling], and pineapple slices topped with onion rings.

"Is there anything I can put into fudge to keep it from curdling?" writes Miss A. B. of Winnetka.

Not adding other ingredients, but more thoroughly blending those you already have, is the answer to this common problem. After you place your ingredients in the pan stir them gently until the sugar is well dissolved and the chocolate completely blended. Otherwise, the acid of the chocolate sometimes will curdle the milk.

According to CULBERTSON

CONCENTRATED BRIDGE TALENT

In most lists of master players New Yorkers predominate. Why is this? Are the New York players themselves overcome with a sense of their own importance, so that they are blind to the skill of players from other cities? Or is the number of first rank players in New York City actually greater than it should be in proportion to the comparative populations?

In my opinion the standard of play in New York City is immeasurably higher than elsewhere. Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, and other important centers in the east and on the Pacific coast have their allotment of expert players, but the important national tournaments have been dominated by New Yorkers. There is a sound reason why this is so. It arises from an inevitable "vicious circle."

Any one, to be a great player, must combine natural ability at logical analysis with the practice which comes from constant competition with superior players. When bridge first became popular there naturally were more good players in New York than elsewhere, because there were more people in New York. Students of the game in New York had the opportunity to play with and against these good players because there were enough experts to go around. Naturally, talented young players had a better chance to increase their knowledge of the game. Even those who cannot play regularly at the clubs with ranking players have constant chances to oppose them in open duplicate games, and if they are alert their game cannot fail to improve. And the more good players are created by association with the present crop of experts, the greater will be the opportunities of all up-and-coming but inexperienced players.

Nevertheless, the western cities are coming into their own. The names of their players are being seen more and more inscribed on championship trophies. The present Grand National plan for championship tournaments will make it possible for more and more people to attend the important tournaments, and the standard of play will improve throughout the country.

Light Doubles.

Far too little doubling for penalties takes place in the average bridge game. When a penalty double is unlikely to be redoubled, and when the gain to the opponents, if they make their contract, cannot be very large, the sketchiest sort of penalty double sometimes pays big dividends.

The bidding (both sides vulnerable):

South	West	North	East
1♣	1♠	2♦	Pass
2NT	Pass	3NT	Dbl. (Final bid)

Opening lead, ♠ 5 by West.

East's double was based upon his partner's vulnerable overcall, which shows a fairly strong suit. East was prepared for a spade opening lead, and knew that his queen would help to establish the suit quickly. East also knew that South could not make his nine tricks by running a long suit, for he had South's suit (clubs) and North's suit (diamonds) securely stopped. If either opponent had a long heart suit he probably would have bid it.

The double was most successful. South could have held the set to one trick had he guessed that West could be finessed for both heart honors, but instead he attacked the club suit. After winning the queen of spades with the ace on the first trick, South played two rounds of clubs. Finding out about the bad break, he tried a diamond finesse, which East won. West then took five spade tricks and the ace of hearts, and three no trump was defeated 800 points.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Your partner deals and bids one spade. The next player passes. What should you bid, holding ♠ 7 5 4 3, ♥ Q 7 5 2, ♦ 8 7 6 5, ♣ 9?

Answer: You should bid two spades. Even if partner's hand is a minimum, this contract should be safe, for you can use the small trumps to ruff clubs and add tricks to the ones he can win. If partner's hand is very strong, you have kept the bidding open and given him a chance to bid four spades.

Annual Concert

MISS LYNN.

The Chicago Mandolin orchestra will present its tenth annual concert and ball at the Logan Square Masonic temple, 2453 North Kedzie boulevard, tomorrow, the concert starting at 4:30 o'clock. Don't Let Child Make Habit of Disputing You

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"I try to be free and frank with my children—I don't want to dominate them. But lately they have gotten into the habit of questioning everything I tell them to do, expecting explanations, and arguing with me endlessly."

This sort of thing is not good for anybody—either the children or the mother.

After all, we must stand to our children for strength, and, at least, a measure of superiority in wisdom and experience. They must be able to look up to us to a reasonable degree. They must be able to have faith in our decisions, and in our general direction of their lives. On their ability to do so depends some of that sense of security we have so often talked about.

It is necessary for parents to have a pretty clear idea of what they're about—to get the conviction that a certain course is right, and then go ahead. Certainly this should be true as far as everyday matters are concerned.

A reasonable amount of explanation is right and intelligent. But the greater proportion of the things children have to do should be done without argument and questioning.

To defend each request you make, to "back and fill," to reverse yourself frequently tends to chaos and insecurity in the child's world.

Vacillation is confusing. If you don't know just what you want to do about both important and unimportant matters, a child's world will lack direction.

Inconsistency also takes away the feeling of security and puts confusion in its stead.

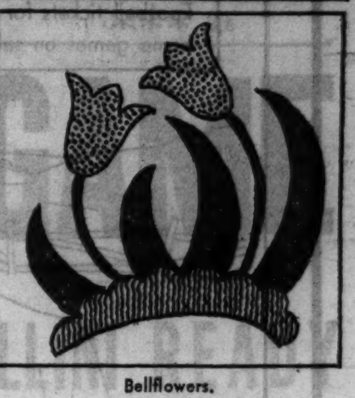
Amateurs in the Quilting Realm Enjoy This Block



Bellflowers.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Almost every flower in the world has been portrayed in one way or another, and "bellflower" is no exception. As a quilt pattern this simple applique design is a favorite among amateur quilt makers who are timidly attempting their first applique coverlet because it is as lovely as it is easy to make. A suggested block arrangement accompanies the original pattern.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

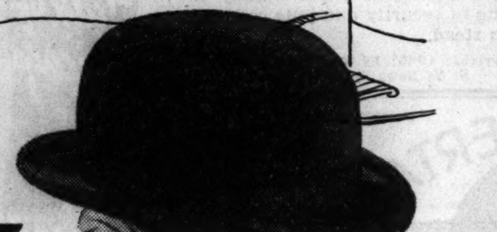
AS ALIKE AS TWO PEAS—

The Carolina Homespun of the Hand-Looms—And the Carolina Homespun of Today

$34.50

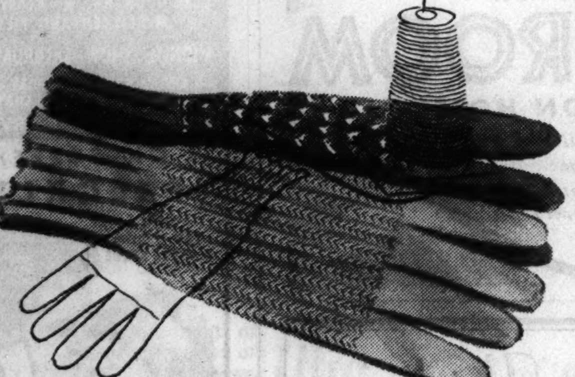
All the stamina and ruggedness that the handlooms of the mountaineers wove into the first homespun are qualities of which today's homespun can also boast. This Carolina homespun woven especially for us is second to no fabric in wearing ability. At the same time it has a "polish" that many imported suitings might well envy. A "polish" that is attributed to its colorings and patterns as well as its famous weave.

Tailored in Single and Double Breasted Business and Sports Suits



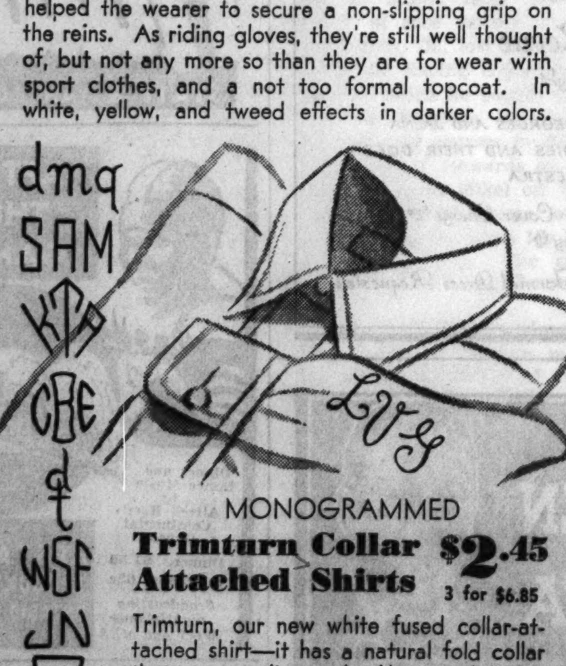
$5

The Flight is one of those bowlers that possesses the rare quality of conveying the idea that you'd sunk a decent sum of money into it. It is an exceptional hat at its price. Light in weight, flexible, extremely easy to wear, and capable, because of its flatter crown and modified roll brim, of contributing a lot to your appearance.



$1 Pair

String knit gloves—at a price that for the first time overshadows the importance of their sporting background. They are an English idea born to ride to hounds. Worn on rainy days, they helped the wearer to secure a non-slipping grip on the reins. As riding gloves, they're still well thought of, but not any more so than they are for wear with sport clothes, and a not too formal topcoat. In white, yellow, and tweed effects in darker colors.



MONOGRAMMED

Trimturn Collar Attached Shirts $2.45
3 for $6.85

Trimturn, our new white fused collar-attached shirt—it has a natural fold collar that cannot distort, buckle or wilt. Because of the free-folding feature TRIMTURN collars can be ironed flat and turned when dry in a natural fold. Monogramming in black or colors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 25.—Minnesota's burly football team, never weak and always interesting, tomorrow will find out about its chances of sharing a second straight national championship. Northwestern, already defeated twice, is so highly regarded in this neighborhood that Gopher followers say if their team is strong enough to survive tomorrow's battle, it is strong enough to whip anyone else on its schedule.

When Minnesota says it fears Northwestern, it is not talking idly. No conference opponent has caused the Gophers more distress in recent years. Minnesota has won only one of its last four skirmishes with the Purple. There was no game last year, but in 1933, the teams played a scoreless tie. Minnesota won, 7 to 0, in 1932, but the Evanston boys won the 1930 and 1931 games by top heavy margins.

Gophers Have Edge.

Minnesota has the edge today in the betting odds but, as far as the alumni are concerned, the margin is as thin as a miser's pants. The old grads, by the way, are storming into Minneapolis by the thousands for this is homecoming at their alma mater.

Judged by past performances, however, there is little reason to rate this year's Northwestern team on a par with Minnesota's. On paper, the Gophers have everything. Their lineup is studded with stars, despite heavy losses by graduation and conference ineligibility rulings last spring. Minnesota has a mighty rush line and high stepping, fast traveling backs. It has weight and power and speed and experience. There is only one note in the giant symphony which is a little awry. That is the right half back post, where Capt. Glenn Seidel performed very capably until injured last Saturday.

Bierman Switches to Rennix.

Coach Bernie Bierman early this week shifted Bud Wilkinson, a guard, to Seidel's position. The change didn't suit him, so he gave Bill Matheny a chance. Yesterday and today, however, Bierman used George Rennix and it is likely Rennix will start against the Wildcats.

From the Northwestern point of view, tomorrow's game is a matter of potentialities and possibilities. Even Lynn Waldorf and his assistants aren't sure of the capabilities of their charges. They fumbled away their opportunities to beat Purdue and took a sound whipping from Ohio State, although the Purple leaders tell you the score was no index to the strength of the two clubs. The only thing you can be sure about this Northwestern team as a whole is that it is learning fast, that its spirit is high and that it loves to play football.

Expect 55,000 Crowd.

Facing Ohio State and Minnesota on successive Saturdays is as difficult an assignment as there is in college football, but the Wildcats are far from hopeless. They are trying to get acclimated to new coaches and a newer way of doing business, but all the same, they will be no willing sacrifice.

The largest crowd of the season in Minneapolis will see the game. About 55,000 will attend.

Northwestern came through the Ohio game without injury, but Minnesota was not so fortunate against Tulane. Seidel probably is the only Gopher who will be unable to play tomorrow, but there are two others, Ed Widseth, right tackle, and Wilkinson, left guard, whose ability is somewhat impaired. Widseth was limping slightly in signal drill this afternoon from a foot injury and Wilkinson spent most of the workout limbering up a charlie horse.

Waldorf Is Busy.

Sheldon Beise, who, according to Capt. Seidel, hasn't made a mistake all season, is expected to be Minnesota's leading ground gainer. He plays full back. George Roscoe will we at left half, Rennix at right half, and Babe Le Voir at quarter back. Northwestern has five topnotch backs ready for service. They are Don Heap, Wally Cruice, Bob Swisher, Steve Toth, and Hugh Duvall.

Waldorf probably was the busiest fellow in Minneapolis today. He made two addresses and conducted a final practice.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 25.—Notre Dame's powerful varsity team, flanked by two other talented elevens, will stroll into the Municipal stadium here tomorrow looking for an enemy who in recent years had been somewhat of a nuisance. The enemy will be there all right. It will be none other than the Navy's budding admirals, who in 1933 and again in 1934 slipped losers' tickets to the Irish.

In 1933 on the same turf that will give the gridders footing tomorrow, the Navy came up with a surprise shelling that defeated a supposedly better Notre Dame team, 7 to 0. Last fall at Cleveland, the Middies did it again, this time 10 to 6. In each instance the Irish took the Sailors' strength too lightly. But there will be none of that nonchalance on the morrow. The Irish, goaded by the words of Coach Elmer Layden, have definitly decided the nuisance must be eliminated and the prestige of midwest football upheld.

Irish Will Open Up.

Notre Dame, in its effort to smooth the sting of two unexpected beatings, is going to reveal a little of everything. The Irish can and will pass. They'll show some backs who can slip around ends or through the tackles. They won't neglect the plunging game. Neither will they be shown up in the punting art. And as for defense, they have an excellent idea of what to expect from the future sea prowlers. The Navy, on its games to date, isn't especially dangerous at any one method of attack, but bears watching at all times.

Relief for Mike.

Coach Layden, so far as he knew this evening after working out in the ball park over at Washington, will start off tomorrow with the same lineup employed last Saturday against Pitt. This means Mike Layden, youthful brother of the big boss, will not be at right half when the argument gets under way. Brother Mike is recovering from a knee injury received in the Kansas game and aggravated by his appearance against Carnegie Tech. But he'll be in there at one time or another if the Navy is as tough as Coach Layden professes to believe.

Player Layden is one of Notre Dame's good passers and the best among its receivers. but his absence doesn't mean the aerial game will have to be abandoned. A few of the other boys are pretty good at it. Bill Shakespeare, for instance, can operate on either the throwing or receiving end. Andy Pilney is a fairly accurate tosser. And in a pinch or just as a matter of diversification, Victor Wojcihovski, who subs for Mike Layden, can throw. He's made only one heave this season, but it was a success. It went to Shakespeare and scored the first touchdown against Wisconsin two weeks ago.

They Expect 60,000.

The fellow the Irish will have to watch, and they've been cautioned about him, is Jack Schmidt, the Navy's rip snorting full back. Schmidt, slashing through the line last Saturday, did most of the work in Navy's 43 yard touchdown march against Yale. Once in that drive he slipped through guard for 20 yards. But getting through Notre Dame's line and through Yale's undoubtedly are two different problems. The answer will be furnished tomorrow.

The Navy has been fed all week on psychology. A statue of John Paul Jones was rolled into the Middies' dressing quarters. Beneath the bit of art was a sign setting forth, "We have just begun to fight," or whatever it was Jones said. In another part of the dressing room hangs a square piece of tin with a black seven painted thereon. It's the same piece of tin suspended on the scoreboard at the stadium two years ago when the Middies achieved their touchdown victory over the Irish. The entire Middie corps, the band, and even the famous Navy goat will be brought over from Annapolis for the contest, which may draw 60,000 spectators.

Illinois Race Board Votes to Bar J. D. Mikel

BY FRENCH LANE.

Jay D. Mikel, farm owner and breeder of race horses from near Bloomington, Ill., lost his fight with the Illinois Racing commission yesterday in which he sought to be allowed the privilege of racing his horses on race courses in this state.

The board of stewards at Lincoln Fields had ruled Mikel off the turf at Lincoln Fields' course last Aug. 15 for running the horse My Bane in a 2 year old race. The stewards alleged the horse was a 3 year old at the time.

Decision Is Not Unanimous.

The racing commission members, after a lengthy hearing of evidence, returned their final ruling yesterday. For the first time since the commission assumed control of all tracks in the state, the members made this ruling without a unanimous vote.

Peter B. Carey, chairman of the commission, who presided at all sessions of the hearing, voted to ignore the ruling of the Lincoln Fields stewards and restore Mikel's license to race here. Leo Spitz and Walter Peacock, the two members of the commission, voted to uphold the ruling of the race track stewards.

While he stands suspended in Illinois, Mikel is not permitted to race his horses over any other recognized race course in America.

Mikel to Sue Stewards.

Attorney Charles A. Michal, who represented Mikel during the hearing, announced soon after the final ruling had been made public that he would start suit against the Lincoln Fields stewards. "We will ask for

MAROONS FACE BADGERS IN FIGHT TO LEAVE CELLAR

Each Team Sees Brightest Victory Chance Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

This is Get Out of the Cellar day on the Midway. It is possible for Chicago to get out of the Big Ten cellar this afternoon by defeating Wisconsin, and vice versa. Both can't get out of the rathskeller, of course, but both can stay in—if they repeat the futility of their last encounter, which ended nothing to nothing.

Victory today in the 38th football meeting of the Maroons and the Badgers may mean permanent escape from the Big Ten's lowest berth for either team. The Maroons will have Ohio State, Indiana, and Illinois remaining on their schedule, and may escape a zero rating in their contest with the Hoosiers. After today the Badgers must gain their victory or victories, if any, from Purdue, Northwestern, or Minnesota. It is apparent from both angles that today seems to be the day for both Maroons and Badgers.

Berwanger May Get Loose.

The Maroons, even though a Chicago team hasn't had the pleasure of licking a Madison outfit since 1927, are rather certain that the Badgers won't be able to smother their great star and captain, Jay Berwanger, as Purdue did last Saturday.

Scouts report the Badgers are much slower than the Boilermakers, and, if this appraisal proves to be true, Berwanger is expected to put on one of his solo circuses. The Badger hope, it is said, rests on increased efficiency of Wisconsin's line and the ability of Tommy Tommerson and John Wilson to function as they did so brilliantly in the Badgers' belated two touchdown attack against the Wolverines at Madison last week. Wilson, whose light had been hidden under a bushel until last week, has been nominated as a starter.

Slim Crowd of Badger Rooters.

In years gone by Wisconsin games were the occasion for much social activity on the Midway. There is to be some heel kicking today and this evening, but the Wisconsin end will be handled by local Wisconsinites. Fewer than 600 tickets for the game have been sold in Madison. Obviously, the Maroon enthusiasts easily will outholler the Badger following, if that will help any in the cellar battle.

Wisconsin followers who are left so cold apparently place little stock in the recent history of Chicago-Wisconsin competition. The Maroons, led by Ken Rouse, beat the Badgers, 12 to 0, in 1927. In five games thereafter the Badgers scored 111 points to 20 for the Maroons.

The 0 to 0 game in 1933 was directed by the two coaches who will be in charge this afternoon, Clark Shaughnessy of the Maroons and Doc Spears of the Badgers. The teams did not play last year, the first interruption since 1907, excepting 1918, when the war upset things generally.

They'll Shoot the Works.

All games these days are being hailed in advance as prospective air battles, but here is one that really is a certainty to be an open affair. Last week the Badgers attempted thirty-three passes and completed sixteen for 281 yards. Despite the manner in which Purdue hurried him, Berwanger tried twenty-four passes and completed eight, for gains totaling 97 yards.

MICHIGAN FACES COLUMBIA; FIRST NEW YORK VISIT

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Michigan will make its first football appearance in New York tomorrow afternoon when it meets Columbia at Baker field. A capacity crowd of 35,000, a large part of which will be made up of Wolverine supporters, is expected to attend.

It will be the first game Columbia has played with a Western conference eleven since Ohio State was met in 1926. Michigan, victorious over Indiana and Wisconsin, is waging a successful battle to regain its former status as a midwest football power following its poor season of 1934.

On the basis of its record and apparent physical superiority, the Ann Arbor team is regarded as the favorite although Coach Lou Little believes Columbia will be a greatly improved team over its performance of a week ago against Penn.

Columbia will start four new men. They are Andy Checkovich, center; Floyd Klingensmith, tackle; Art Waldon, end, and John McMahon, full back. The Lions have come along fast during the last week.

Three hundred Michigan alumni from the east held a reunion dinner tonight at the Hotel Pennsylvania at which Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics, and Coach Harry Kipke were guests of honor. Probable lineup:

HELEN JACOBS SAILS TO VISIT ENGLAND, SWEDEN

QUEBEC, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Helen Hull Jacobs, four times winner of the American tennis championship, sailed for England today on the liner Empress of Britain.

She plans to spend the winter in England, engaging in some literary work, and she may visit Sweden. She spent much of last winter in London, living at the American embassy as the guest of Henrietta Bingham, daughter of Ambassador Robert W. Bingham.

The tennis star said she believed she had a good chance of winning at Wimbledon next year and "hopes for the best" when the time arrives to defend the American title next September.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 25.—Tomorrow will be homecoming day for old Purdue down here on the banks of the Wabash, and Ma Nature, the greatest scene designer of them all, allowed today she will do her best to make the production a success from an artistic standpoint.

Now it's up to the Boilermaker football team to complete the technical side of the show for more than 15,000 alumni who are either on the premises or en route here to see the Boilermakers battle their engineering brethren from Carnegie Tech for the fourth time.

That Hour Will Tell Tale.

What of those 60 minutes of football on the green carpet of Ross-Ade stadium tomorrow afternoon? The old grads are considerably interested in what that hour will bring, but not half so much as Noble Kizer, head foreman of the Boilermakers.

Mr. Kizer has plenty of cause to be concerned over the outcome of tomorrow's battle. As the second oldest coach in the Western conference in point of service Noble has piled up the best record in the league over the six year period in which he has been head coach. During that time his teams have won 25, lost five, and tied 2, for an average of .833.

There's a batting average to be proud of, and Mr. Kizer naturally wants to continue it this year, but neither he nor his public here saw any too much hope to do so when he lost the famed touchdown twins, Duane Purvis and Jim Carter, by graduation. So he simply went forth on a grab bag basis to see what he could find.

Picks Tough Card for Boys.

Judging by what he already has pulled out of the sack, his football club may prove to be the surprise of the Big Ten season, despite a tortuous schedule which still numbers Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Indiana.

In his first game, against Northwestern, Kizer reached in and extracted two young men who give promise of being another Purvis-Carter duo. One is Cecil Isbell, Houston, Tex., and the other Tom McGannon from down Evansville way. Isbell is apt at every department of the game, while McGannon's forte is handling punts.

Stalcup Does the Thinking.

McGannon is a speedy elusive runner of the Carter school and proved it by his fifty-seven yard run for the only score of the Northwestern game. Working with these boys are Fred Stalcup at quarter and John Drake at full back. The latter announced himself by his work last year. Stalcup does little ball carrying under the Notre Dame system which calls upon the quarter back to be the team strategist.

On the basis of their work to date, this would constitute a neat back field for any coach, but Kizer wasn't through, for he dug down and came up with a complete second back field which nearly matches the first. This includes Wayne Gift at quarter, Lowell Decker at full, and Tony Wright and Leon Dailey at the halves.

Wright, who hails from Spencer, was the hero of the Fordham game, in which neither Isbell nor Drake, due to injuries, was used.

Back fields are essential to the mechanism of every football team, but they can't click without seven good linemen before them. The Purdue forward wall has been somewhat overlooked, but caliber is attested by the fact that it is one of the few top ranking lines of the country which has not been scored on yet.

Carnegie Is Real Opponent.

Kizer is hoping for still another pleasant surprise or two out of his grab bag tomorrow, for he realizes he'll need it against Carnegie Tech, coached by that wily young alumnus of the Pittsburgh school, Howard Harpster.

Tech has lost its last two games, but not until its strong defense had restrained Notre Dame and Temple from becoming too frisky. The Carnegie squad landed at Logansport, Ind., today and worked out there this afternoon. Harpster and his party of 46 players and coaches will arrive by train shortly after noon tomorrow.

Purdue and Carnegie, two of the nation's greatest technical institutions, have met three times before, with the Boilermakers taking every decision.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 25.—Iowa's undefeated football team, captained by Dick Crayne, one of the Big Ten's most versatile players, rested tonight at nearby Danville, Ill. At Champaign Country club the fighting Illini, conquerors of Southern California, bivouacked while they made final survey of their battle plans for tomorrow's inaugural of the Western conference season at Illinois Memorial stadium.

Two weeks of drill since Iowa defeated Colgate and Illinois whipped the Trojans have prepared invader and defender for the test tomorrow from which may come one of the challengers for the 1935 Big Ten championship. Twenty-five thousand, a conservative estimate, according to C. E. Bowen, director of ticket sales, will assemble in the Dad's day throng for the game.

Excellent Weather Forecast.

Forecast of excellent weather, earnestly desired by both elevens as necessary for speedy backs and air attacks, seemed certain to bring a last minute rush which would increase the crowd to near record proportions.

Tomorrow's winner may place high in the Big Ten race and share in the title. Iowa meets Indiana, Minnesota, Purdue, and Northwestern in subsequent engagements. Illinois will face Northwestern, Michigan, Ohio State, and Chicago.

"If Illinois does not win tomorrow," Coach Zuppke said tonight, "it will not be because the team is not ready for the game." His sentiment is echoed by Coach Ossie Solem of Iowa.

Tops in Big Ten.

Pre-season records and conference possibilities make this game tomorrow tops in the Big Ten. It will be modern football, open play, with a maximum of passes by Illinois and sweeping runs and laterals by Iowa.

Because of the open style warfare indicated, tackling and blocking, those twin fundamentals of football, will be all important. Oze Simmons, fastest Iowa runner and most dangerous in open field, cannot have opportunity to perform heriocally unless his mates clear a path.

Illinois, with its reverses, forward, and lateral passes, will be dangerous. Illinois' passes undoubtedly will score on Iowa unless the Hawkeye line hurries the passer. Colgate found, after its touchdown, that the Hawkeyes swarmed through. Illinois will find the same group of men racing in and only effective blocking will give the Illinois' passers opportunity to toss to speeding receivers.

Teams Equal in Kicking.

In kicking, the teams are nearly equal. Crayne is dependable and consistent. Illinois' Kenneth Nelson and Les Lindberg are excellent. Lindberg probably is the longest kicker of the trio.

If Lindberg starts the game, Nelson probably will be replaced at end by Bill Bennis. Zuppke cannot afford to risk injury to both of his kickers at the same time. If Lindberg doesn't start, Nelson will be at end and either Kendall Bradley or Bob Grieve will hold the right half back position.

Iowa has the harder driving attack between defensive tackles. Here Bush Lamb and Capt. Crayne will carry the burden of offense. Crayne has almost recovered from a foot injury, but lack of practice may affect his performance.

So much for possibilities. The teams are approximately equal. Illinois may break up the game with one well executed intricate play, of which it has many. Simmons may race through the Illini for a touchdown. His speed always is a threat.

Each eleven figures to score. Such an item as the point after touchdown may turn the tide.

Whippets Attack Boy; Doctors Take 135 Stitches

Malden, Mass., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Robert Nelson, 5 years old, today was attacked by six racing dogs which were being exercised. The boy was rushed to the Maplewood hospital, where 135 stitches were required to close his wounds.

HELEN MAYER ACCEPTS NAZI OLYMPIC BID

Brundage Statement Gets Cheer in Germany.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Germany, Oct. 25.—The second important blow was struck today at the anti-Nazi groups opposed to America's participation in the 1936 Olympic games when Helen Mayer, star German-Jewish woman fencer, announced she would compete for Germany in the games next summer in Berlin.

The famous fencer's acceptance of Germany's invitation followed the statement of Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, that the United States positively would participate in the games. Dr. Theodor Lewald, president of the German Olympic committee, proudly displayed a cablegram from Miss Mayer, who is in California. It read: "Sickness delayed answering you and Tschammer [Hans von Tschammer-Osten, German sports commissioner]. Acceptance left yesterday. Love."

Lewald Flays Mahoney.

Dr. Lewald, himself a German-Jew, also charged Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the American Amateur Athletic union, with "dragging politics into the Olympic arena." Mahoney is one of the leaders in the fight against sending American athletes to Germany.

While German authorities denounced Mahoney's attack upon the Nazi government, Brundage's statement drew praise from Berlin newspapers.

"Here speaks a sportsman," one paper declared in an editorial. "National Socialist Germany will welcome representatives of the United States all the more warmly because they are victors over insidious propaganda."

Dr. Lewald, in his reply to Mahoney, stated that several other American sport leaders in addition to Brundage have approved America's participation in the Olympics. He named Brig. Gen. Charles H. Sherrill of New York, Ernest Lee Jahncke of New Orleans, and William May Garland of Los Angeles.

Political Angle Cited.

The letter, in part, read:

"If you, my dear Mr. Mahoney, contend that Germany is drawing the Olympic ideal into the realm of politics, I beg to reply that this reproach affects no one more than yourself, who, as president of a great American sports organization drags into the Olympic arena whatever aversion that might exist among some people in America against the new régime in Germany."

MAHONEY ANSWERS AGAIN

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The movement to transfer the Olympic games from Germany is not a political issue, but a question of "humanity and Christianity," Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the Amateur Athletic union, declared tonight in reply to the statement by Avery Brundage of Chicago, head of the American Olympic committee.

Members of the Olympic committee opposed to America's participation indicated they would not accept Brundage's statement as final, but would insist on a meeting of the full committee to vote again on the question. Brundage declared in Chicago yesterday that teams representing the United States positively would compete at Berlin.

Goes On Air.

Mahoney's reply was made in a radio speech. While he did not mention Brundage's statement, he declared the question was "not at all a political one," nor a Jewish, nor a racial one.

Turning to the statement of Brig. Gen. Charles H. Sherrill, that Germany had complied with Olympic rules by inviting two Jewish athletes to take part, Mr. Mahoney said discrimination against Jews was proved by the fact that it took Gen. Sherrill two years just to get these invitations extended.

Seek New Vote.

Charles L. Ornstein, a member of the American Olympic committee, who has declared himself as opposed to holding the games in Berlin, said he hoped Brundage would call a meeting of the committee to vote again on the question of participation, but that if Brundage did not do so, opponents of the Berlin games would take steps to require him to call such a meeting.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 25.—The epidemic of "knees," which has kept the Michigan casualty list filled this fall, has extended to the coaching staf. . . . Bill Borgmann, assistant line coach, is limping from a knee injury incurred in a game of touch football. . . . The game was played in the back yard at the Deke fraternity last Saturday. . . . Bob Mehring, Nebraska's sophomore center, whose work against Kansas State probably won him a regular starting position, earns part of his way through school as a guardian for violently insane patients. . . . He denies that he is preparing himself to be a coach. . . . Fordham's consonant twins, Alex Wojciechowicz and Joe Woitkoski, are roommates. . . . The son of Ford Frick, president of the National league, is a candidate for the DePauw tennis team. . . . Michigan Normal's field goal, which defeated Iowa State Teachers, 3 to 0, two weeks ago was made on the fifth down because the referee became confused. . . . Normal's quarter back, Don Rock, asked three times to be sure the referee said third down when he thought it was the fourth and last. . . .

If any college or high school football coach wants a smart quarter back let him contact this department. . . . Each Monday night at 10 p. m. we present a problem in football strategy over station W-G-N inviting fans to send in their solution. . . . The number of responses has been surprising, but more amazing is the number of correct answers. . . . Which merely is confirmation of an old theory that every fan at heart is a grand stand quarter back. . . . Frank J. Navin, Detroit baseball magnate, is president of the Central Racing association. . . . Asked what he thought about while his winning place kick against Pittsburgh was sailing through the air, Marty Peters, Notre Dame end, said: "I was afraid to think." . . . John Henry Lewis, colored challenger for Bob Olin's light heavyweight boxing title, has drawn the color line. . . . He doesn't want to fight opponents of his own race. . . .

Northwestern scouts who have seen Minnesota play say that the only thing that keeps the Gophers from being a perfect football team is the apparent inability to make end runs. . . . Julius Alfonse, who can run most anybody's ends, remains ineligible, but hopes run high. . . . Alfonse flunked two three-hour commercial geography exams. . . . It is said that questions such as this stumped him most: "What is the main industry at longitude 93 degrees, latitude 43 degrees?" . . . To which Julius couldn't think to answer "Flour." . . . Minnesota hasn't been printing souvenir football programs. . . . Found them a liability, so they now pass out roster slips, free of charge. . . . Susquehanna's football team, coached by A. A. Stagg Jr., will play Moravian, coached by his brother Paul, today at Bethlehem, Pa. . . .

University of Chicago anthropologists, digging in the Kincaid mountains in southern Illinois this summer, found some evidence that the prehistoric Indian inhabitants probably played a game called chunkey. . . . This consisted of tossing a stone disc into the air and trying to fling a spear or roll a log to the spot where the disc would light. . . . They know it is called chunkey, because some historic Indian tribes have played it. . . . Lowell Spurgeon, Illinois sophomore half back, was so discouraged as a freshman candidate that he almost gave it up. . . . Spurgeon holds the Illinois high school records in the high and broad jumps and is good enough in other events to convince Track Coach Don Seaton he is future material for an all around champion.

Ten Years Ago Today—Michigan, Iowa and Chicago were leading the Big Ten football race. . . . Red Dunn and the Cardinals defeated the Chicago Bears, 9 to 0, at Comiskey park. . . . Freddie Spencer and Bobby Walthour were leading the six day bike race at the Coliseum. . . . Nick Kutsch of Iowa led the Big Ten in scoring with 49 points. . . . Benny Friedman of Michigan was second with 38.

Phillips' Rally Ties Lindblom Prep Eleven, 6-6

Lindblom's hope of winning the central section football championship of the Chicago Public High School league received a setback yesterday when it was tied by Phillips, 6 to 6, at Normal Park. Under the point scoring system in the league the teams now are tied for first place, each with seven points.

Lindblom scored in the second quarter when a march and a couple of passes advanced the ball from the Lindblom 42 yard line to Phillips' 5 yard stripe. Then Valiquet tossed a lateral to Kapka, who ran over the goal for the touchdown.

Late in the same period Phillips staged an 88 yard march to reach the Lindblom 2 yard line, from where Tyler plunged over. Lindblom threatened three times in the third quarter, but Phillips halted the drives.

Eleven games are scheduled to be played in the City league today. Parker, the only undefeated and untied team, will seek to strengthen its lead in the south division against Fenger at Gano field. Parker will be seeking its fourth victory.

In the west division, Marshall will seek to increase its slim margin against McKinley at Mills stadium. The game will be played as part of a double-header, Crane Tech opposing Austin in the other contest.

Leo and St. Philip, who meet in the annual Sister of Mercy game at Soldiers' field tomorrow afternoon, will conclude preparations for the game today. Leo, Catholic league champion last year, is undefeated thus far.

WANT SOME REAL SPORT? THEN TRY JACKSNIPE HUNT

BY BOB BECKER.

The delightful October weather of recent weeks has been a boon to hunters of jacksnipe in northern Illinois. These birds, considered by many sportsmen as offering the sportiest shooting of the fall, came down from the north some days ago, found conditions ideal and here they have stayed.

Although the jacksnipe population in the Illinois marshes was stirred up by opening day shooting, we found the birds quite plentiful the other day when we tramped through the marshes and sloughs not far from the upper Fox river.

With Stephen Smith, Johnsburg, leading the way to the best spots and with Lyman Barr, Libertyville, on the left flank of our 20 gauge squad, there was no difficulty in springing plenty of trick flying jacks from the wet bogs.

They Like Black Muck.

The birds were keeping close to areas where there was plenty of moist, black muck exposed. Sometimes we found such places in lowland pastures. Then we located other snipe grounds next to small creeks. One spot that produced a half dozen birds was the lower end of a slough from which a crop of wild hay had been taken.

Although we found plenty of birds for about four hours of wonderful sport, there is nothing easy about hitting snipe that have just experienced an opening day bombardment. The other day when we were trying to reach them with a 20 gauge, many a bird jumped into the air and began to put on an exhibition of trick flying well beyond what anybody would call easy range for a 20 gauge and fine shot.

Many times the birds flushed so that shots could not be taken. This was especially true of birds on open mud flats next to creeks, where there was absolutely no protective cover for them.

The Fun Starts Early.

Five minutes after Stubby Smith had waved us into a wet, lowland pasture, through which a creek was flowing, we began to flush jacksnipe. It was around 9 o'clock in the morning and the warm rays of the sun felt good. While we were trying to wade a creek, two birds flushed ahead without giving us a shot. Then Barr grassed a bird that jumped on his left and made him turn like an acrobat to make the shot.

Two more shots had to be passed up because the birds flew toward a group of fellows husking corn in a nearby field. Then we got squared away for the real fun—quick, snap shots at twisting, low flying jacks that made us reach out with a 20 gauge. This gauge of gun is our favorite for jack shooting, because it is easy to carry while walking on rough ground and also because you can swing it fast on a bird.

COURT UPHOLDS '35 REGULATIONS ON DUCK HUNTING

Illinois duck shooting clubs will not be able to change the stringent 1935 hunting regulations promulgated by the department of agriculture and the biological survey, judging by action taken yesterday in the federal court at Springfield, Ill. Federal District Judge J. Earl Major dismissed the injunction suit brought in an effort to block enforcement of the new regulations governing the shooting of ducks and geese this season.

Judge Major ruled that the federal court did not have jurisdiction in the case brought by a group of hunters and several hunting clubs along the Illinois river, including the Island club above Cairo, Ill.; Crane Lake game preserve, the Senachwine club, Wild Wing lodge, and the Grand Island club. The Illinois Sportsmen's association, of which G. G. Brandenburg is president, also joined in the injunction proceedings to stop enforcement of the 1935 waterfowl regulations by district attorneys, United States marshals, and federal wardens in Illinois.

Midwest Tie Is Likely to Be Broken Today

Monmouth, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The four way tie for first place in the Midwest conference football race is likely to be broken tomorrow with all except two teams engaged in conference games. Cornell, high scorer, so far, meets Monmouth, loser of two games, but a team that has shown improvement. Lawrence and Ripon will clash in their annual rivalry and Beloit hopes to put an end to its losing streak by starting Knox on one.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 25.—Indiana's Hoosiers oppose Ohio State's Buckeyes here tomorrow afternoon in the twentieth contest between the two elevens as a feature of Indiana's homecoming celebration.

On advance knowledge of Ohio State strength one must admire Hoosier courage in choosing what Columbus football writers have termed the Scarlet Scourge as opponents for these homecoming festivities when old grads like a victory or to think, before the game at least, there is a chance for a victory.

By outside football observers Ohio State is considered a most likely candidate for the Big Ten championship, most likely aspirant for first place in national rating. Its triumphs over Kentucky, 19 to 6; Drake, 85 to 7, and Northwestern, 28 to 7, confirm that estimate. It has passing, power in its back field both for plunges and running, and an almost impregnable forward wall. It has replacements to fill out three full elevens, the third string being scarcely inferior to the varsity.

Admires Hoosier Courage.

That's what makes one admire Hoosier courage and enthusiasm to hold a big bonfire and pep session last night and a powwow dinner this evening with more than 1,200 persons sitting along specially placed tables in the improvised dining room of the gymnasium. These are advance trimmings of anticipated victory, not defeat. Christians thrown to the lions never entered the arena with greater fortitude, and certainly these Hoosiers do not regard it as martyrdom.

Perhaps Coach Alvin N. [Bo] McMillin sums up composite opinion best. McMillin, football fans will remember, was the young man who back in 1921 took his Praying Colonels from little Centre college of Kentucky to Harvard stadium and by tricky open play showed the Crimson what football was all about. Since then Bo has coached at Centenary, which gained national ranking under his tutoring; Geneva, and Kansas State. He is serving the second of a five year contract here.

Out for an Upset.

Coach McMillin says: "In experience, in man power, and in replacements Ohio State is superior to our team. It has won its three games this season. We have lost two of three, although we outgained Michigan and Cincinnati in the games we lost. But I never yet have sent a team into a game that I didn't think we could win. We're not out to keep down the score. We're out to win, to score a big football upset.

"Our boys will make mistakes. We have two seniors and three sophomores in our lineup. But perhaps Ohio State will make mistakes, too. After all, these players of both elevens are only boys, and only eleven boys on each team can play at a time. I feel our boys will make a good showing. I know they will be trying with everything they have."

Recall Purdue Upset.

Among undergraduates and among the advance guard of old grads is this same feeling that Indiana will surprise—if not with victory, at least with an account far closer than the general public anticipates. It's anticipated. For one thing, there is the Hoosier tradition that Indiana nearly always arouses to one superman effort each year.

Last fall it was against Purdue in the final contest. Up to that time, Purdue had not lost a conference issue and had beaten strong Fordham. Indiana had not won a conference game, although it had tied Temple in an early season fray.

Yet came the final game with Purdue, hoping to share in the conference championship rating, and the Hoosiers outplayed the Boilermakers, 17 to 6. Perhaps tomorrow against the vaunted invincible Ohio State will be Indiana's supreme effort of 1935 and an upsetting of the dope bucket.

Expect Crowd of 17,000.

This reasoning, homecoming, and a desire to see Ohio State in action cause the athletic management to estimate a crowd of 17,000 spectators in the stadium, whose maximum capacity is 22,000.

In final preparation Indiana took a light workout in the stadium this afternoon. Ohio State's squad and camp followers passed through on a train this noon, detraining at Bedford, 25 miles away, where they worked out lightly. The Buckeyes will come here from Bedford by motor bus tomorrow noon.

DR. M'LAUGHLIN NAMED HEAD OF WESTERN LEAGUE

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Dr. A. J. McLaughlin of Sioux City, Ia., today was elected president of the Western Baseball league. Dr. McLaughlin succeeds Dale Gear of Topeka, Kas., who resigned after serving ten years. The new president's salary will be $3,000 a year.

Dr. McLaughlin has served as president of the Sioux City club of the league, but he will resign to take up his new duties. He said Lincoln, Neb., Wichita and Topeka are being considered as new members of the league.

WESTERN STATE PLAYS DE PAUL AT HOMECOMING

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The De Paul and Western State Teachers college football teams will meet in their annual game tomorrow before a homecoming crowd.

Western State will start the usual lineup with Neidlinger at right end instead of Carl Anderson. While both Neuman and Muleski will start at the halves, it is expected that Eddie Wernet, recovered from his early season injuries, and Victor Vandenburg will see early service.

The Western State freshmen defeated the De Paul frosh today, 27 to 0.

WIFE OF LAURIE WALQUIST, COACH AT OREGON, DIES

Edythe Alden Walquist, wife of Laurie Walquist, former Illinois and Chicago Bears football player, who is now assistant coach at Oregon State university, died yesterday in St. Anthony's hospital after giving birth to a 7 pound girl.

Walquist is flying here from Corvallis, Ore. Two children, Shirley, 12, and Laurie Jr., 6, also survive.

Mrs. Walquist was 34 years old. She had been residing with her mother at 6124 North Artesian avenue.

Anderson Warns Rivals of Dixie's Football Power

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Maybe the east and west will be interested to learn that what they've suspected for some time is true: the south is on the football march again.

The authority is Heartly W. [Hunk] Anderson, who used to whip those fast-charging, hard-hitting Notre Dame lines into shape for Knute Rockne and who now heads a new football deal at North Carolina State.

Anderson brought his team to town today for tomorrow's battle with Manhattan at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, and promptly served notice that the middle west, long the seat of the country's hardest football, had better look to its laurels.

"I thought I knew something about rough and ready football," Anderson said, "but I must admit my eyes have been opened by the brand they play down in our country.

"The south always did have the best backs and now they're going after big, powerful, linemen. They get a few from among the mountain lads, but they're beginning to import them."

SPEAKS ON FOOTBALL RULES.

E. F. Fendt, president of the Professional Football Officials' association, will speak at a meeting of the Wiencke-Packers Athletic club Tuesday evening. The differences in the collegiate and professional rules will be discussed.

Green Bay and Bears to Clash for 33d Time

The closest and second longest rivalry in professional football will be renewed for the thirty-third time at Wrigley field tomorrow when the Bears and the Green Bay Packers meet for first place in the western section of the National league.

Fourteen years ago the teams began their series with a 20 to 0 Bear victory. Each team has won fourteen games and four have been tied. Tomorrow's contest, if it does not end in a tie, will break the deadlock into which the Bears were forced last month when an 83 yard pass, Herber to Hutson, gave the Packers a 7 to 0 victory at Green Bay.

Game Will Test Bears.

The Bears view the game as an opportunity to avenge that defeat. It actually will be a test of the former champions' real strength. Green Bay is the first team of any consequence they have met since emerging from the letdown that followed midsummer training and the All-Star game. Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and Brooklyn were not first flight opponents.

The Packers, fortified by the return of half a dozen cripples who were unable to face the Bears at Green Bay last month, will be out to set a record as the first team to win two games in a row from the north siders since 1931. In that season Green Bay won the first two games of a three game series by scores of 7 to 0 and 6 to 2. They have been able to win only two of ten since.

All But Nagurski Are Ready.

Coach George Halas yesterday pronounced the Bears in excellent shape for the game, excepting Bronko Nagurski, veteran full back, who has not played since appearing briefly in the All-Star game. Green Bay, which arrives tonight, likewise is reported in good condition, only Johnny Blood and Swede Johnson, full back, being on the injured list.

Johnson may play, but Blood will not be used, Coach Curley Lambeau said, until he has had more time to shake off the effects of a concussion suffered two weeks ago. Mike Michalske, huge guard, whose hand was hurt against Detroit last week, has been working out daily and will start.

CARROLL FOE OF LAKE FOREST AT HOMECOMING

Lake Forest will play its annual homecoming game with Carroll college this afternoon at Lake Forest.

Lefty Rouse and Curt Wuhs, star backs, will bear the brunt of the Lake Forest running attack. Evart Larson and Clayt Christensen, veteran full backs, give Lake Forest plenty of power through the center of the line, and both are capable passers. In last Saturday's contest against Northwestern college, Christensen threw a 50 yard pass that went for a touchdown.

Alabama Poly Blocks Punt to Beat Duke, 7-0

Durham, N. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—One blocked punt gave Alabama Poly a 7 to 0 victory here this afternoon over the Duke Blue Devils in the first defeat at home the Southern conference team has suffered in football since 1931. It was, however, Duke's second consecutive loss, Georgia Tech having beaten it, 6 to 0, last week in Atlanta.

Just before the first quarter ended, Duke's triple threat star, Ace Parker, tried a punt as he stood on his 23 yard line. Frank Ganit, Alabama Poly guard, blocked the kick and Hamp Williams, end, caught it and raced 18 yards to score. Haygood Paterson, a tackle, blocked Parker away from Williams and then added the point after touchdown by placement.

ARMY FACES YALE TODAY WITHOUT KING, PRESTON

Elis Made Favorites in 35th Meeting.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Yale's valiant little band of giant killers engages one of its most formidable foes tomorrow in the 35th game with Army.

A crowd of 45,000 is expected to be in the bowl for this meeting between two of the few undefeated football teams in the east.

Tonight the odds were 7 to 5, with Yale favored. The fact that Army comes up to the game with several of its best men disabled is responsible.

King Is Out.

Following a light workout in the bowl this afternoon Coach Gar Davidson of the Army made it known that Preston, first string right end, will not be used, except possibly in an extreme emergency, and King, regular quarter back, is definitly out.

Charlie [Monk] Meyer, whose running, passing, and kicking were largely instrumental in Army's victory over Harvard, has won the starting job at left half back over Jim Craig and Grohs will be at quarter back.

Yale in Shape.

Yale, in spite of the punishment it absorbed against Penn and Navy, is in first class condition. Center Dick Barr, who has been out since he was injured at Gates Ferry, is ready to go.

Al Hessberg and Clinton Frank, Yale's brilliant running half backs, will be in the starting lineup, which will be the same as started against the Navy.

J. D. MIKEL LOSES FIGHT TO RACE HORSES IN STATE

Commission Votes 2-1 to Bar Owner of My Bane.

damages amounting to $100,000," he said.

The defendants will be Christopher J. Fitzgerald, steward representing the Illinois racing commission, and Charles F. Price and C. Bruce Head, employed by the Lincoln Fields Jocky club.

The racing commission in making its finding announced:

"1. That My Bane was a colt born in the year 1932 out of the dam Birdie L.

"2. That Birdie L was crippled in 1933 and without foal at side.

"3. That the colt My Bane was broken as a yearling in 1933.

"4. That the colt My Bane was gelded in the year 1933 and that no notice thereof was given to the jocky club.

"5. That the horse My Bane was 3 years old on Aug. 15, 1935.

Claim Record Falsified.

"6. That the registration certificate of the jocky club of the horse My Bane was issued upon false representation of the date of birth contained in the application for registration made by J. D. Mikel on the 9th day of October in 1933.

"It is therefore ordered that the order of Aug. 15, 1935, entered by the stewards at Lincoln Fields race course, be and the same is hereby approved that the license issued by the Illinois racing commission to J. D. Mikel is hereby revoked and that the racing associations under the jurisdiction of the Illinois racing commission are hereby ordered to deny to J. D. Mikel all privileges of their respective race courses.

"ILLINOIS RACING COMMISSION,
"By Leo Spitz.
"By Walter C. Peacock.
"Dissenting, Peter B. Carey."

The commission in its findings yesterday upheld the ruling of the stewards at Sportsman's Park in banning Jocky Tex Anderson for life for a ride he gave the horse Busy Spain on Oct. 15. Evidence was presented to show that Anderson had bet on another horse in the race and then failed to win with Busy Spain.

William Paris, a stablehand, also was given a life term in connection with the sponging of the horse Exponent at the Hawthorne track Oct. 5.

Commission Has Busy Day.

All other orders of the stewards at Sportsman's Park and Fairmount Park for the alleged use of stimulants on horses also were upheld by unanimous vote of the commission.

Indefinite suspensions were handed out in these cases, and those ruled against were Owner-Trainer C. Holland, Trainer N. Ings, Trainer E. B. Shipp, Owner Mrs. E. B. Shipp, Owner and Trainer Felix Rando, Trainer Lester Rice, Trainer C. A. Briggs, and Trainers Bert Thornton and Garland Richards.

All the doping cases were uncovered at the Fairmount Park track, near East St. Louis, except that of C. Holland. A saliva test showed that Holland had stimulated the horse Foxland Hall for a race at Sportsman's Park Oct. 22.

Jockana Lasts to Win from Ep by a Neck

Jockana, fleet sprinter from Tom Worden's stable, was a handy winner of the Glen View purse before a crowd of 7,000 at Sportsman's Park yesterday. After leading from start to finish she beat Ep by a neck in the five furlong duel. Eternal Flash was third. Jockana paid $9.80. In her last three starts she has been victorious twice and was second, beaten a neck on the other occasion. The veteran jocky, Tex Wilson was in the saddle.

Earlier in the afternoon Wilson turned in another brilliant ride to get up in time to win on Capt. Nadi, the red hot favorite in a 5 furlong dash. Capt. Nadi weakened at the head of the stretch and let the fleet Black Bess head him for an instant. He had considerable left and came again in the final strides to draw away.

New honors for tiny hearted thoroughbreds go to the 2 year old Cacarina. She finished second again yesterday, beaten soundly by China Boy, after heading into the home stretch by five lengths. It was her tenth start and she has never won a race.

Another one of those half mile track champions broke loose in the second race. It was Mt. Washington, a 5 year old son of Mount Beacon Gaffney Lass. He made a show of his field all the way and won from Imelda and Penang. He paid $6.80.

DRIVERS ARRIVE FOR FIRST AUTO RACE AT ARMORY

Drivers entered in the opening program of indoor auto racing tomorrow night at the 124th Field Artillery armory began arriving yesterday to tune up their midget cars and try out the track.

Thorne Donnelley, president of the Chicago Auto Racing association, said he expects a field of at least 30 cars and drivers to battle for the purses and other prizes to be offered the winners in tomorrow night's events. Twenty-one have entered and this number will be swelled by last minute starters.

The ventilating system, installed to give greater visibility and freedom from fumes, will be completed this afternoon, when it will be put through final tests. The system has 14 ventilators with a capacity for removing 106,000 cubic feet of exhaust air a minute.

DAY, ARIZMENDI BOUT UP BEFORE TRINER MONDAY

Commission to Straighten Out Agreements.

Announcement of a ten round bout between Davey Day and Alberto Arizmendi at Chicago Stadium Nov. 8 has been delayed until Monday, at which time Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois boxing commission will confer with all concerned. This lightweight attraction has been hanging fire for the last few days and representatives of Day and Arizmendi have agreed to most details. The commission expects to settle all points of contention Monday.

Meanwhile Day and Alberto continued training yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium, the former doing loosening up exercises and Arizmendi sparring three rounds.

Laddie Tonelli, Marseilles welterweight, awarded a disputed decision over Billy Celebron, Rockford, last September, realizes he must show improvement if he expects to beat Celebron again when they meet in the main event at Marigold Gardens Monday. So he has asked Harry Dublinsky, who expects to box Jimmy Leto at New York Nov. 13, to aid him in correcting some faults at Madison Square loop gymnasium.

Wrestling shows at White City Monday and Merry Gardens Wednesday were announced yesterday. The card at White City: Clarence Smith vs. Pat Newman, Charles Grubmeyer vs. Bill Kief, Lefty Pacer vs. Johnny Silvy, Jim Landis vs. Ernie Peterson, and Charles Pfister vs. Ed Van Herrick.

The program at Merry Gardens: Bert Rubi and Zack Malkov, Babe Kasaboski and Jim Landis, John Silvy and Roy Beacon, Bill Kief and Paul Miller, Jim Jaros and Gerard Lauth.

Gene Stanley, Detroit middleweight, yesterday accepted terms for a windup bout at White City next Friday. . . . Harvey Massey, New Orleans, La., welterweight, sought for a match on the card against Al Lewis of Seattle, Wash., was forced to decline because of a prior engagement against Louis [Kid] Cocoa at New Orleans on Nov. 1. Lewis, who is managed by Iley Kelly here, floored Holman Williams, colored lightweight champion, during a drill yesterday. . . . Principals in supporting matches at White City may include Eduardo Duarry, Pat Murphy and Eddie Stiegal, and Bob Tinsley and Aubrey Martin. . . . Hayden Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., is booked to fight Freddy Steele at Seattle on Nov. 19. . . . Paul Pirrone, Cleveland, and Frank Battaglia, Chicago, probably will meet at Philadelphia Nov. 11.

ENGINEERS FIND MENACE TO LIFE IN POWER DAMS

Airless Water Kills Fish and Preserves Germs.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Sanitary engineers are now directing attention to the undesirability of building hydroelectric power houses on polluted rivers as one of the newer phases of the water power question.

Water that splashes over a dam, they point out, picks up oxygen which aids in purification, while water that shoots through the turbines of a power plant takes up little, if any, dissolved oxygen.

The effect on water supplies, on fish and wild life conservation, and on water recreation is emphasized by the sanitarians. On polluted streams, one argument is, the development of more kilowatts of electric current means dead fish and ducks and other wild life, and impaired drinking supplies.

Cities Line Shores of Streams.

In the upper Mississippi region nearly every river is the site of cities discharging waste and every type of pollution is found. So it was reported last year by the Mississippi Valley committee of the federal Public Works administration. The committee added "all the best hydroelectric sites in the Mississippi basin itself are now developed."

Another government report declares that on tributaries of the upper Mississippi, such as the Chippewa, Black, Wisconsin, Rock, Des Moines, and Illinois rivers, the trade waste from creameries, canneries, pulp and paper mills, and other industries is a problem.

One authority, Langdon Pearse, sanitary engineer of the Chicago Sanitary district, in a recent summary wrote that pollution of the upper Mississippi is such that students of the University of Minnesota are discouraged from rowing on the river below Minneapolis and St. Paul because the state board of health considers the river unsafe for aquatic sports.

Poor Possibilities for Power.

The dams now being built by the government in the upper river system are for navigation purposes, and the Mississippi Valley committee reports the potential water power is not high. Navigation projects on the upper Mississippi system have cost the federal government more than 126 million dollars for construction alone to which the completion of existing projects will add another 91 million dollars.

On the Illinois river, the state authorities had a permit in 1932 to construct power plants on the Illinois waterway. The federal power commission in 1933 temporarily held the permit up on protest of five states. The matter may be taken up at any time in the future. Gov. Horner's administration takes the view that the state could not develop and sell enough power to defray the cost of installation, and that it would be unfair for the state to go into competition against the coal fields of Illinois.

Oxygenation of Lake Water.

Besides this factor, some sanitarians dwell on the re-aeration phase The experts point out that Lake Michigan water contains in the summer about 8 parts per million of dissolved oxygen and in the winter 12 to 14 parts.

A pickup at a dam of 2 to 4 parts per million tends to replenish the dissolved oxygen, and to be effective in the oxidation of organic matter. In the control of the Illinois river the re-aeration factor is regarded as highly important.

To show how oxygen is picked up, the Marseilles dam was cited yesterday by the sanitarians. From 1926 the maximum monthly pickup of dissolved oxygen was 1 part per million, the maximum 4.3 parts, and the average 2.85 parts per million. The pickup was greater in the warm months, especially when the oxygen was nearly exhausted above the dam. In the colder months there was less pickup, the oxygen content above the dam being higher. In the re-aeration, the amount depends on time, temperature, turbulence, and degree of deoxygenation of the liquid, so the experts set forth.

Essential to Fish Life.

What oxygen means to the fisheries of the Illinois river and to drinking supplies, is seen in observations made by the Natural History Survey of Illinois. Studies made in the summer of 1923 indicate that with less than 2 parts per million of dissolved oxygen, fish die overnight.

Winter observations showed that all kinds of fish in the river die when the dissolved oxygen goes below 2 parts per million. The survey notes that "a variety of fishes were found only when there were 4 or more parts per million, and the greatest variety of fishes was taken when there were 9 parts per million."

The Ohio basin is cited as an illustration of the undesirability of power plants on polluted streams. Nine reservoirs proposed for flood control on the Alleghany and Monongahela rivers were studied by army engineers as to their possibilities for power development, but so far such use has been found undesirable. The current can be made cheaper by coal and other competitive sources of supply, while the sanitarians declare the question of purification the most important factor.

JIRKA PUSHES STATE DRIVE TO WIPE OUT PLAGUE OF SYPHILIS

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Dr. Frank J. Jirka, director of the state department of public health, urged residents of the state to join in a campaign to wipe out social diseases, particularly syphilis, which, he said, was costing the state a half million dollars a year.

"Approximately 18,000 new cases are reported annually in Illinois," he said. "Already more than 14,000 cases have been reported during 1935. Nearly two-thirds of all diagnostic laboratory tests, 135,000 out of 225,000 made each year by the state department of public health, relate to this disease."

He said the department spends $20,000 annually for drugs for the treatment of indigent patients and that about 1,400 mental patients are always in state hospitals. He pointed out $100,000 annually is going into a drive to protect society against the disease and that only measles and scarlet fever are more common.

FRENCH CONVICTS ESCAPE; FIGHT THIRST, HUNGER

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Five emaciated fugitives found a temporary haven here today in their flight from the French Guiana penal colony at Cayenne.

Half starved, exhausted, and baked almost black by the sun, the five brought a tiny open boat to land here yesterday at the end of the twenty day voyage. They were near death.

Six fugitives had set out, with food and water for only eight days. One of them went delirious when the provisions ran out, died, and was buried at sea.

By this time, the men said, they were so far gone they could not navigate. For days they drifted at the whim of the sea, finally striking the shore of Grenada, 100 miles from here.

Rather than risk capture there, they put to sea again, and this time they struck Port of Spain, which permits French convicts to rest a few days. They had traveled 900 miles in all.

ORDERS SEIZURE OF PIN MACHINES IN GAMING RAIDS

Pin machines and all other gambling devices are under the general ban on gambling, Police Commissioner Allman told his supervising captains yesterday at a meeting in the commissioner's office.

The first arrest made after the supervising captains left the city hall was that of Anthony Howard, bartender in the Monroe club on the second floor at 179 West Monroe street. Howard was taken into custody on a charge of possessing and operating a gambling device after Policeman Charles Clark of the Central station played a 25 cent "twin jack-pot" slot machine in the club with Howard. The policeman won 50 cents.

Baron Vaux, 19th Century British Diplomat, Dies

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Baron Vaux of Harrowden, 75, who held responsible posts in the diplomatic service in the last two decades of the nineteenth century, died today. Baron Vaux had three daughters, among whom, according to modern practice, his barony falls into abeyance. One of his ancestors left a similar problem when three sisters survived him. The resultant legal complications roused Disraeli to write in his novel, "Sybil," a satiric description of peerage lawyers of his day.

Lieut. Col. Leuschner Dies; Thrice Olympic Rifle Star

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Lieut. Col. William F. Leuschner, 71, a member of three United States Olympic rifle teams and an officer in the New York National Guard and the Army Reserve for nearly 50 years, died at his home today after a brief illness.

He was one of the American sharpshooters at the Olympic games in England in 1908, at Stockholm in 1912, and in 1920 he had the highest score of the United States team at Antwerp.

He served on the Mexican border and in the world war.

HOWELL HOUSE TO CELEBRATE 30TH BIRTHDAY

Will Display Its Work in Four Day Program.

Marking the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of Howell Neighborhood house, 1831 South Racine avenue, the members and workers have planned an exhibit of Czechoslovak and Croatian art and special entertainment features for a four day celebration beginning today.

Beginning as a kindergarten in the Bohemian settlement, known as "Little Pilsen," Chicago's Czech city second in population only to Prague, Howell house has grown until the membership now is estimated at 1,800.

Wide Variety of Activities.

The members range from nursery school age to adults, many of whom are volunteer workers in the house. The settlement program includes music, dancing, dramatics, gymnasium, home economics, summer camps, hand craft, and social affairs.

For twenty-five years the head resident of Howell house has been Miss Gertrude Ray. Yesterday she recalled the settlement's early handicaps and how they were overcome. She told how instruction in citizenship to immigrants has been a notable part of its endeavor.

More Eager to Be Citizens.

"Since the old age pension act has been enacted," Miss Ray said, "there has been a great stimulation in the interest of our people toward becoming citizens. The stipulation that no aliens may participate in work relief projects has been another incentive toward citizenship."

The settlement is a part of the social service program of the Chicago presbyterial.

TAKE LYAUTEY'S BODY TO MOROCCO FOR BURIAL TODAY

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The coffin containing the body of Marshal Hubert Gonzague Lyautey will be taken from the crypt of the cathedral at Nancy tomorrow to be transported with all honors to a tomb near Rabat, Morocco. The marshal will be buried there as a conqueror.

Tonight a guard of officers who fought under him in the African campaigns kept a vigil around the catafalque. In the morning Cardinal Verdier, archbishop of Paris, will perform the religious ceremony and the body will be taken by special train to Marseilles. There it will be placed aboard the cruiser Dupleix, which will sail tomorrow night for Rabat.

The arrival on Moroccan soil will be celebrated with almost religious fervor by a people whose hearts as well as their country Marshal Lyautey captured. The burial ceremony will assume the character almost of the entombment of a prophet, so great is the prestige which the French leader acquired among the natives.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Corporation bonds continued to advance on the New York Stock exchange today under the leadership of the secondary railroad and lower-priced utility bonds. Trading maintained a fairly active pace with total transactions amounting to $14,473,300, compared with $14,874,800 on Thursday.

Definite indications that the treasury department plans to abandon the "auction" system, at least temporarily, in its future bond offerings, resulted in a firmer tone in the United States government loans in early trading.

U. S. Bonds Close Irregular.

The rally was short lived, however, and the group turned irregularly heavy in later dealings, closing with gains of 1-32 to 3-32 and declines of 1-32 to 4-32 point. Thus what is considered a most significant development by bond traders in the policy of government financing exerted little influence.

Marked strength in steel bonds was an important feature of trading among the corporate issues. American Rolling Mills 4½s continued their advance with a gain of 2 points.

Rails and Utilities Rise.

Second grade rail bonds moved forward fractions to 2¾ points, while many of the more speculative utility loans responded to a brisk demand with good sized gains.

Foreign obligations held steady to firm with further improvement registered in Italian issues. Colombia Agricultural and Ortoage bank issues proved exceptions to the trend in this group and sustained losses of 3 to 5¼ points. French government loans were up 1 to 2¼ points.

Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic.

Investors' Guide: I would very much appreciate having a report on Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic 5s, due 1937.—H. A. A.

Answer: Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railway company is a subsidiary, one of the least profitable, of Canadian Pacific Railway. It operates in the Michigan and Wisconsin iron and timber fields, having terminals at Sault Ste. Marie, Superior, Marquette, and other northern lake ports.

Revenues fell off sharply during the depression years, reflecting the sharp drop in transportation of iron ore. Prior to 1929 revenues failed to expand as much as other iron ore carriers, indicating that its position as a carrier was slipping. Construction of a new dock at Marquette, Mich., recently should have improved this situation, but it is interesting to note that gross revenues in the first seven months of 1935, during which period steel production jumped sharply over that of the corresponding 1934 period, were just about the same as in the first seven months of 1934.

The company has not covered fixed charges for six years. This has resulted in some skimping of maintenance charges.

Although capitalization is not heavy from the standpoint of mileage, it is heavy on the basis of trafic and earnings. The small amount of funded debt, however, has undoubtedly been a factor in encouraging Canadian Pacific to continue advances to the road to cover deficits. What the attitude of the parent company will be in the future, however, is impossible to determine. Canadian Pacific is not obligated on the company's bonds.

In the first seven months of 1934 41 per cent of fixed charges was earned. In 1934 only 13 per cent of fixed charges was earned and in 1933, only 5 per cent. In the two preceding years losses before fixed charges were sustained.

The 5s, due 1937, are more a speculation than an investment.

Canadian National Railway 5s.

Investors' Guide: I shall appreciate information on Canadian National Railway 5s, due 1954. Are they guaranteed by Canada? Are they available in one hundred dollar denominations, and are they coupon bonds?—W. H.

Answer: Canadian National Railways company 5 per cent guaranteed bonds, due Feb. 1, 1954, are guaranteed as to principal and interest by the dominion of Canada. They are payable, [illegible] and interest, only in Canadian funds.

The bonds come in coupon form in $500 and $1,000 denominations. The issue is not callable.

CHICAGO STOCKS CONTINUE RISE; 37 AT NEW HIGHS

Volume Is Second Largest in 19 Months.

Chicago stocks continued to rise on a broad front yesterday in the second heaviest trade of the last 19 months. Volume of 130,000 shares was the best since the 145,000 on Feb. 6, 1934, with the exception of last Friday's 133,000 share turnover.

Trading extended to 133 different issues, 37 of which sold to new high prices for the year. Seventy-seven issues advanced, 30 were unchanged, and 26 declined.

Commonwealth Edison and Public Service shares advanced to new highs, the former with a 2½ point hop and the latter with jumps of up to 4¾. Public Service common and no par closed around 55 after bettering 56 at one time. Edison closed at 93½ after a peak of a point higher.

Merchandise Issues Rise.

Trading in the merchandise issues was the heaviest this year. Marshall Field rose a point. Last night the company reported its first profitable quarter this year and struck a 1935 top of 12¼ in a 8,200 share turnover. Butler Brothers advanced fractionally in the day's biggest turnover, 8,900 shares. Wieboldt gained another point to a new high of 20 and both Sears-Roebuck and Chicago Mail Order advanced more than a point, the former at its 1935 top.

With the exception of Noblitt-Sparks, which rose a point to another high, the motor group was the laggard of the day. Bendix was one of the few issues to lose a point or more.

Packing Group Steady.

Packers held about steady. Steels were up with the exception of Continental. Continental preferred, however, rose three points to a 1935 high. Radios were firm, with Zenith again the leader as it reached another new high of 10⅛ and closed at 9⅞ in 6,500 share turnover.

Among other stocks to break through best previous 1935 marks were Allied Products, Crane, McCord Radiator, McGraw Electric, Penn Gas & Electric, Kentucky Utilities junior preferred, Ken-Rad, Illinois Brick, Dayton Rubber, E. L. Bruce, Brown Fence B, Kalamazoo Stove, and Mickelberry. General Household Utilities continued one of the market leaders, but slipped an eighth.

FLOW OF GOLD INCREASES AS EXCHANGES EASE

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Foreign currencies weakened again today in terms of the dollar and the flow of gold from abroad increased slightly. Gold engaged for shipment here amounted to $6,613,000, of which $4,122,000 was taken in France, $1,594,000 in India, and $897,000 in England. These arrangements brought the total of gold engaged abroad since Sept. 9 to $446,000,000, of which $388,000,000 has thus far been received.

The pound sterling fell ¼ cent to $4.91½, but the franc held steady at 6.59¼ cents. The Swiss franc sagged 3 points to 32.49 cents. Italian lire declined 1 point to 8.12 cents. Canadian dollars strengthened to 98.68¾ cents.

Continued Sino-Japanese tension and uncertainty over reports of impending devaluation of the Chinese currency continued to cause serious fluctuations of the Shanghai dollar against the United States dollar. The Shanghai unit closed today at 33.62½ cents, compared with the previous day's rate of 34.10 cents.

'MOP' BOND GROUP FIGHTS PLAN OF REORGANIZATION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A group of Missouri Pacific railroad bondholders asked the interstate commerce commission today to reject, without public hearings, a reorganization plan proposed by the management of the road. The bondholders' committee, headed by John W. Stedman of New York, claims to represent $77,000,000 of the $224,040,500 issue of the first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds.

The request said that even under the proposed reorganization "it is apparent that earnings will fail by a considerable margin to meet the proposed fixed charges. The burden imposed upon railroad companies by legislation recently adopted by congress and not taken into account in the proposed plan will tend further to reduce available earnings by a substantial sum not yet capable of definite ascertainment."

Finland Plans to Redeem 15 Million Loan from U. S.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

HELSINGFORS, Oct. 25.—The cabinet has requested the sanction of parliament to redeem the $15,000,000 of 6½ per cent bonds floated in the United States in 1926. Finland converted other United States loans in 1925 and 1928. Finland's 6½ per cent loan of 1926 is due on Sept. 1, 1935, but will become callable on Sept. 1, 1936, or any interest date thereafter at par.

Sherman Bank to Make First Return of Deposits

Payment of 7½ per cent, or $16,817, to depositors of the Sherman State bank was authorized yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. It is the first return of funds since the institution closed April 23, 1932, and was made possible through a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

LARD PRICES CONTINUE SOFT, HITTING NEW LOW

Liquidation by holders of lard contracts and selling for short account caused a recession of as much as 20 cents yesterday. Buying on the break was attributed to packing accounts. The close was 12½ cents lower to 5 cents higher. All deliveries sold at new lows on the current downturn, with the December showing about 2½ cents per pound under the recent high.

Increased receipts of hogs and the steady decline in prices at the stockyards have been the main bearish influence. According to a department of agriculture report there is no immediate prospect of a large export business in lard. Cash lard closed at $14.45; loose, $14.20; leaf, $14.25, and bellies at $18.32 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Trade in hide futures was less active yesterday, but the market showed a firm undertone. It closed 1 to 2 points higher. Sales were 26 lots, or 1,040,000 lbs. Closing bids in cents per lb follow: December, 11.88c; March, 12.22c; June, 12.45c, and September, 12.84c.

BUTTER AND EGGS OPEN LOWER; CLOSE UNCHANGED

Butter and egg futures declined in early trading yesterday, but rallied and closed unchanged from Thursday's finish. October eggs closed at 23⅞ cents per dozen and November butter at 27⅝ cents per pound.

The heavy liquidation of egg contracts early in the day was due to unfavorable reports of withdrawals from cold storage and expectations of heavy deliveries on October contracts. The latter materialized later when longs were forced to pay for 44 cars.

Part of the late rally was due to the withdrawal of 21,000 cases of eggs from storage in Chicago, the best outward movement so far this season. The Agricultural Adjustment administration purchased 600 tubs of butter in the open market, its first purchase since Oct. 11.

Sales of butter on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday were 107 cars; eggs, 420 cars, and cheese, 1 car. Prices follow:

STOCKS MOUNT TO NEW HIGHS ON BUYING WAVE

Motor, Oil and Mail Order Issues Lead.

New York, Oct. 25.—Another broad and vigorous buying movement carried prices 1 to 2 points higher on the stock exchange today. All except a handful of the listed issues were marked up to new highs.

A few favorites performed rather sensationally, among them being Coca-Cola common and Pure Oil 6 per cent preferred, which rose 10 points each; S. H. Kress, which jumped 6 points on a single sale, and American Bank Note, which rose nearly $5 a share.

Buying was broader and the pace of activity greater than it has been for several days. The fresh display of enthusiasm was attributed mainly to the encouraging fashion in which the general list has been resisting profit-taking sales during the last two or three sessions.

Some Predict Bull Market.

Some commentators have been saying for some time that a "real" bull market was in the making, and the failure of realizing sales to make any appreciable dent in the market's course of late has raised a chorus of "I told you so" among subscribers to this rosy view of the future. Favorable earnings statements, reports of foreign buying, and the more promising outlook for major industries continued to bolster confidence.

Motor, mail order, and oil stocks were especially prominent in today's move. Demand in the petroleum group made it appear that some real speculation was developing in these long neglected "orphans" of the general list. Favorites of the day were Pure Oil and Standard of Indiana. Both made good gains to new high prices for the year. Phillips and Skelly also attracted considerable attention.

Chrysler Back in Form.

In the automobile sector Chrysler snapped back into form and recouped some 2 points of its late losses at the hand of profit takers. The issue closed at 87⅞ after touching a new high. At its depression worst the stock could have been had as low as $5 a share.

General Motors reached the best price, except for a point or two, at which it has sold since 1929, partly on anticipations of a good earnings statement for the third quarter after the close of the market. Incidentally, General Motors bumped a depression low of 7⅝, which compares with its closing price of 53⅛ today.

Graham-Paige, a new favorite of the quick traders, was brought forward and given a good run. This stock was selling within the year as low as 1¼. It finished today at 4¼.

Rails Stage Mild Furry.

Leading rails moved up a point or so, but except for a little flurry in the early afternoon the carrier group was not particularly demonstrative. Union Pacific made the best showing of the lot, rising more than 2 points.

The utilities did better, but were not so buoyant as they have been in some recent sessions. American Telephone rose a couple of points.

Moderate gains were the rule for the steels, amusements, merchants and tobaccos.

The volume today was 2,473,328 shares, compared with 2,155,910 yesterday. Trading today embraced 875 issues.

START MEETING OF INVESTMENT BANKERS TODAY

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America will open here tomorrow. Not since the record breaking attendance at Quebec in 1929 has the association's membership responded to the call of the annual convention in such numbers, over 850 members throughout the country assembling here.

Interest of the membership in the business sessions of the convention is unusually high, in view of the common problems faced under the securities act and following the passing of the investment bankers' code. It is generally agreed that modification of the securities act regarding certain phases in the distribution of new securities is necessary.

CHICAGO DELEGATES LEAVE.

A large delegation of Chicagoans left yesterday afternoon for the annual convention of the Investment Bankers' association at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. They were on a special train and were to be joined at Pittsburgh by investment bankers from that city and by special cars of delegates from the Cleveland area.

Briggs & Stratton Profit 40 Per Cent Above 1934

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Briggs & Stratton corporation, manufacturers of automobile hardware, today reported earnings of $919,996 for the first nine months of 1935, equivalent to $3.06 a share. This was an increase of approximately 40 per cent over the same period last year, when $541,541 was earned.

Lambert Company Shows Less Profit Than Year Ago

The Lambert company's profit for the third quarter of 1935 was $493,133, or 66 cents a share, against net of $606,591, or 81 cents a share, in the third quarter of last year.

Federal Judge to Speed Case of Middle West

Final hearings on the proposed reorganization of Middle West Utilities company will open Tuesday. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who is hearing the case, assured this early ending of the already long drawn out proceedings yesterday when he announced that the reorganization hearing will be treated as if it were a trial and continue from Tuesday morning until the record is complete.

After that, the court will take the matter under advisement and issue a ruling on the fairness and acceptability of the plan sponsored by the banking creditors. It has been subscribed to by committees representing a majority of the noteholders and preferred stockholders in addition to a substantial block of common shareholders.

Small Groups Oppose.

Opposed to the plan are small groups of stockholders and noteholders represented by Attorneys Samuel Ettelson, Thomas V. Sullivan, Irving Flamm, and Patrick J. Lucey.

Ettelson denounced the proposed plan yesterday. Observers saw in his arguments that the program does not carry out the intention of section 77B of the amended bankruptcy laws, a basis for possible appeal to higher courts in the event the creditor plan is approved.

The former corporation counsel asserted that 77B is designed to afford relief for the debtors in a scaling down of debts. This, he declared, the banks have shown an unwillingness to do.

The offer of one new common share for each 100 present shares was criticized by Ettelson, who said the common shareholders should be given at least a 1 to 25 ratio.

Speedy Settlement Asked.

Stress was laid on the need for a speedy settlement by both Robert N. Golding and Donald F. McPherson, counsel for the noteholders and preferred stockholders. They pointed out that a plan must be adopted before Dec. 1, or the court's jurisdiction in the matter would be practically nullified because of provisions of the drastic Wheeler-Rayburn utility act, which would make reorganization impossible after that date without approval by the Securities and Exchange commission.

McPherson said the SEC would be extremely unlikely to approve a reorganization.

"I strongly urge approval of the plan," said McPherson. "It contains definite benefits and advantages. It provides a single class of stock; priority is wiped out. It provides opportunity for stockholders to share in a real way in the equity of the company. We represent more than 300,000 of the 600,000 preferred shares. Less than 1 per cent is represented by those here opposed to the plan."

Golding held that all facts now are in the record, and that no more amendments to the proposed plan are necessary. All differences of detail can be worked out within its provisions, he said, including suggestions made by the court.

EXTRA DIVIDEND PAYMENTS VOTED BY 4 COMPANIES

The Fitz Simmons & Connell Dredge and Dock company yesterday announced an extra dividend of 12½ cents, payable Dec. 1. The United States Playing Card company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents on the common stock, payable Jan. 1, 1936. On Oct. 1 a similar extra was paid.

The Bristol Brass corporation voted an extra dividend of 25 cents and a special extra of $1 on the $25 par value common, payable Dec. 14. The Bankers and Shippers' Insurance company voted an extra dividend of 25 cents on the $25 par value common, payable Nov. 8.

The Lehn & Fink Products company declared a semi-annual dividend of 50 cents, payable Dec. 1. On June 1 the company made a payment of 37½ cents. The Eddy Paper corporation declared a dividend of 50 cents on the no par common, payable Nov. 30. The last previous payment was an initial dividend of 30 cents, paid on Aug. 31.

Montgomery Ward & Co. authorized a regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on class A stock, payable Jan. 2. The Hinde Dauch Paper company announced a payment of $9 on the 6 per cent preferred, payable Nov. 1. According to Fitch, this disbursement clears up all arrears on the stock.

UTILITIES OFFICIALS RUSH APPLICATIONS TO FILL DUAL POSITIONS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—There was a rush of applications today by officers and directors of operating utility companies to obtain authorization from the federal power commission to continue to hold similar posts on more than one company, or with a bank. The commission announced that more than 480 applications had been received and the deadline is at midnight tonight.

The utilities act provides that while the officers and directors holding similar positions with more than one company may continue in such capacity until Feb. 26, it will then be a violation of the law for those who have failed to obtain authorization to hold more than one of them.

Oswald Ryan, general counsel of the power commission, said he had prepared an interpretation of the act which would make it possible for the commission to take action so that those who failed to file by tonight would not be permanently barred from holding more than one position, if in the commission's opinion this was not adverse to the public interest.

U.S. Threatens to Crack Down on 'Coal Rebels'

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A blunt warning that federal control will be enforced vigorously went from the government today to soft coal "interests" it charged with seeking "to stampede" producers against regulation.

The "interests" were not identified, but semi-official sources said the statement was prompted by reports that five leading coal producers had decided to oppose the act, had refused to sign the prescribed code for producers, and planned to initiate a court test of the act's so-called "compliance tax."

Plan $100,000 Probe.

Coincidently, the bituminous coal commission disclosed plans for a $100,000 investigation of the need for production control in the industry. It will call on President Roosevelt Monday to make the request for funds.

Charles F. Hosford, chairman, was author of the notice to producers of the commission's attitude toward enforcement of the Guffey control act which sets up a soft coal code.

"It has been brought to the attention of the commission," Hosford said, "that efforts are being made by certain interests opposed to the bituminous coal conservation act to stampede coal producers into not accepting the code.

"I desire to announce on behalf of the commission that it is our intention to proceed with organization of the district boards and enforce vigorously every provision of the law."

May Start in November.

The mandate for a production control investigation is contained in the Guffey act, and officials said it would be undertaken early in November if the funds are forthcoming. The inquiry is expected to continue through the winter. Commission members said "the best brains of the industry" as well as government experts would be called upon for information and opinions.

Revival of the production control question recalled bitter opposition to such regulation which developed during congressional hearings on the Guffey act. The original draft of the bill would have clothed the commission with broad power to control production and allocate tonnage between producing districts. So much opposition developed that this feature was stricken from the bill and the investigation provision substituted.

Two Companies to Coöperate.

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—John L. Steinbugler, a director of the American Coal company of Allegany county and the Mill Creek Coal and Coke company, announced today that directors of the two organizations had voted to operate under provisions of the Guffey act.

The companies are located in the Pocahontas fields in West Virginia. Steinbugler said directors are convinced the Guffey act is constitutional.

COSMOPOLITAN BANK PLAN NEAR NEEDED ASSENT

The depositors' committee of the Cosmopolitan State bank announced yesterday that depositors representing more than 75 per cent of the total required to assure a return of 40 per cent of the money frozen since the institution closed two and a half years have signed waivers of 60 per cent of their funds.

John W. Walz, chairman of the committee, said that the difficulty has not been in "selling" depositors on the plan, but in locating them. He appealed for all who have moved since the bank closed to communicate with the committee so that the needed waivers can be obtained.

The plan involves a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, formation of a new Cosmopolitan National bank, and immediate payment of 40 per cent of claims of depositors.

Italy Buys Brazil's Meat; Will Pay in Blocked Lire

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 25.—An agreement whereby Brazil will sell Italy approximately 22,000 metric tons of frozen beef, payable in lire blocked here since 1930, was concluded today. Negotiations were also concluded for the sale of about 60,000 sacks of coffee, each weighing 132.24 pounds, to Italy on a cash basis.

DUTCH AIR LINE WILL LINK TRANS-PACIFIC SERVICE WITH JAVA

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Albert Plesman, managing director of the Royal Dutch Air Lines, disclosed tonight his company will link with the projected Pan-American Pacific service at Manila to fly a 1,600 mile route to Java.

On the eve of his sailing for Amsterdam after a month's tour of the United States, during which he purchased new American equipment for his lines, Plesman said the first experimental flying on the northern Atlantic route probably will be attempted next summer by a German line with Catapult planes. The planes will be catapulted from a ship in midocean to hurry mail across the sea.

When trans-Atlantic flying is established, Plesman said he believes flights will be in the sub-stratosphere with cabins air conditioned to give the effect of flying at a 10,000 foot level. When the Atlantic is flown on schedule mail will be able to travel anywhere in the world in three days and an answer received in a week, he asserted.

Purchases by his line of a type of Sikorsky flying boat and of new Douglas planes will raise to 50 per cent the amount of American built equipment used on the Royal Dutch lines.

N. Y. BANKS BOOST SERVICE CHARGE ON CALL MONEY

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Taking steps to prevent out-of-town banks from entering the call money market unless the rate of call money goes above one-half of 1 per cent, member banks of the New York Clearing House association today amended the 1933 provision of the association's constitution to make effective a minimum service charge of one half of 1 per cent instead of one-quarter of one per cent.

With call money abundant at one-quarter of 1 per cent, there has been no profit to an out-of-town bank lending money against security collateral, because under the clearing house rules such a bank would be charged by its city correspondent with a fee amounting to 25 per cent of the interest received, with a minimum charge of one-quarter of 1 per cent per annum.

Some months ago, when the large banks cut the call money rate to one-quarter of 1 per cent, they automatically eliminated out-of-town funds, unless they were kept here at no interest.

NEW GROUP BUYS UNITED CIGAR STORES CONTROL

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Control of United Cigar Stores Company of America which operates more than 500 retail cigar stores and since 1932 has been in bankruptcy, has passed from interests headed by George K. Morrow, chairman of the board, to a group of five individuals.

The price paid for the securities and actual purchasers were not disclosed, but the new group, it is known, has acquired control of the common shares as well as large blocks of the bonds and preferred stocks. The passing of control is expected in informed financial circles to speed the reorganization of the nation-wide retail cigar organization whose net sales in 1934 approximated $55,000,000.

The Investment Banking Organization of Distributors Group, Inc., acted as broker in the transaction.

Santa Fe Orders Day Coach of Light, Stainless Steel

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 25.—(AP)—An order for a de luxe day coach of light weight, stainless steel, the first of its kind to be built for any railroad, has been placed with the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company by the Santa Fe railway. The car will weigh only half as much as a conventional steel coach.

Motor Wheels Co. Reports Earnings Below Last Year

The Motor Wheel corporation reported a consolidated net profit of $545,582, or 64 cents a share, for the first nine months of 1935. In the first nine months of 1934 net profit was $613,908, or 72 cents a share.

Car Loadings Decline with Mild Weather

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Loadings of revenue freight for the week ended Oct. 19 totaled 732,947 cars, according to an announcement by the Association of American Railroads today. This was 1,327 cars less than for the preceding week, 92,220 more than in the corresponding 1934 week and 75,942 more than the corresponding week in 1933.

The letdown from the preceding week, although contrary to the usual seasonal trend, was not regarded as important in railroad circles. It was ascribed to unseasonal weather. Total car loadings were still well above the 700,000 mark.

Loadings Exceed Last Year.

Loadings for the first 42 weeks of the year totaled 25,312,516 cars, compared with 25,272,584 last year and 23,604,738 in 1933. For the first seven months this year loadings were reported below 1934, but since then a stimulation in freight trafic has caused loadings for the last 12 weeks, with the exception of one week, to exceed that period last year.

Miscellaneous loadings last week were 297,833 cars, an increase of 10,429 above the preceding week; 51,033 above 1934, and 56,398 above 1933.

HOPSON LOSES PLEA TO ESCAPE ACCOUNTING SUIT

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Howard C. Hopson, principal stockholder of the Associated Gas and Electric company, lost his application before the Appellate division today to upset a summons and complaint of Henry I. Gilbert, minority stockholder, demanding a $20,000,000 accounting.

Gilbert's action charged that Hopson's lobbying activities had "milked" the company of $1,000,000 a year during the depression, when stockholders received no dividends. His suit was filed Oct. 1 in New York courts.

BORG-WARNER THIRD QUARTER PROFIT MORE THAN DOUBLE 1934

Earnings of Borg-Warner corporation in the third quarter of the year were more than double those of the same period last year, President Charles S. Davis announced last night. Net profit amounted to $1,201,676, which was equal to 99.6 cents a share on the common stock after providing for preferred dividends. The third quarter of 1934 produced net of $570,050, which was equal to 45 cents a share.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, the company's net income was $4,213,008, equal to $3.51½ on the common, compared with $2,518,481, or $2.04 a share in the first three quarters of 1934. Net operating profit for the nine months was $6,202,445 and other earnings were $307,111. Deductions of $2,296,548 included $1,268,197 for depreciation, $848,009 for federal income tax, and $180,342 for interest and discounts on sales.

Cash and marketable securities, less reserves, amounted to $11,539,388 on Sept. 30, compared with $7,841,950 last Dec. 31.

MARSHALL FIELD SALES RISE TO PEAK FOR YEAR

Third Quarter Also Shows Profit.

September quarter sales of Marshall Field & Co. were the largest of any quarter this year and showed the greatest percentage increase over 1934, a quarterly statement sent to stockholders yesterday by James O. McKinsey, chairman, discloses.

J. O. McKINSEY.
[Moffett Photo.]

Volume amounted to $25,990,900 compared with $23,665,800 in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1934, an increase of $2,325,100, or 9.8 per cent. For the first nine months of the year sales amounted to $72,894,100, compared with $68,945,600 in the corresponding period of 1934, a gain of 5.7 per cent.

The quarter also marked the first period this year in which operations resulted in a profit. Net income, after charges and taxes, aggregated $154,900, compared with net loss of $175,000 in the same 1934 period.

Loss for Year Reduced.

Third quarter profits reduced the nine months' loss to $688,500, against a loss of $2,082,000 for the first three quarters last year. In the first quarter of 1935 loss amounted to $442,700 and in the second quarter loss was $400,700.

The following table shows net sales results for the first three quarters with comparisons:

First quarter	$22,719,100	$22,058,300	3.0
Second quarter	24,184,100	23,221,500	4.1
Third quarter	25,990,900	23,665,800	9.8
Total	72,894,100	$68,945,600	5.7

Net results for the three quarters, with comparisons, follow:

	1935.	1934.
First quarter	$†442,700	$ †762,000
Second quarter	†400,700	†1,145,000
Third quarter	*154,900	†175,000

*Profit. †Loss.

The net profit registered last quarter was the first since the fourth period of last year, when profit of $1,915,700 was shown. It was $329,900 greater than in the third period of 1934, bringing net results for the year $1,393,500 above the corresponding period of 1934.

New Manager Chosen.

James P. Margeson Jr., vice president and general manager of the Phoenix Hosiery company since 1931, will become assistant general manager and merchandise manager of Marshall Field & Co.'s wholesale and manufacturing divisions on Nov. 1, John McKinlay, president, announced yesterday. R. H. Bettcher will become assistant merchandise manager.

Margeson will fill the position left vacant several weeks ago by promotion of Hughston M. McBain to the general managership of the wholesale and manufacturing division. Margeson is 43 years old, married, and has one child. He expects shortly to move to Chicago from his present home in suburban Milwaukee.

Margeson will have charge of buying all raw materials for the company's 18 manufacturing units in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Virginia, Rhode Island, Michigan, and Indiana.

NATIONAL GROUP TO FOSTER SAFE MOTORING URGED

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25.—(AP)—William S. Knudsen, executive vice president o General Motors corporation, suggested today creation of a national safety.

Declaring "this matter of safety on streets and highways is of far reaching importance," Knudsen predicted that an organization such as he proposes could be financed without much difficulty.

"The automobile industry, the petroleum industry, the highway builders, and other such groups would, I believe, put up all necessary funds," he said.

The organization could make engineering and legislative studies to promote model traffic legislation, he said, and the local units could foster educational and street modernization programs.

Missouri Boy Gets $1,200 for Prize Steer Costing $25

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Clarence Bradley, 14 years old, of Calhoun, Mo., who last year paid $25 for the Angus steer that became junior grand champion of the American Royal live stock show this week, today saw the animal bring $1.37 a pound on the auction block. Realizing about $1,200 for the 900 pound steer from the purchase price plus prize money, Clarence agreed that being a good stockman paid well. He planned to buy more calves, he said.

Chicago Area Store Sales Gain 20 Pct.

Department stores in the Chicago reserve district showed an expansion of approximately 20 per cent in September business over August, according to the monthly report issued yesterday by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. The September increase was smaller than is usual at this season. Over a 9 year period the August-September increase has averaged 27 per cent.

The reserve bank reported that automobile sales were sharply curtailed as preparations were made for bringing out new models and dealer organizations concentrated on disposing used cars, sales of which showed a substantial increase over September, 1934.

Furniture Shipments Gain.

Furniture shipments in the district, which comprises the larger part of five middle western states, showed a more than seasonal increase. Compared with August shipments rose 16 per cent, against an eight year average expansion of 12 per cent. Compared with September last year shipments showed a gain of 61 per cent.

The increases reported in department store sales varied widely among the principal cities in the district. In Detroit sales showed a sensational gain of 45 per cent. Indianapolis reported an expansion of 22½ per cent, Chicago gained 15 per cent, and Milwaukee was 14 per cent ahead. Chicago department store sales, however, were less than the corresponding period of 1934 for the second consecutive month.

Auto Production Low.

Production of passenger automobiles in the seventh reserve district touched the lowest level during September since November, 1934, which was the low point of that year, the bank said. For the first three quarters of the year, however, production totaled 2,388,189 units as compared with 1,933,835 in the corresponding months of 1934. Production for September was 57,285 against 182,389 in August and 125,040 in September last year.

While sales of passenger cars fell down sharply the stocks in the hands of dealers at the close of the month were almost 35 per cent less in number than a month earlier and 30 per cent lighter than a year ago. The decline in sales compared with August was nearly 31 per cent and a decrease of 10.8 per cent was shown against last year. Used car sales were 22 per cent above a year ago, but 24.7 per cent below August.

NATIONAL GAIN CHECKED.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Summer temperatures in much of the country slowed down retail sales this week Dun & Bradstreet's, Inc., reported today. A few districts showed the smallest store turnover in two months, but gains elsewhere held the volume for the country as a whole about equal to last week's and the total was 2 to 12 per cent above 1934 figures.

The setback was attributed almost entirely to the cessation of buying in seasonable clothing and some general winter goods. The middle west, northwest, south, and Pacific coast all showed moderate gains over the preceding week and were 5 to 18 per cent above 1934. Wholesale business decreased, however.

AIR CONDITIONED BUSES PLANNED TO RIVAL TRAINS

New Orleans, La., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The first air-conditioned auto and plans for air-conditioning buses to compete with cooled railroad coaches were announced today at a meeting of the National Association of Motor Bus Operators.

A five-passenger car has been hunting the hot spots and the dirty ones all summer between Buffalo, Chicago and New York. Its air was cooled on the hottest highways. There was never any dust inside. Its passengers were protected even from hay fever pollens. It is convertible in winter to carry its own custom made, warmed climate.

This new step in air-conditioning is expected to have economic implications for the automobile industry and to add another scientific impetus to recovery.

It was described in a paper written jointly by Ralph F. Peo, general manager of the Houde Engineering corporation, Buffalo, and E. P. Heckel, vice president of the Carrier Engineering corporation, air conditioning specialists. The Houde corporation is the research unit of the Houdaille-Hershey corporation, Detroit.

GEN. MOTORS REPORTS LARGE GAIN IN PROFITS

Third Quarter's Net Equals 66c Share.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The General Motors corporation today reported third quarter net profit of $30,753,088 after depreciation, interest, and federal taxes, equal to 66 cents a share on the common stock, compared with $22,858,728, or 48 cents a share, in the like period of 1934.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30 net totaled $114,482,926, or $2.51 a share, compared with $92,445,341, or $1.99 a share, in the first nine months of last year. The figures include the equity or parent company in undivided profits or losses of subsidiaries and affiliated companies not consolidated.

Sales Above Year Ago.

Net sales excluding interdivisional transactions were $236,641,933 in the quarter, against $343,209,087 in the June quarter, and $214,871,426 in the September quarter of 1934. In nine months net sales totaled $831,525,923, against $734,549,332 a year ago.

The corporation reported as of Sept. 30 holdings of United States government and other marketable securities totaling $219,802,942, compared with $229,858,180 on June 30, 1935, and $207,963,581 on Sept. 30, 1934. Net working capital amounted to $314,135,092, compared with $340,667,357 on June 30, and $288,970,570 on Sept. 30, 1934.

REPUBLIC STEEL REPORTS

The Republic Steel corporation reported net income of $507,731 after taxes and charges for the quarter ended Sept. 30, compared with profit of $922,329 in the preceding quarter, and loss of $2,998,600 in the third quarter of 1934. Net for the quarter was equal to 85 cents a share on 595,608 shares of 6 per cent preferred stock on which there are accumulated dividends. One cent a share was earned on common stock in the preceding quarter, after setting aside a quarter's dividend on the preferred.

Net profit for the nine months ended Sept. 30 aggregated $3,264,295, against a net loss of $2,193,157 in the like period of last year.

Corrigan Is Not Included.

T. M. Girdler, president of the company, explained the corporation's earnings statement did not include Corrigan, McKinney operations, as accounts had not yet been consolidated. He said earnings of $3,264,295 for the first nine months represented "the most satisfactory period in the history of the corporation," which was organized in April, 1930.

The report said a significant development was the increase in operating profit. The net gain from operations, after deducting charges for maintenance and repairs but before interest on indebtedness, depreciation and depletion, amounted to $12,067,674 in the first nine months of 1935, compared to $6,294,853 in the same period in 1934.

Ludlum Steel, in the quarter ended Sept. 30, had net profit of $101,948 equal, after preferred dividends, to 15 cents a share on the common stock. Net a year ago was only $7,034, or 16 cents a share on the preferred stock.

HOLC EXPECTS TO TAKE 5,000 HOMES BY FORECLOSURE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Predicting that 5,000 Home Owners' Loan corporation foreclosures would be instituted by the end of 1935, John H. Fahey, HOLC chairman, today asserted that "it is inevitable that thousands of homes must be acquired by the HOLC in the normal course of its business."

HOLC officials reported that of the 2,105 foreclosure suits started against urban borrowers with properties valued at more than $6,000,000, more than half—1,096—were to recover homes from "downright chiselers—those who have money to pay but think they can beat the government."

Of the first homes taken over, seven houses have been sold at a small profit to the government and sixty-nine others are being rented.

FIGHT ON UTILITY LAW CRITICIZED BY GOVERNMENT

New Act Not Yet Tested, Says U. S. Brief.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 25.—(AP)—John W. Davis and associate counsel in an attack on the utility control law were charged by the government today with "an inexplicable zeal to pervert the plain meaning and intent of the act to demonstrate its alleged unconstitutionality."

The government brief was the second in reply to an action in federal court in connection with reorganization of the American States Public Service Company of Baltimore. Davis is attorney for the company.

Collusion Is Alleged.

Burco, Inc., a creditor of the company, also purportedly is opposing Davis. But the government, acting as a friend of the court and not as a legal party to the case, has asserted Burco, in fact, collaborated in a "collusive" way with the Davis group in preparing an artificial test case.

Declaring it was discussing the constiutional question only "as a matter of courtesy to the court," the government said the act has only started to work, and asserted it "cannot be fairly tested in its constitutional aspect while it still remains a law in the abstract and has not had a chance to operate."

Cites "Scoffing at Purpose."

The brief cited in detail the purposes of congress for passing the act, and said:

"Yet opposing counsel has scoffed at these recitals in order to divert attention from the realties from which the statute springs."

Asserting the business of holding companies directly affected interstate commerce, the brief argued:

"Whatever be the general limits on the commerce power, it is clear that congress is here dealing with a subject—like fraud, deceit, and monopoly—where the courts will sustain the widest application of legislative power not simply to punish the use of the channel of interstate commerce for unlawful purposes but to prevent those channels being used to create and perpetuate conditions which, experience proves, leads to lawlessness."

UNCERTAIN WORK AND WAGES BAR REALTY REVIVAL

Other Factors Favorable, Chicago Expert Says.

BY AL CHASE.

Lack of industrial employment and low earning power of the average worker are the two factors holding back the local real estate market from entering a period of activity, according to Holman D. Pettibone, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company. Pettibone, who yesterday noon addressed members of the Chicago Bar association at a luncheon, asserted that aside from these outside influences, the realty situation here is ready to improve rapidly.

He pointed out that building of single family residences is now under way in all parts of the metropolitan area; mortgage money is plentiful and cheaper than it has been in a generation; the vacant property market is coming to life; occupancy of apartments has increased and rent delinquencies have decreased. Despite all these favorable factors rents have increased only a little.

Rent Increases Resisted.

"The difficulty appears to be a mass state of mind," he said. "No matter what arguments a manager may use, tenants simply will not pay more than a slight increase above the schedules at the low point of the depression.

"There are a number of theories as to why tenants take this attitude. Possibly it is uncertainty in the continuance of a job or the fact that the tenant has so lately been in severe financial distress so that he has accustomed himself to a lower scale of living.

"It has become quite apparent that whatever the block is which is holding back substantial increase in unit rents, it is to be found outside of conditions in the real estate business as such. All of the real estate factors call for substantial increase in unit rents.

Expects Higher Rentals.

"In other words, the stage is set for substantial and immediate increases in rents in the residential field. It is also quite apparent these increases will not take place until industrial employment increases and the income of the employé is not only definitly assured but his total yearly earning is on the increase."

Pettibone asserted the same factors of unemployment and low wages are holding back a potential building boom.

"It is not difficult to predict that the pent-up demand for new residential accommodations will, one day, burst out into more building activity," he said. "It won't come, however, until the cost and return of new structures compare favorably with existing structures."

TRACTION PROBE FAILS TO SHOW MANIPULATION

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—No evidence of manipulation or pool operations in securities of local transportation companies has been found, the business conduct committee of the New York Stock Exchange reported today after a six week investigation provoked by the charges of City Chamberlain Adolf A. Berle Jr. that the market for these issues had been "rigged." The detailed results of the inquiry will be forwarded to the Securities and Exchange commission in Washington.

At the same time Charles R. Gay, exchange president, disclosed that "wash sales" of nine traction bonds by a nonmember had been discovered and that the transactions will be canceled. It was also stated that an officer of the Manhattan Railway company had traded extensively in the traction issues, as had been shown by the summaries of security transactions published periodically by the SEC.

TAXING REFORMS URGED BY REAL ESTATE MEETING

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Reduction of the number of local, state and federal taxing agencies through the coördination of their administrative activities was urged by the National Association of Real Estate Boards in a resolution adopted at the closing session of its annual convention today.

Another resolution petitioned the government to replace the general property tax with a "more equitable" system and to provide an agency assuring the marketability of the mortgage, "so that by means of increased attractiveness and protection of the long term structure, mortgage interest rates will be decreased."

Walter W. Rose of Orlando, Fla., was elected president of the association. Charles S. Wanless of Springfield, Ill., was elected a regional vice president.

Judge Dismisses Complaint Against Realty Trust

Circuit Court Judge G. Fred Rush yesterday dismissed the complaint of six bondholders against Realty Investors' trust which asks that the trust, operating 180 apartment buildings with outstanding bonds aggregating $12,000,000, be dissolved and that a receiver be appointed. The judge said the evidence showed competent and honest management.

Utility's Gain in Revenue Offset by Taxes and Costs

Although operating revenues of the Central Illinois Public Service company for the third quarter of 1935 increased $81,000 over the corresponding 1934 period, higher taxes and operating expenses held net profit to $307,055, down $88,600 from the profit of $355,655 for the corresponding 1934 period.

JUDGES PONDER IMPOUNDING OF PROCESSING TAX

U. S. Wants Cash Deposit; Packers Object.

A motion by United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe which would require Chicago meat packers and other pork and flour processors to put up $15,000,000 with the federal district court for processing taxes owing to the government was taken under advisement yesterday by Federal Judges James H. Wilkerson and Charles E. Woodward. At the conclusion of arguments on the motion, which is opposed by the packers, the judges indicated they would announce their decision next Tuesday.

Under the temporary injunctions which are now holding up collection of the tax the packers and other processors are required to post bond with the court for the amount of tax due.

Many Injunctions Issued.

Nearly a score of these restraining orders has been put into effect pending determination of the constitutionality of the processing levy. The government has tried unsuccessfully to obtain dissolution of these injunctions.

In arguing yesterday that the packers should put up cash, Igoe and his assistant, Carl E. Perkins, claimed that even if the tax is found invalid the processors are not entitled to the money unless they can prove they did not pass the tax along to consumers or take it out of prices paid to producers.

"The plaintifs do not claim all of the funds belong to them," Igoe said. "Judge Barnes, who issued the original temporary injunctions, said in an oral opinion that the processors are not entitled to any of the tax. If they are permitted to retain it, they would be unjustly enriched at the expense of others."

Judge Gives Views.

"As I see it," Judge Wilkerson interposed, "the federal court has been interfering with the government in the collection of taxes. Now, it is charged, the taxes have really been collected from the producers or consumers and charged off as any other overhead. It would be monstrous to permit these taxes to be kept by the plaintifs unless they can show the money belongs to them."

Igoe reiterated the government's contention that the taxes should be in the custody of the court so that if the law is declared unconstitutional the money may be returned only to those who can show just claims. He pointed out that under the present court ruling the plaintifs have merely scheduled bonds guaranteeing payment of the tax if the law is declared valid.

LIGHT RECEIPTS CHECK RECENT BREAK IN HOGS

Hog salesmen yesterday managed to halt the severe decline that has carried the market to the lowest levels since early July and cut top grades $2.45 below the 1935 highs of six weeks ago. The supply was lightest of the week and demand slightly improved, resulting in a quick clearance for the bulk of the receipts.

As a whole the market was in line with the average of the preceding session, although some early sales were 5 to 10 cents lower, the peak for the day showing 5 cents loss. The average for the day at $11.70, processing tax included, was steady. Selected new crop hogs sold up to $12.05, against a top of $12.95 a week ago and a 1935 high of $14.50.

Yesterday's meager cattle receipts were sold quickly at steady to strong prices. Only a few loads arrived, the bulk consisting of common to medium grades. The quality was plainer than usual, even for a Friday, with hardly enough good grades to establish a market. The best stock offered sold at $10.50.

Further advances were registered in the market for fat lambs, a big share of the supply going at 15 to 25 cent higher prices with spots up 35 cents. Shippers closely sorted a few native ewe and wether lambs up to $9.65, city butchers paid $9.50, and packers took the bulk at $9 to $9.25.

CARGO OF SOY BEANS LEAVING HERE HINTS OF NEW EXPORT FIELD

The first export cargo of soy beans in three years and one of the few on record left Chicago yesterday when the steamship Barrie cleared for Montreal carrying 70,000 bushels. Consigned by Bartlett Frazier company, the beans will be transferred at the Canadian port and shipped abroad. The beans are the product of Illinois farms.

Particular significance was attached to the event because it marked development of a new export field. Europe in the past has purchased its needs from Manchukuo, Corea, or Japan, but with the American product now on an export parity with the orient, buyers are turning to the United States because of the superior quality of American grown soy beans.

Illinois farmers netted 70 cents a bushel from the shipment. Chicago brokers estimated that about 500,000 bushels more will be exported within the next ten days.

While the soy bean has been grown in the orient for more than 4,000 years, it was introduced into this country as a major crop only within the last six years. With Illinois the largest producer, Chicago has become the national market center.

Last year 4,223,000 acres were planted, of which Illinois accounted for 1,204,000. This year acreage rose to 5,463,000 with Illinois' total 1,886,000. So rapidly have farmers turned to soy beans that approximately 30 per cent of the annual production has been used as seed.

Exports in all of 1934 amounted to 2,042,000 pounds. In the first half of 1935 the total was swelled to 2,032,000.

WHEAT RALLIES AS PRICES TURN FIRMER ABROAD

Upturn Near Close Marks Erratic Session.

Wheat prices closed higher on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday after fluctuating erratically most of the session. An early advance was lost in later trading, as short sellers took control of the market, but relative strength abroad proved too bullish a factor to be ignored and prices finally rallied, ending the day with a gain of about a cent a bushel. Fractional upturns were registered in corn, oats, and rye.

Marketwise the day's news was featureless, which found reflection in continued dull trading. Professional speculators again supplied the bulk of activity. Public participation was light. Some improvement in interior milling demand was reported, with approximately 40,000 bushels of wheat worked for shipment from Chicago during the day.

Argentina May Export More.

Efforts of a fractional rise in Liverpool were tempered by a dip in prices at Buenos Aires. Estimates of the Argentine export wheat surplus have been raised to 90 million bushels as a result of recent beneficial rains, which alleviated to a considerable extent the effects of the drouth which had persisted for several months.

Russell's News, which cabled the estimate, said some observers are even predicting a surplus of 100 million bushels, although the agency expresses the belief that crop improvement has not extended that far. The crop is two to three weeks late and the estimates are based on the hope that late November and early December temperatures will not be excessively high.

Closing prices of principal December futures in Chicago yesterday follow:

Wheat Seeding Near Completion.

Seeding of winter wheat is nearing completion and recent rains in dry sections of the southwest will permit work to progress rapidly. In sections where moisture has been ample the crop has had a good start, with the result that the outlook in the winter wheat belt at present is the best in several years.

No news of importance affecting corn appeared. Excellent weather is stimulating country sales of new corn while scattering sales of old crop cereal appear from time to time. The outlook continues to hinge on weather and cash developments, in which the situation is now less acute.

EDISON'S GROSS REVENUE IN 1935 SET AT $77,944,000

Gross revenues of the Commonwealth Edison company for 1935 were estimated at $77,944,000 and at $80,391,600 for 1936 yesterday by P. L. Smith, vice president, at the Edison rate reduction hearing before the Illinois commerce commission. These figures do not take into account possible rate reductions.

The sharp increase in estimated gross, according to the testimony of Smith, is due primarily to industrial recovery and prospective increased domestic revenues, and partly to governmental spending.

COTTON FUTURES ERRATIC AS OCTOBER TRADES CEASE

WHY
WE THINK YOU WILL BE HAPPY IN THE
"Second Best Place to Live"
THE BRYN MAWR
AT BRYN MAWR AND KENMORE.
[5600 NORTH.]
In our opinion the best place in which to live is a home of your own with all it has to offer; privacy, lots of room, sun light all the day long, a porch to sit on when nights are hot and sticky—shade trees, flowers and a green lawn that nature will soon cover up and "tuck in" for the winter.

The Bryn Mawr has none of these to offer but—knowing its limitations—it does have the following features to make up for the ones it lacks. Large 1, 2 and 3 rm. furn. and unfurn. apts. Separate kitchens, huge closets, new furn., new carpets, employes who are really interested in our guests; an excellent location: 1 blk. to Lake Mich. and 1 blk. to L and bus—and no taxes—no inter.—no mort. —no furnace to worry about—no fuel to buy —no gas bills—no elec. bills—no linens to buy or launder—no repair bills—no maid service to pay for.

All the above advantages from $45 up.

DEAN BAKKE, MGR. LONGB. 9160.
